Viet Warns Against New Riot Trouble

Police Arrest 449, Government Cites Reds For Turmoil

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Warning that further violence would be met with force, the government pressed a search today for Communists suspected of taking part in last week's Buddhist-Roman Catholic riots.

The government said 449 persons, including some Communists, have been rounded up in Saigon so far.

"Many Communist special activities groups entered the capital and have infiltrated various strators who refuse to obey order to sabotage public order and security as well as cause religious friction," a government communique said.

An army announcement said troops would shoot at demonstrators who refuse to obey orders. For a time last week soldiers watched with folded arms while Catholic and Buddhist youths battled in the streets with machetes, bricks and other weapons.

Calm has been restored in Saigon. A funeral procession of 50,000 Catholics passed through a Buddhist section without incident, Sunday as the bodies of six Catholics killed Friday were borne to their graves.

Five battalions of troops stood guard on back streets. Others lined the route to the cemetery.

Catholic priests called the victims martyrs during an hour long Mass. A Buddhist monk attended as representative of the Buddhist Association in a display of unity.

Despite the surface calm in Saigon, a curfew remained in effect today. Schools were to reopen Thursday.

The appointment of Dr. Nguyen Xuan Oanh, 43, as acting premier gave a semblance of stability to the government. Whether the Harvard-educated economist would remain at the helm remained uncertain.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor flew Sunday to the mountain resort of Dalat, 140 miles northeast of Saigon, to confer with ailing Premier Nguyen Khanh.

China Plans Boycotting Of Red Meeting

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China has announced officially it will boycott a Soviet-sponsored conference to plan a world Communist meeting. It says the day such a meeting is held "will go down in history as the day of the great split in the international Communist movement."

Peking accused the Soviet Union of siding with the United States in the recent Gulf of Tonkin crisis "by actively supporting the U.S. attempt to intervene in Viet Nam through the United Nations."

Red China's charge was contained in a letter dated Aug. 30 in which the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist party turned down a Soviet invitation to a scheduled Dec. 15 planning conference.

The official New China News Agency broadcast the reply Peking was one of 25 Communist parties invited to lay the groundwork for a meeting of 81 Communist parties next summer.

Red China also accused the United States of opening up a new "special warfare" theater in Africa. China has made Africa one of its major spheres of activity.

The broadcast said Peking told Moscow:

"We will never take part in any international meeting or any preparatory meeting for it, which you call for the purpose of splitting the international Communist movement."

ROME (AP) — Heavy rainstorms north and south of Rome today broke a two-month heat wave which weathermen said brought the hottest July and August Rome has had in a decade. Temperatures had ranged up to 98 degrees.

Johnson Views Are Presented On Key Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) Following are the views of President Johnson on a variety of issues, as expressed in speeches, magazine articles, news conferences and other public remarks and messages:

AGRICULTURE

In a nationwide television broadcast April 24, 1956, speaking in reply to a speech by President Dwight D. Eisenhower on his veto of a Democratic farm bill, Senate Majority Leader Johnson said:

"Since 1952, wages have gone up; corporate dividends have gone up; the entire national income has gone up. But the income of the farmer has gone down 26 per cent.

"The worker who is making refrigerator and television sets will sooner or later be out of work if there is no one to buy refrigerators and television sets. But if the farmer can't make a living, the farmer can't buy these things. If he can't buy them, that cuts the market down. And that means workers will be thrown out of jobs.

"The farmer's income must be bolstered, not only for the farmer's sake, but for your sake. Otherwise we may spin into another depression."

In a message to congress on Agriculture, Jan. 31, 1964, Johnson said:

"The agricultural commodity programs developed during the past 30 years have served us well. They are now an indispensible bulwark of our agricultural economy. Without them our food supply would be much less secure than it is today.

"But they are in need of improvement. New conditions arising from the technological revolution in agriculture present a special challenge—a challenge based upon the problems of abundance rather than scarcity.

"We must also look beyond agriculture to rural America as a whole. Fifty-five million Americans live in rural areas. Too many of them have not had an opportunity to acquire the education, skills and earning power which their talents warrant. For too many of them the rural environment has proved a hindrance to a full life, rather than the advantage it rightly can be. We have made great progress in recent years — but we can and must do better."

CIVIL RIGHTS

On March 9, 1949, speaking of a proposal by President Harry S. Truman for a civil rights law, Sen. Johnson told the Senate:

"This civil rights question brings into play all those strong and evil forces of racial prejudice. Perhaps no prejudice is so contagious or so dangerous as the unreasoning prejudice against men because of their birth, the color of their skin, or their ancestral background. Racial prejudice is dangerous because it is a disease of the majority, endangering minority groups.

"When we of the South arise here to speak against the civil rights proposals, we are not speaking against the Negro race. We are not attempting to keep alive the old flames of hatred and bigotry. We are, instead, trying to prevent those flames from being rekindled. We are trying to tell the rest of the nation that this is not the way to accomplish what so many want to do for the Negro."

In a speech at San Angelo, Tex., Dec. 12, 1958, Johnson said he was opposed to forced integration, but he added:

"We're a little late in our section in recognizing that all men are created equal. I wish the hotheads on both sides would give us a chance to evolve a solution to this problem."

In explaining his vote for the 1957 civil rights bill, Johnson said, "I voted for the civil rights bill because I think everyone ought to have the right to vote, whether he's white or brown or black."

In early 1959, Senate Majority Leader Johnson came up with his own civil rights proposals, including a provision for a Community Relations Service. He explained this in a Texas radio speech, Feb. 8, 1959:

"Basically, the duty of the Community Relations Service would be to provide conciliation assistance where conflicts regarding constitutional rights are disrupting or threatening to disrupt peaceful relations in the community."

As vice president, in a speech at Wayne State University, Mich., Jan. 6, 1963, Johnson discussed the Civil War and said:

"Today, as then, we are engaged in a great struggle. We too hear counsel urging restraint and urging delay. We too are counseled that for the government of the United States to concern itself with the equality of its citizens invites the risk of impairing the chance for success in our struggle to uphold the cause of freedom in the world.

"The counsel of delay is not the counsel of courage. A government conceived and dedicated to the purpose that all men are born free and equal cannot pervert its mission by rephrasing the purpose to suggest that men shall be free today—but shall be equal a little later."

On Nov. 27, 1963, in his first speech as President to a joint session of Congress, Johnson said:

"No memorial oration or eulogy could more eloquently honor President Kennedy's memory than the earliest possible passage of the civil rights bill for which he fought so long. We have talked long enough in this country about equal rights. We have talked for 100 years or more. It is time now to write the next chapter, and to write it in the books of law."

On July 2, as he signed the civil rights bill, Johnson said:

"Americans of every race and

Johnson Called Cynic

Both Parties See Humphrey's Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Georgia's Gov. Carl Sanders says the Democrats' selection of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey as their vice-presidential nominee "will prove to be an asset" to them, but Republican National Chairman Dean Burch contends it will unify and help the Republican party.

Another participant in the weekend's radio-television interviews, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., conceded that Humphrey's liberal background would be a liability in some respects in the South. But he predicted the ticket of President Johnson and Humphrey would get a majority of the South's electoral votes.

Humphrey returned to Washington and his Senate duties after a long weekend of relaxation and campaign planning at Johnson's Texas ranch. Johnson remained there for some more unwinding after the party's Atlantic City convention.

Johnson's Republican opponent, Sen. Barry Goldwater, also talked campaign strategy during the weekend, meeting with Dennison Kitchel, his campaign director, aboard a yacht off Newport Beach, Calif.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, issued a "stop, look and listen" caution to Republicans who might be thinking of supporting Johnson. A switch, he said, "would be a flat denial of every principle that has guided the Republican party in all its years."

In New York State, Clare Boothe Luce withdrew as a potential Conservative party candidate for U.S. senator, paving the way for a head-on clash between Sen. Kenneth B. Keating and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Keating was in line for Republican renomination today, and Kennedy for the Democratic nomination Tuesday.

Plant Idled By Walkout At Chester

Local Blames New Work Schedule At T-K Roofing Co.

In what the company described as a "wildcat" strike, members of AFL-CIO Local 6252 employed at the T-K Roofing Manufacturing Co. in Chester walked off their jobs shortly after reporting for the 7 a. m. shift today.

The strike, first in the 24-year history of the roofing concern, closed operations entirely.

T. H. Kashuba, president of T-K Roofing, said the stoppage was a "wildcat strike" in violation of the contract between the concern and the 120 - member local.

"We do not know why the employes walked out," Kashuba said. He added the company posted a work schedule this morning "showing definite relief times in accordance with the regular contract, and it must be a misunderstanding."

Several members of the local blamed the strike on more than the new relief schedule, which sets the manner in which shingle machine operators are spelled for lunch and other reasons.

Elimination of a boiler fireman's job, the local claimed, also is behind the walkout.

A meeting of the local and a district staff officer from Wheeling has been scheduled for 3:30 this afternoon at Chester City Park. Lloyd Bentley of Highlandtown is president of the local.

The company termed the walkout a violation of contract rules. Operations have been curtailed in the first strike in the concern's history.

Calm Returns To Riot-Torn Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A tense, uneasy quiet returned to the riot-ravaged Negro section of North Philadelphia today after a weekend of violence, looting, and pillaging.

Sporadic vandalism, window smashing and throwing of rocks at police continued into the early morning hours, but city and police officials said the situation remained under control and the four-square-mile trouble zone was returning to relatively normal operations.

Mayor James H.J. Tate emphasized that a clear-the-streets order issued Saturday remained in effect. The proclamation, falling under an 1850 low, made it a misdemeanor, with a maximum penalty of two years in prison, for anyone to be on the streets without legitimate business.

Tate, in a progress statement late Sunday night, reported that 225 stores had been looted and more than 350 persons arrested for various violations. The injured totaled 247, including 66 policemen. Almost all of the injuries were minor and there were no fatalities.

Thieves Subtract 60 Calculating Machines

CHICAGO (AP) — Sixty calculating machines were subtracted from the offices of Smith-Corona Marchant, Inc., Sunday.

East End Car Mishap Hurts Boy Severely

Driver, Auto Owner Cited By Officers In Erie St. Case

A 2-year-old East End boy was injured severely Saturday night when struck by an auto on Erie St.

Police said Jeffrey Miller, son of Ernest D. Miller, 1232 Pennsylvania Ave., was bumped about 8:15 by a 1957 four-door sedan operated by Patricia Lynn Millard, 18, of 406 Elizabeth St.

Both the driver and the owner of the auto were cited, officers said. The girl driver was accused of operating an auto without a driver's license. William J. Morris of Ruth St., identified as the owner, was accused of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate the car.

Miss Millard and Morris each pleaded guilty when arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who continued sentencing until Friday.

Miss Millard was released in custody of her mother and Morris' bond was set at $100.

The girl told Patrolman L. E. Richard she was driving east on a slight grade on Erie St. when she slowed for some children who were playing in the street. As she prepared to resume speed, the boy darted from the

Egypt Chief Backs Help For Cyprus

UAR Aid Promised If Turkish Forces Move Onto Island

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — President Makarios won a pledge of support today from the United Arab Republic in his dispute with Turkish Cypriots on troubled Cyprus as anti-American demonstrations continued in Turkey.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser also warned against outside interference in the island's affairs, said a joint communique issued in Alexandria at the conclusion of talks between Nasser and Makarios.

Nasser did not specifically pledge military support, however.

Nasser's pledge to Makarios came on the heels of renewed demonstrations in Turkey's key cities.

The United Arab Republic thus followed the lead of Greece and the Soviet Union in promising help if Cyprus were invaded by Turkey.

"The U.A.R. is prepared to provide Cyprus with every possible support for the sake of strengthening the efforts of the Cypriot people in their struggle to safeguard the unity of their island," the communique said.

"The two sides agreed that foreign military bases are a threat to international peace," it added.

Nasser is known to be opposed to the presence of Western military bases in the eastern Mediterranean. Britain retains two military bases on Cyprus under the 1960 treaty of independence. A British base on Cyprus was used as a staging area for the British-French attack on Egypt during the 1956 Suez crisis.

Reliable sources said Makarios and Nasser also discussed a possible shipment of Soviet arms to Cyprus via Egypt.

Before departing for Cyprus, Makarios told a news conference Nasser had promised him "all possible assistance to meet the danger of any new aggression."

The people of Cyprus should decide on enonis — union with Greece—but "under the condition that no foreign bases should be located on Cyprus," he said.

Makarios said Turkish Cypriots who compose about 20 per cent of the island's population "will not be allowed a veto power." It was Makarios' attempt to end the Turkish minority's veto on major legislation

Brain Damage Victim

Retarded Boy, 14, Aided By Counselors In Camp

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—More than 48 camp counselors and campers have been credited with turning a speechless, brain-damaged 14-year-old boy toward human warmth. Their daily visits have inspired the teen-ager to utter 17 words.

The youth, David Reswick, has lived in a little white shingled house on the grounds of the Red Raider Camp near Novelty for almost two months. He has never, however, gone to camp.

He couldn't because medical authorities have placed his logical age at one and a half. The diagnosis of specialists is that David suffered brain damage before he was born but they don't know what caused it.

The boy's father, Prof. James B. Reswick, director of Case Institute of Technology's Engineering Design Center in Cleveland, rented the house in the hope volunteers from the camp might want to help in the therapy for his son.

The response from the campers was heart warming. They volunteered to give up their free time to help David carry out five-minute periods of rigorous therapy called "patterning."

Patterning is the core of a controversial back-to - babyhood therapy developed by the Institutes for the Achievement of Human Potential in Philadelphia. The theory is that the so-

Keating Gets Unity Boost In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Republicans meet today in a supercharged political atmosphere to renominate Sen. Kenneth B. Keating and cheer him into battle against U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The GOP was more optimistic about Keating's chances of withstanding the challenge by Kennedy because of Clare Boothe Luce's decision Sunday not to run as a third-party candidate.

Republican leaders had feared she would have drawn a substantial number of votes from Keating, who won election six years ago by 133,000 votes.

Mrs. Luce said she withdrew in a spirit of Republican unity.

Her decision eliminated a threat by the state Republican organization to withdraw support from the national ticket of Sen. Barry Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller.

Calm Returns To Riot-Torn Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A tense, uneasy quiet returned to the riot-ravaged Negro section of North Philadelphia today after a weekend of violence, looting, and pillaging.

Sporadic vandalism, window smashing and throwing of rocks at police continued into the early morning hours, but city and police officials said the situation remained under control and the four-square-mile trouble zone was returning to relatively normal operations.

Mayor James H.J. Tate emphasized that a clear-the-streets order issued Saturday remained in effect. The proclamation, falling under an 1850 low, made it a misdemeanor, with a maximum penalty of two years in prison, for anyone to be on the streets without legitimate business.

Tate, in a progress statement late Sunday night, reported that 225 stores had been looted and more than 350 persons arrested for various violations. The injured totaled 247, including 66 policemen. Almost all of the injuries were minor and there were no fatalities.

East End Car Mishap Hurts Boy Severely

Driver, Auto Owner Cited By Officers In Erie St. Case

A 2-year-old East End boy was injured severely Saturday night when struck by an auto on Erie St.

Police said Jeffrey Miller, son of Ernest D. Miller, 1232 Pennsylvania Ave., was bumped about 8:15 by a 1957 four-door sedan operated by Patricia Lynn Millard, 18, of 406 Elizabeth St.

Both the driver and the owner of the auto were cited, officers said. The girl driver was accused of operating an auto without a driver's license. William J. Morris of Ruth St., identified as the owner, was accused of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate the car.

Miss Millard and Morris each pleaded guilty when arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who continued sentencing until Friday.

Miss Millard was released in custody of her mother and Morris' bond was set at $100.

The girl told Patrolman L. E. Richard she was driving east on a slight grade on Erie St. when she slowed for some children who were playing in the street. As she prepared to resume speed, the boy darted from the Fair Attendance Reaches 42,000

LISBON — Attendance totaled an estimated 42,000 at the 119th annual Columbiana County Fair, which closed a five-day stand Sunday night.

About 12,000 clicked through the turnstiles Saturday — one of the largest Saturday crowds in the history of the rural extravaganza, according to the sponsoring organization, the County Agricultural Society. Last year's fair draw a total of about 24,000.

Attendance on other days was: Wednesday, 10,000; Thursday, 6,000; Friday, 10,000, and Sunday, 4,000. The Fair Board cited the fact the event was blessed with five days of perfect weather.

Brain Damage Victim

Retarded Boy, 14, Aided By Counselors In Camp

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—More than 48 camp counselors and campers have been credited with turning a speechless, brain-damaged 14-year-old boy toward human warmth. Their daily visits have inspired the teen-ager to utter 17 words.

The youth, David Reswick, has lived in a little white shingled house on the grounds of the Red Raider Camp near Novelty for almost two months. He has never, however, gone to camp.

He couldn't because medical authorities have placed his logical age at one and a half. The diagnosis of specialists is that David suffered brain damage before he was born but they don't know what caused it.

The boy's father, Prof. James B. Reswick, director of Case Institute of Technology's Engineering Design Center in Cleveland, rented the house in the hope volunteers from the camp might want to help in the therapy for his son.

The response from the campers was heart warming. They volunteered to give up their free time to help David carry out five-minute periods of rigorous therapy called "patterning."

Patterning is the core of a controversial back-to - babyhood therapy developed by the Institutes for the Achievement of Human Potential in Philadelphia. The theory is that the so-

Egypt Chief Backs Help For Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — President Makarios won a pledge of support today from the United Arab Republic in his dispute with Turkish Cypriots on troubled Cyprus as anti-American demonstrations continued in Turkey.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser also warned against outside interference in the island's affairs, said a joint communique issued in Alexandria at the conclusion of talks between Nasser and Makarios.

Nasser did not specifically pledge military support, however.

Nasser's pledge to Makarios came on the heels of renewed demonstrations in Turkey's key cities.

The United Arab Republic thus followed the lead of Greece and the Soviet Union in promising help if Cyprus were invaded by Turkey.

"The U.A.R. is prepared to provide Cyprus with every possible support for the sake of strengthening the efforts of the Cypriot people in their struggle to safeguard the unity of their island," the communique said.

"The two sides agreed that foreign military bases are a threat to international peace," it added.

Nasser is known to be opposed to the presence of Western military bases in the eastern Mediterranean. Britain retains two military bases on Cyprus under the 1960 treaty of independence. A British base on Cyprus was used as a staging area for the British-French attack on Egypt during the 1956 Suez crisis.

Reliable sources said Makarios and Nasser also discussed a possible shipment of Soviet arms to Cyprus via Egypt.

Before departing for Cyprus, Makarios told a news conference Nasser had promised him "all possible assistance to meet the danger of any new aggression."

The people of Cyprus should decide on enonis — union with Greece—but "under the condition that no foreign bases should be located on Cyprus," he said.

Makarios said Turkish Cypriots who compose about 20 per cent of the island's population "will not be allowed a veto power." It was Makarios' attempt to end the Turkish minority's veto on major legislation

Keating Gets Unity Boost In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Republicans meet today in a supercharged political atmosphere to renominate Sen. Kenneth B. Keating and cheer him into battle against U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The GOP was more optimistic about Keating's chances of withstanding the challenge by Kennedy because of Clare Boothe Luce's decision Sunday not to run as a third-party candidate.

Republican leaders had feared she would have drawn a substantial number of votes from Keating, who won election six years ago by 133,000 votes.

Mrs. Luce said she withdrew in a spirit of Republican unity.

Our Noble Correspondent Do Love Mountain Dew

BY SID TAUB
ADVISOR TO THE LOVELORN

You know I have always figured women ought to be took out in the woods and shot down like a dog. I just can't figure how a body can look so beautiful and act so beastly.

And speaking of beasts, and I resent the comparison, a lot of dunderheads call my puppy a beast, that's my 140 pound German Shepherd Puppy named Barry. Boy, I love that dog.

Well, when I'm squiring around a pretty little girl I usually take her down home. That's in Columbiana County. And I let her have a foot race with my Puppy.

Maybe I don't have a lot of imagination, but a growing dog needs a lot of exercise. I'm a real sport as I let the girl have about a 20 pace head start on Barry. Barry has been trained to hate people and he can out run a deer.

(NOTE TO SPONSOR, He's the man who pays the freight: Please be patient, I'm going to mention Mountain Dew in just a miserable minute.)

Yeu know a sponsor or advertiser can really ruin a good piece of writing. And frankly, I wouldn't louse up a piece of my prose except for one thing. That thing is that since I've got hooked on Mountain Dew and have been giving it to my Puppy he's grown about a foot. That's the prettiest dog I've ever laid my aging eyes on.

Well, speaking of Barry outrunning a deer, this dear little thing was treed. She climbd a tree and that's the last I ever saw of her.

Well, I got to thinking, here I am going on 20 and running out of Barry racers, also slow girls.

That was a beastly thought, anyway you think about it.

And I said to myself," Good Old Sid," I always call myself Good Old Sid when I talk to myself.

"Good Old Sid," I said, "You've got to find some other way of entertaining these Hootenannys who look so beautiful and act so beastly," Girls, that is.

About that time, I heard on my neighbor's radio:

That's why I don't have a radio in my pad.

"Ya hoo, good old Mountain Dew. Have you ever heard anything that foolish in your life?"

I'm surprised they can sell that stuff to each other.

That kind of advertising would cause a man to drink and I don't mean Mountain Dew. Well, I do mean mountain dew, but not that soft drink Mountain Dew.

I walked next door and pounded my fist on the door. "Zounds," I said, "pray thee to lower the noise of that infernal contraption."

Jean, that's my next door neighbor, said: "Hark! hast thou not tried Good Old Mountain Dew."

Well, you can imagine what I said to that, with me being from Columbiana County river country. But anyhow, I said, frankly I don't remember what I said, because she opened a bottle and it beaded up like that stuff once made by old Uncle Tommy up in the hill country.

I took a great big snort of it and like I told you before, I just fell in love with it. It has changed my life.

And I can asure you, it changed my life for the better. If it hadn't right now, I'd be the Obituary Correspondent instead of whatever I put under my by-line.

Now, I want you to take notes of what I'm putting down. Mountain Dew has the taste of springtime.

If it was any better I just couldn't stand it.

Mountain Dew has the rich, full taste and mellowness of Autumn.

If it was any better I just couldn't stand it.

Mountain Dew has that tried and true taste of Winter when you're all cuddled up around the old hearth.

If it was any better I just couldn't stand it.

You probably think I'm not going to tie this all in with my lead paragraph where I said women ought to be took out in the woods and shot down like a dog. I probably can't.

For, frankly, since I started drinking Mountain Dew (I drink about eight bottles a day . . . for breakfast), I just don't want to shoot nobody down.

Except maybe my old friend Luke who runs the gas station down the road. I wanted a bottle of Mountain Dew and Luke's drink machine didn't have it. He sent me across the street to get it and now I get my gas across the street and Luke's looking about as sad as my Puppy Barry did before he drank Mountain Dew.

I want everybody to live long and drink lots of Mountain Dew.

And, frankly, since I've started serving Mountain Dew to girls, well, it's so energizing they can outrun Barry.

But to tell you the truth, I'm going to quit giving them any handicap.

Indiana Driver Dies In Route 30 Collision

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP) — Francis Perry Howard, 34, of Fort Wayne, Ind., was killed early today when his car crashed head-on with a tractortrailer truck on U.S. 30 about three miles east of here.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said Howard's auto apparently crossed over the center line into the oncoming lane of traffic.

Lisbon Sees 1,515 Pupils In New Term

LISBON — The Lisbon School District expects 1,515 students to be enrolled in the High School, Lincoln and McKinley Grade Schools when classes resume Tuseday. This is a gain of 14 over last year, according to Supt. Oliver Payne.

Retarded Children's Classes Due Tuesday

LISBON — Columbiana County's Retarded children's school at Elkton will begin Tuesday for its six classes. Teachers will meet Monday and students are to report Tuesday according to Robert Bycroft, welfare director and head of the school.

The workshop has been postponed for a week due to transportation difficulties as two new buses were ordered but have not arrived. The cafeteria, which began operations late last term, will open for the first day of school, Bycroft said.

The high school will contain the upper four grades, with an estimated 439 students; Lincoln, 571, and McKinley, 505, with these figures including kindergarten.

Ten new teachers have been hired, four in the high school, one at Lincoln and five at McKinley.

Robert Gettig of Canfield, for Lincoln School; Helen Goodballet of Lisbon, Mary Horner of West Point, Bonnie Steen of New Middleton, Linda Wilkeson of East Palestine and Edith McGary of Lowellville.

Bus service was reorganized but expected to operate on about the same schedule. One run and driver were cut, along with doubling up of teachers in a cutback because of reduced operating funds.

Teachers in all schools were to meet today with a full day of classes set Tuesday for all students, including kindergarten.

Major improvements include Lincoln School shower room, refacing the upper part of the high school building with new bricks and general cleaning and painting in all schools, Payne said.

Well, speaking of Barry outrunning a deer, this dear little thing was treed. She climbd a tree and that's the last I ever saw of her.

Well, I got to thinking, here I am going on 20 and running out of Barry racers, also slow girls.

That was a beastly thought, anyway you think about it.

And I said to myself," Good Old Sid," I always call myself Good Old Sid when I talk to myself.

"Good Old Sid," I said, "You've got to find some other way of entertaining these Hootenannys who look so beautiful and act so beastly," Girls, that is.

About that time, I heard on my neighbor's radio:

That's why I don't have a radio in my pad.

"Ya hoo, good old Mountain Dew. Have you ever heard anything that foolish in your life?"

I'm surprised they can sell that stuff to each other.

That kind of advertising would cause a man to drink and I don't mean Mountain Dew. Well, I do mean mountain dew, but not that soft drink Mountain Dew.

I walked next door and pounded my fist on the door. "Zounds," I said, "pray thee to lower the noise of that infernal contraption."

Jean, that's my next door neighbor, said: "Hark! hast thou not tried Good Old Mountain Dew."

Well, you can imagine what I said to that, with me being from Columbiana County river country. But anyhow, I said, frankly I don't remember what I said, because she opened a bottle and it beaded up like that stuff once made by old Uncle Tommy up in the hill country.

I took a great big snort of it and like I told you before, I just fell in love with it. It has changed my life.

And I can asure you, it changed my life for the better. If it hadn't right now, I'd be the Obituary Correspondent instead of whatever I put under my by-line.

Now, I want you to take notes of what I'm putting down. Mountain Dew has the taste of springtime.

If it was any better I just couldn't stand it.

Mountain Dew has the rich, full taste and mellowness of Autumn.

If it was any better I just couldn't stand it.

Mountain Dew has that tried and true taste of Winter when you're all cuddled up around the old hearth.

If it was any better I just couldn't stand it.

You probably think I'm not going to tie this all in with my lead paragraph where I said women ought to be took out in the woods and shot down like a dog. I probably can't.

For, frankly, since I started drinking Mountain Dew (I drink about eight bottles a day . . . for breakfast), I just don't want to shoot nobody down.

Except maybe my old friend Luke who runs the gas station down the road. I wanted a bottle of Mountain Dew and Luke's drink machine didn't have it. He sent me across the street to get it and now I get my gas across the street and Luke's looking about as sad as my Puppy Barry did before he drank Mountain Dew.

I want everybody to live long and drink lots of Mountain Dew.

And, frankly, since I've started serving Mountain Dew to girls, well, it's so energizing they can outrun Barry.

But to tell you the truth, I'm going to quit giving them any handicap.

Indiana Driver Dies In Route 30 Collision

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP) — Francis Perry Howard, 34, of Fort Wayne, Ind., was killed early today when his car crashed head-on with a tractortrailer truck on U.S. 30 about three miles east of here.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said Howard's auto apparently crossed over the center line into the oncoming lane of traffic.

Lisbon Sees 1,515 Pupils In New Term

LISBON — The Lisbon School District expects 1,515 students to be enrolled in the High School, Lincoln and McKinley Grade Schools when classes resume Tuseday. This is a gain of 14 over last year, according to Supt. Oliver Payne.

Retarded Children's Classes Due Tuesday

LISBON — Columbiana County's Retarded children's school at Elkton will begin Tuesday for its six classes. Teachers will meet Monday and students are to report Tuesday according to Robert Bycroft, welfare director and head of the school.

The workshop has been postponed for a week due to transportation difficulties as two new buses were ordered but have not arrived. The cafeteria, which began operations late last term, will open for the first day of school, Bycroft said.

The high school will contain the upper four grades, with an estimated 439 students; Lincoln, 571, and McKinley, 505, with these figures including kindergarten.

Ten new teachers have been hired, four in the high school, one at Lincoln and five at McKinley.

Robert Gettig of Canfield, for Lincoln School; Helen Goodballet of Lisbon, Mary Horner of West Point, Bonnie Steen of New Middleton, Linda Wilkeson of East Palestine and Edith McGary of Lowellville.

Bus service was reorganized but expected to operate on about the same schedule. One run and driver were cut, along with doubling up of teachers in a cutback because of reduced operating funds.

Teachers in all schools were to meet today with a full day of classes set Tuesday for all students, including kindergarten.

Major improvements include Lincoln School shower room, refacing the upper part of the high school building with new bricks and general cleaning and painting in all schools, Payne said.

Putting It Back In Focus

Everything about national politics must be thought of these days in relation to exposure of political figures on TV screens—over-exposure, most of us can agree, by the time the national conventions flicker to a close.

In July, after four days with the Republicans in San Francisco, all of us were imbued with thoughts of Barry Goldwater, Bill Miller, extremism, liberalism, conservatism, the Eastern Establishment and the smiling and scowling faces of the winners and losers.

Forgotten were the Democrats, who couldn't have bought 30 minutes of TV exposure for any amount of money, even if they had wanted to. They didn't, of course, because it's the unwritten rule of the game that one party does not upstage another during its big scene.

Now, at the end of August, after four days with the Democrats in Atlantic City, all of us are imbued with thoughts of Lyndon Baines Johnson and his family, Hubert Humphrey and his family, facing the future with courage, the Southern Establishment, the smiling faces of the winners and the angry face of a character named Bull Connor, who has replaced Senator Claghorn as the prototype of everything the Deep South needs to be ashamed of.

An argument repeated every four years about the way voters make up their minds will help, though.

The argument is between those who believe political campaigns should be designed to change opinions and those who believe the purpose of the campaigns is to generate interest in the election.

Each claim has merit; the campaigns do both things. But in general their important value lies in stirring up interest. Most Americans make up their minds early in the game and do not change them. But unless they were stirred up, a national election would be a glum, drab affair, with a handful of professionals and deeply dedicated party workers doing all the voting.

The issues are what they were before the party conventions.

THE BASIC ISSUE is whether enough dissatisfaction has been generated by the Kennedy - Johnson administration since January 1961 to cause it to be voted out of power and replaced by a Goldwater administration next January.

This basic issue is surrounded and camouflaged by extraneous issues which will be hammered at hard and long by the political opposition. But in the words of a candidate some years back, "Is it time for a change?"

The parties now are separated by a vastly greater difference than existed when the only discernible difference was the fact one party was in power and the other wasn't. This will have bearing on voters' decisions in 1964; no doubt about it. It is the distinguishing element in the 1964 Election — the clear choice.

But basically the issue is what it always is in a national election — whether the party in power has become so unpopular with the American electorate that it can be unseated by the party out of power. Is it time "to throw the rascals out"?

When this elemental fact has been brought back into focus, the 1964 campaign will be well on the way to a November decision — the quadrennial moment of truth in national politics.

Helping Hand

The Columbiana County Highway Patrol Auxiliary can take a bow along with others over the state as the result of praise from Col. Anson B. Cook, head of the State Highway Patrol.

The patrol chief referred to the Auxiliary as "vital to the operation of the Highway Patrol." He pointed out that 3,000 members of the Legion-sponsored groups over Ohio spent more than 170,000 hours in training and other activities with regular patrolmen. More than 1,800 hours were consumed in emergency duty.

As Col. Cook said, this is not extraordinary for the Auxiliary, but "merely a continuation of its high level of performance in serving Ohioans for the last 22 years."

Thirty - seven active members serve the Columbiana County unit and do their part in making the over-all state record so outstanding.

The Bells Ring For More Than Kids

But the bells mean just as much for thousands of adults. There are:

The teachers — Who have to be a dedicated lot to accept and suffer through the many problems that come their way.

The coaches — Usually an optimistic group who are going to "win them all", though, in most instances, this is mathematically impossible because even before the season starts scheduling makes it so, with those who are going to win them all playing those who are going to win them all.

The administrators — Who must shoulder even more burdens than the teachers — and burdens which are a higher plateau in accordance with the positions they hold at the top of the educational ladder.

The school boards — Entrusted with the purse strings, the pressure is constant from all sides.

The custodians — When it's warm, they're expected to keep things cool; when it's cold, they must keep things warm. They have to repair this, that and the other thing and constantly pick up this, that and the other thing.

The bus drivers — Come rain, snow or sleet, they are expected to have Johnny at classes on time — and home again, on time.

The cafeteria staff — All they have to do is please the persnickety appetites of a hungry, energetic bunch of kids day after day.

And last, but not least, the parents—They feel certain that all the cares in the world are theirs as they send Junior off to the educational wars. They are the ones who help complicate things for the teachers, the coaches, the administrators, the school boards, the custodians, the bus drivers and the cafeteria staffs.

So when the school bells ring, more than happy and unhappy youngsters are involved.

Take A Tip From Us

Incidental information from New York City includes a dour report on tipping. The outstretched-hand clique has been complaining. World Fair visitors, like visitors in general, have been a disappointing lot this summer, say the New Yorkers who depend on tips to buy them the niceties of life.

When outlanders from the wealth-producing areas of this nation visit New York City, they are spending their own money, unless they are members of the expense-account crowd.

Most World Fair visitors are doing it on their own resources. Like most Americans, they assume that working for a living is an honorable estate and the laborer is worthy of his hire. They are accustomed to pay for what they get. They are not accustomed to tipping for routine service.

When they go to New York City, they expect to be fleeced. They feel defensive about it. And most of all, they feel defensive about tipping.

If they tip too much, members of the outstretched-hand clique laugh at them; if too little the brotherhood of the palm curses them. So, confronted with one choice or the other, they tip too little when uncertain. Because they earn their own money and pay their own way, they despise the practice of tipping. It makes them feel squeamish.

It seems only fair, as long as the New York tippees are unhappy, to balance the scales by reminding them that the tippers are unhappy, too. They resent greasing palms in New York City. After all, there's no reciprocity.

Whenever did anyone hear of swarms of New Yorkers visiting the outlands strewing folding money over the landscape like green grocers shucking off surplus supplies? They're a close-fisted lot once they get west of the Hudson.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Formerly, I used Germans Nazis to illustrate man's inhumanity to man. Now I use something closer to home—the brutalitarians of my own country, who beat, torture and kill members of a minority they despise, with special reference to red-necks of the Deep South.

The most valuable contribution to highway safety would be an automatic siren that would scream when a car reached 70 mph, thus warning everybody within hearing distance. Oh yes, the siren could not be disconnected. No sneaky business.

It worries me when professional football players are cut loose, or did until a fellow who knows about it points out that most of them are college graduates and can get a job coaching, if they don't catch on with another professional team.

I don't know about hair styling but feel sure something could be done to the hair-dos of the President's daughters to make them look less like him and more like their mother. After all, Lady Bird is worth looking like.

True to my conviction that partisan politics cannot be shrugged off, because it's the life blood of the American way of life, I tried to understand all the hoopla about the Mississippi and Alabama delegation . . . Oh, how I tried! But light never dawned. I never did understand what the spielers and reporters were talking about.

The biggest football player of my school era dropped in for a chat the other day and we wondered where today's behemoths are coming from. He weighed 200 pounds, which is too light for a first-rate linemen these days. I weighed 142, too light for a waterboy. Yet we played for fun and had it—lots of it.

Carry On, Men!

Europe Watches U.S. Politics Closely

By Seymour Freidin

LONDON

Pencils and tongues, honed razor-sharp, are poised abroad to do a surgical job on the U.S. presidential campaign.

Except for the time Dwight D. Eisenhower ran, when Europeans, Asians, and Africans liked him pretty well, Democrats usually get the straw vote.

It began overwhelmingly that way for President Johnson. Sen. Barry Goldwater's critics back home don't begin to match his severest detractors on three continents. But disenchantment with Johnson has begun to settle in, and it is by no means all the way with LBJ today.

THAT DOESN'T mean there has been a big switch of favoritism toward Goldwater. Hardly. A kind of resignation is noticeable: better Johnson than Goldwater.

So the sobered-up reasoning goes. Too many voices — professional, political, and busybody-regarded Johnson as the heir to the late President Kennedy. Kennedy was the golden youth abroad, and this should be fully understood in the context of present-day disillusionment with Johnson.

Abroad, there was somehow the fixed idea that Johnson would perform as an older Kennedy. The antipathy against Goldwater seemed to solidify the image. Then came the political professionalism with which the President skillfully executed retreats and victories. They have political pros over here, too. But they do all their backroom work out of public sight.

The strong scent of scandal in the Bobby Baker episode wafted quickly across the Atlantic. They have scandals on this side also, but so many of them are tied up with sex, not profit, that they fade fast with time.

Probably the "Dear John" letters of resignation from many of the younger White House staff people under Kennedy made their impact. They were people whom government officials abroad had come to regard as intimates.

Then, in the last few weeks, action exploded on many foreign fronts. These were shots really heard around the world with more disturbing effect than foreigners feel should reverberate. The limited retaliatory air strike over North Viet Nam created profound uneasiness.

THERE WAS, generally, favorable European editorial support for the raids. But this was mitigated by the queasy wonder whether Johnson would sling lead casually to prove that he is just as much a militant anti-Communist as Goldwater claims to be.

One immediate result, easy and traditional, is to invoke the specter of U.S. ineptitude and casualness in snuffing out a crisis. We are, for instance, blamed for dilly-dallying on a solution for Cyprus. At the same time we draw caustic comments on the decision to send some help to Premier Tshombe in the Congo.

This contradictory impulse is not, of course, logical. But emotions abroad today are tangled up with acts and events. They call in short, for the United States to set an example that broadcasts the purest of hearts and intentions.

Everyone, or so it seems, has words of counsel, even wisdom, on how the Americans should perform in our complicated world. The fact that Johnson isn't living up to the standard foreigners have established counts against him.

THE CONTRADICTION is easy to penetrate. Foreign policy, as conducted by Johnson, is basically on the same guidelines as those charted by Kennedy. Try, as many have, to prove this with actual detail, and the only response is skepticism. The concept of a multilateral force, for example, is one specific case. Foreigners generally don't like it. They believe it gives the West Germans far too much participation in nuclear arms.

Yet the concept was drafted by the Kennedy administration and the consultants were all Kennedy appointees. The fact that the idea has advanced as far as it has, engendering fierce discussions, is all ascribed to Johnson's inexperience and his now-advertised lack of knowledge.

Thus, from the glistening image of a well-rounded heir to Kennedy, Johnson is depicted as something of a half - educated hayseed. Shrewd? Sure. But there is gunsmoke in his nostrils, some chicanery in his performance—and he doesn't communicate confidence. That's the way he is seen, more or less, abroad.

Still, in the concensus, they'll take Johnson. With all his shortcomings, he is for most foreigners much more acceptable than Goldwater. For that reason, every poll showing Goldwater cutting into Johnson's lead becomes a worrisome thing.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

In regards to the new school bond issue, I want to thank Mr. Frank Miller. He is absolutely right about the people living on social security.

I own two pieces of property which I get very little rent for. The tenants are living on social security and cannot afford more rent. All the rent goes for taxes and repairs and water.

So I think it's time to quit raising taxes. That is why industries are not coming to East Liverpool, not because of not having schools. With some repair, I feel our schools are plenty good enough. I have no children in school and don't feel like being overburdened to educate other people's children.

'Irresponsible Ruling'

By Raymond Moley

Reapportionment Battle Analyzed

The clamor at Atlantic City, at which preordained decisions were loudly arrived at, temporarily obscured an issue facing Congress, 50 semi - sovereign states, and American citizens generally. At issue is what to do about the June 15 decision of the Supreme Court commanding the reapportionment of both houses of state legislatures solely on the basis of population.

In the House of Representatives the Tuck bill was passed by the very significant vote of 218 to 175. In the debate and vote on this measure, party lines played no significant part. Voting for the bill were 122 Republicans and 96 Democrats; opposed were 140 Democrats and 35 Republicans.

THE BILL, if enacted into law, would deny to the federal courts jurisdiction over all cases involving the apportionment of state legislatures. In my judgment, and in that of many distinguished lawyers, the Tuck measure is perfectly constitutional.

In the Senate a milder approach is proposed. This is the Dirksen amendment, which would postpone action to allow the state legislatures elected this year or next to reapportion before 1966.

Presumably, this stay of execution would permit Congress to consider and present to the states a constitutional amendment clarifying the basis upon which states may in their own right set up the legislatures which make the laws under which their people must live and which they should obey.

Several decisions of the Supreme Court in 1962, 1963, and this year have thrust the federal courts into this matter through a devious and highly questionable extension of the vague powers conferred by the Fourteenth Amendment.

Space permits only a brief summary of what the Supreme Court decided in split decisions. The opinions of the court and the dissents would themselves fill a sizeable book.

THE FIRST affirmation of the new doctrine by the court's majority was in Baker vs. Carr, decided in 1962. This concerned the apportionment of seats in the Tennessee General Assembly.

This declared, in effect, that the 1901 apportionment was unconstitutional and that a new one should be given giving major attention to representation according to population.

Then there was another decision, in 1963, striking down the county system in Georgia. Early this year, a federal court directed redistricting of Georgia's congressional districts, declaring that "As nearly as practicable one man's vote in a congressional election must be worth as much as another's."

Justice Frankfurter's dissent in Baker vs. Carr was the finest and, as it proved, the final one of his career. He contended with great vigor and logic that apportionment was a political, not a judicial concern.

He also denied that apportionment strictly on the basis of population was consonant with the established principle of representative government.

His pertinent language was that the concept of "one man, one vote" was "not the English system, it was not the Colonial system, it was not the system chosen for the national government by the Constitution. . . .It is not predominantly practiced by the states today." Justice Harlan also dissented in a forceful opinion.

THE CASES which have provoked the present crisis in Congress, decided this June, were directed at Alabama, New York, Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and Colorado. These were sweeping decisions flatly declaring that both houses of state legislatures should be apportioned according to population distribution.

In this, the majority opinion boldly usurped the authority of states and read new and strange meanings into the Constitution. But the charges of usurpation are not all. The court's decisions are irresponsible.

Justice Stewart, who concurred in Baker vs. Carr, pointed out in dissenting in these 1964 cases that the court's "draconian pronouncement" makes the legislatures of 50 states unconstitutional. Utter chaos may result, unless Congress finds a way to check this interference.

Stewart said further, states differ in interests and constituencies. What "might be best for South Dakota might be unwise for Hawaii with its many islands or Michigan with its Northern peninsula. . . . Montana with its vast distances is not Rhode Island with its heavy concentration of people."

He also asked, if this principle of "one man, one vote" prevails, why have districts at all? Why not hold "all elections at large?"

This is the issue, and it involves the essential nature of the republic itself.

Latin Tempers Flare

By Bert Quint

MEXICO CITY

Latin Americans are boiling mad about the swift kick in the pocketbook they got this month from various branches of the United States government.

The U.S. Senate, House and Department of Agriculture all helped celebrated the third anniversary of the Alliance for Progress, which promises the Latin nations a better break in the sale of the commodities that keep them economically afloat, by taking actions intended to do just the opposite.

Actually, the Senate started out on what the Latins consider the side of the angels by authorizing, on July 31, the participation of the U.S. in the International Coffee Agreement. But on Aug. 18, the House of Representatives voted it down.

The importance of the coffee pact is enormous. For the Latins, who produce more coffee than anybody else, it can mean the difference between getting along and going bankrupt. For the Americans, who drink more than anyone else, it can mean the difference of several cents a pound at the markets.

THE LATINS traditionally have complained that their weak economies are created by having to buy manufacturer goods, mostly from the U.S., at prices that keep going higher while they sell raw materials and foodstuffs, again principally to the U.S., at prices that fluctuate seriously and often drop. Coffee accounts for 20 per cent of all of Latin America's exports.

When the late President Kennedy outlined the Alliance for Progress, he promised that the U.S. would help the Latins stabilize their commodity prices.

The biggest step in this direction was when the executive branch of the U.S. government signed the International Coffee Agreement in 1962.

That agreement called for the coffee - producing nations to abide by export quotas to make sure the market would not get flooded and prices wouldn't plunge, and for the U.S. to make sure no country sold more than its quota permits.

When the Senate gave its okay to United States participation in the agreement, Secretary of State Dean Rusk predicted that it would "bring economic stability to the Latin American countries and protect the American consumer against exorbitant prices." The Latins hailed it as the best news of the year.

THE HOUSE didn't see it that way. Congressmen felt that the agreement was worded so as to justify high coffee prices and claimed that since it was signed the price had gone up 13 or 14 cents a pound at the point of origin, thus costing American consumers nearly $400,000.

This does not mean U.S. participation has been ruled out. A Senate-House committee has been established to work out a compromise between the stands of the two bodies.

Meanwhile, the Latins are upset. The Colombian congress has protested unanimously and asked its president to form a solid front with all the affected countries to fight what it calls a "pre-electoral maneuver" in the U.S.

In Brazil, a congressman has asked his government to call a meeting of coffee-growing nations to join the fight.

But the problem doesn't end with coffee. The Agriculture Department on Aug. 18 re-established certain sugar import duties as a move to protect U.S. sugar-growers.

To make matters worse for the Latins and better for domestic producers, cattle state legislators pushed a bill through Congress Aug. 18 allowing quota restrictions on meat imports.

Putting It Back In Focus

Everything about national politics must be thought of these days in relation to exposure of political figures on TV screens—over-exposure, most of us can agree, by the time the national conventions flicker to a close.

In July, after four days with the Republicans in San Francisco, all of us were imbued with thoughts of Barry Goldwater, Bill Miller, extremism, liberalism, conservatism, the Eastern Establishment and the smiling and scowling faces of the winners and losers.

Forgotten were the Democrats, who couldn't have bought 30 minutes of TV exposure for any amount of money, even if they had wanted to. They didn't, of course, because it's the unwritten rule of the game that one party does not upstage another during its big scene.

Now, at the end of August, after four days with the Democrats in Atlantic City, all of us are imbued with thoughts of Lyndon Baines Johnson and his family, Hubert Humphrey and his family, facing the future with courage, the Southern Establishment, the smiling faces of the winners and the angry face of a character named Bull Connor, who has replaced Senator Claghorn as the prototype of everything the Deep South needs to be ashamed of.

An argument repeated every four years about the way voters make up their minds will help, though.

The argument is between those who believe political campaigns should be designed to change opinions and those who believe the purpose of the campaigns is to generate interest in the election.

Each claim has merit; the campaigns do both things. But in general their important value lies in stirring up interest. Most Americans make up their minds early in the game and do not change them. But unless they were stirred up, a national election would be a glum, drab affair, with a handful of professionals and deeply dedicated party workers doing all the voting.

The issues are what they were before the party conventions.

THE BASIC ISSUE is whether enough dissatisfaction has been generated by the Kennedy - Johnson administration since January 1961 to cause it to be voted out of power and replaced by a Goldwater administration next January.

This basic issue is surrounded and camouflaged by extraneous issues which will be hammered at hard and long by the political opposition. But in the words of a candidate some years back, "Is it time for a change?"

The parties now are separated by a vastly greater difference than existed when the only discernible difference was the fact one party was in power and the other wasn't. This will have bearing on voters' decisions in 1964; no doubt about it. It is the distinguishing element in the 1964 Election — the clear choice.

But basically the issue is what it always is in a national election — whether the party in power has become so unpopular with the American electorate that it can be unseated by the party out of power. Is it time "to throw the rascals out"?

When this elemental fact has been brought back into focus, the 1964 campaign will be well on the way to a November decision — the quadrennial moment of truth in national politics.

Helping Hand

The Columbiana County Highway Patrol Auxiliary can take a bow along with others over the state as the result of praise from Col. Anson B. Cook, head of the State Highway Patrol.

The patrol chief referred to the Auxiliary as "vital to the operation of the Highway Patrol." He pointed out that 3,000 members of the Legion-sponsored groups over Ohio spent more than 170,000 hours in training and other activities with regular patrolmen. More than 1,800 hours were consumed in emergency duty.

As Col. Cook said, this is not extraordinary for the Auxiliary, but "merely a continuation of its high level of performance in serving Ohioans for the last 22 years."

Thirty - seven active members serve the Columbiana County unit and do their part in making the over-all state record so outstanding.

The Bells Ring For More Than Kids

But the bells mean just as much for thousands of adults. There are:

The teachers — Who have to be a dedicated lot to accept and suffer through the many problems that come their way.

The coaches — Usually an optimistic group who are going to "win them all", though, in most instances, this is mathematically impossible because even before the season starts scheduling makes it so, with those who are going to win them all playing those who are going to win them all.

The administrators — Who must shoulder even more burdens than the teachers — and burdens which are a higher plateau in accordance with the positions they hold at the top of the educational ladder.

The school boards — Entrusted with the purse strings, the pressure is constant from all sides.

The custodians — When it's warm, they're expected to keep things cool; when it's cold, they must keep things warm. They have to repair this, that and the other thing and constantly pick up this, that and the other thing.

The bus drivers — Come rain, snow or sleet, they are expected to have Johnny at classes on time — and home again, on time.

The cafeteria staff — All they have to do is please the persnickety appetites of a hungry, energetic bunch of kids day after day.

And last, but not least, the parents—They feel certain that all the cares in the world are theirs as they send Junior off to the educational wars. They are the ones who help complicate things for the teachers, the coaches, the administrators, the school boards, the custodians, the bus drivers and the cafeteria staffs.

So when the school bells ring, more than happy and unhappy youngsters are involved.

Take A Tip From Us

Incidental information from New York City includes a dour report on tipping. The outstretched-hand clique has been complaining. World Fair visitors, like visitors in general, have been a disappointing lot this summer, say the New Yorkers who depend on tips to buy them the niceties of life.

When outlanders from the wealth-producing areas of this nation visit New York City, they are spending their own money, unless they are members of the expense-account crowd.

Most World Fair visitors are doing it on their own resources. Like most Americans, they assume that working for a living is an honorable estate and the laborer is worthy of his hire. They are accustomed to pay for what they get. They are not accustomed to tipping for routine service.

When they go to New York City, they expect to be fleeced. They feel defensive about it. And most of all, they feel defensive about tipping.

If they tip too much, members of the outstretched-hand clique laugh at them; if too little the brotherhood of the palm curses them. So, confronted with one choice or the other, they tip too little when uncertain. Because they earn their own money and pay their own way, they despise the practice of tipping. It makes them feel squeamish.

It seems only fair, as long as the New York tippees are unhappy, to balance the scales by reminding them that the tippers are unhappy, too. They resent greasing palms in New York City. After all, there's no reciprocity.

Whenever did anyone hear of swarms of New Yorkers visiting the outlands strewing folding money over the landscape like green grocers shucking off surplus supplies? They're a close-fisted lot once they get west of the Hudson.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Formerly, I used Germans Nazis to illustrate man's inhumanity to man. Now I use something closer to home—the brutalitarians of my own country, who beat, torture and kill members of a minority they despise, with special reference to red-necks of the Deep South.

The most valuable contribution to highway safety would be an automatic siren that would scream when a car reached 70 mph, thus warning everybody within hearing distance. Oh yes, the siren could not be disconnected. No sneaky business.

It worries me when professional football players are cut loose, or did until a fellow who knows about it points out that most of them are college graduates and can get a job coaching, if they don't catch on with another professional team.

I don't know about hair styling but feel sure something could be done to the hairdos of the President's daughters to make them look less like him and more like their mother. After all, Lady Bird is worth looking like.

True to my conviction that partisan politics cannot be shrugged off, because it's the life blood of the American way of life, I tried to understand all the hoopla about the Mississippi and Alabama delegation . . . Oh, how I tried! But light never dawned. I never did understand what the spielers and reporters were talking about.

The biggest football player of my school era dropped in for a chat the other day and we wondered where today's behemoths are coming from. He weighed 200 pounds, which is too light for a first-rate linemen these days. I weighed 142, too light for a waterboy. Yet we played for fun and had it—lots of it.

Europe Watches U.S. Politics Closely

By Seymour Freidin

LONDON

Pencils and tongues, honed razor-sharp, are poised abroad to do a surgical job on the U.S. presidential campaign.

Except for the time Dwight D. Eisenhower ran, when Europeans, Asians, and Africans liked him pretty well, Democrats usually get the straw vote.

It began overwhelmingly that way for President Johnson. Sen. Barry Goldwater's critics back home don't begin to match his severest detractors on three continents. But disenchantment with Johnson has begun to settle in, and it is by no means all the way with LBJ today.

THAT DOESN'T mean there has been a big switch of favoritism toward Goldwater. Hardly. A kind of resignation is noticeable: better Johnson than Goldwater.

So the sobered-up reasoning goes. Too many voices — professional, political, and busybody-regarded Johnson as the heir to the late President Kennedy. Kennedy was the golden youth abroad, and this should be fully understood in the context of present-day disillusionment with Johnson.

Abroad, there was somehow the fixed idea that Johnson would perform as an older Kennedy. The antipathy against Goldwater seemed to solidify the image. Then came the political professionalism with which the President skillfully executed retreats and victories. They have political pros over here, too. But they do all their backroom work out of public sight.

The strong scent of scandal in the Bobby Baker episode wafted quickly across the Atlantic. They have scandals on this side also, but so many of them are tied up with sex, not profit, that they fade fast with time.

Probably the "Dear John" letters of resignation from many of the younger White House staff people under Kennedy made their impact. They were people whom government officials abroad had come to regard as intimates.

Then, in the last few weeks, action exploded on many foreign fronts. These were shots really heard around the world with more disturbing effect than foreigners feel should reverberate. The limited retaliatory air strike over North Viet Nam created profound uneasiness.

THERE WAS, generally, favorable European editorial support for the raids. But this was mitigated by the queasy wonder whether Johnson would sling lead casually to prove that he is just as much a militant anti-Communist as Goldwater claims to be.

One immediate result, easy and traditional, is to invoke the specter of U.S. ineptitude and casualness in snuffing out a crisis. We are, for instance, blamed for dilly-dallying on a solution for Cyprus. At the same time we draw caustic comments on the decision to send some help to Premier Tshombe in the Congo.

This contradictory impulse is not, of course, logical. But emotions abroad today are tangled up with acts and events. They call in short, for the United States to set an example that broadcasts the purest of hearts and intentions.

Everyone, or so it seems, has words of counsel, even wisdom, on how the Americans should perform in our complicated world. The fact that Johnson isn't living up to the standard foreigners have established counts against him.

THE CONTRADICTION is easy to penetrate. Foreign policy, as conducted by Johnson, is basically on the same guidelines as those charted by Kennedy. Try, as many have, to prove this with actual detail, and the only response is skepticism. The concept of a multilateral force, for example, is one specific case. Foreigners generally don't like it. They believe it gives the West Germans far too much participation in nuclear arms.

Yet the concept was drafted by the Kennedy administration and the consultants were all Kennedy appointees. The fact that the idea has advanced as far as it has, engendering fierce discussions, is all ascribed to Johnson's inexperience and his now-advertised lack of knowledge.

Thus, from the glistening image of a well-rounded heir to Kennedy, Johnson is depicted as something of a half - educated hayseed. Shrewd? Sure. But there is gunsmoke in his nostrils, some chicanery in his performance—and he doesn't communicate confidence. That's the way he is seen, more or less, abroad.

Still, in the concensus, they'll take Johnson. With all his shortcomings, he is for most foreigners much more acceptable than Goldwater. For that reason, every poll showing Goldwater cutting into Johnson's lead becomes a worrisome thing.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

In regards to the new school bond issue, I want to thank Mr. Frank Miller. He is absolutely right about the people living on social security.

I own two pieces of property which I get very little rent for. The tenants are living on social security and cannot afford more rent. All the rent goes for taxes and repairs and water.

So I think it's time to quit raising taxes. That is why industries are not coming to East Liverpool, not because of not having schools. With some repair, I feel our schools are plenty good enough. I have no children in school and don't feel like being overburdened to educate other people's children.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date

In 1914, German armies defeated the Russians in the battle of Tannenberg.

In 1940, the British Royal Air Force made its first attack on the center of Berlin.

'Irresponsible Ruling'

By Raymond Moley

Reapportionment Battle Analyzed

The clamor at Atlantic City, at which preordained decisions were loudly arrived at, temporarily obscured an issue facing Congress, 50 semi - sovereign states, and American citizens generally. At issue is what to do about the June 15 decision of the Supreme Court commanding the reapportionment of both houses of state legislatures solely on the basis of population.

In the House of Representatives the Tuck bill was passed by the very significant vote of 218 to 175. In the debate and vote on this measure, party lines played no significant part. Voting for the bill were 122 Republicans and 96 Democrats; opposed were 140 Democrats and 35 Republicans.

THE BILL, if enacted into law, would deny to the federal courts jurisdiction over all cases involving the apportionment of state legislatures. In my judgment, and in that of many distinguished lawyers, the Tuck measure is perfectly constitutional.

In the Senate a milder approach is proposed. This is the Dirksen amendment, which would postpone action to allow the state legislatures elected this year or next to reapportion before 1966.

Presumably, this stay of execution would permit Congress to consider and present to the states a constitutional amendment clarifying the basis upon which states may in their own right set up the legislatures which make the laws under which their people must live and which they should obey.

Several decisions of the Supreme Court in 1962, 1963, and this year have thrust the federal courts into this matter through a devious and highly questionable extension of the vague powers conferred by the Fourteenth Amendment.

Space permits only a brief summary of what the Supreme Court decided in split decisions. The opinions of the court and the dissents would themselves fill a sizeable book.

THE FIRST affirmation of the new doctrine by the court's majority was in Baker vs. Carr, decided in 1962. This concerned the apportionment of seats in the Tennessee General Assembly.

This declared, in effect, that the 1901 apportionment was unconstitutional and that a new one should be given giving major attention to representation according to population.

Then there was another decision, in 1963, striking down the county system in Georgia. Early this year, a federal court directed redistricting of Georgia's congressional districts, declaring that "As nearly as practicable one man's vote in a congressional election must be worth as much as another's."

Justice Frankfurter's dissent in Baker vs. Carr was the finest and, as it proved, the final one of his career. He contended with great vigor and logic that apportionment was a political, not a judicial concern.

He also denied that apportionment strictly on the basis of population was consonant with the established principle of representative government.

His pertinent language was that the concept of "one man, one vote" was "not the English system, it was not the Colonial system, it was not the system chosen for the national government by the Constitution. . . .It is not predominantly practiced by the states today." Justice Harlan also dissented in a forceful opinion.

THE CASES which have provoked the present crisis in Congress, decided this June, were directed at Alabama, New York, Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and Colorado. These were sweeping decisions flatly declaring that both houses of state legislatures should be apportioned according to population distribution.

In this, the majority opinion boldly usurped the authority of states and read new and strange meanings into the Constitution. But the charges of usurpation are not all. The court's decisions are irresponsible.

Justice Stewart, who concurred in Baker vs. Carr, pointed out in dissenting in these 1964 cases that the court's "draconian pronouncement" makes the legislatures of 50 states unconstitutional. Utter chaos may result, unless Congress finds a way to check this interference.

Stewart said further, states differ in interests and constituencies. What "might be best for South Dakota might be unwise for Hawaii with its many islands or Michigan with its Northern peninsula. . . . Montana with its vast distances is not Rhode Island with its heavy concentration of people."

He also asked, if this principle of "one man, one vote" prevails, why have districts at all? Why not hold "all elections at large?"

This is the issue, and it involves the essential nature of the republic itself.

Latin Tempers Flare

By Bert Quint

MEXICO CITY

Latin Americans are boiling mad about the swift kick in the pocketbook they got this month from various branches of the United States government.

The U.S. Senate, House and Department of Agriculture all helped celebrated the third anniversary of the Alliance for Progress, which promises the Latin nations a better break in the sale of the commodities that keep them economically afloat, by taking actions intended to do just the opposite.

Actually, the Senate started out on what the Latins consider the side of the angels by authorizing, on July 31, the participation of the U.S. in the International Coffee Agreement. But on Aug. 18, the House of Representatives voted it down.

The importance of the coffee pact is enormous. For the Latins, who produce more coffee than anybody else, it can mean the difference between getting along and going bankrupt. For the Americans, who drink more than anyone else, it can mean the difference of several cents a pound at the markets.

THE LATINS traditionally have complained that their weak economies are created by having to buy manufacturer goods, mostly from the U.S., at prices that keep going higher while they sell raw materials and foodstuffs, again principally to the U.S., at prices that fluctuate seriously and often drop. Coffee accounts for 20 per cent of all of Latin America's exports.

When the late President Kennedy outlined the Alliance for Progress, he promised that the U.S. would help the Latins stabilize their commodity prices.

The biggest step in this direction was when the executive branch of the U.S. government signed the International Coffee Agreement in 1962.

That agreement called for the coffee - producing nations to abide by export quotas to make sure the market would not get flooded and prices wouldn't plunge, and for the U.S. to make sure no country sold more than its quota permits.

When the Senate gave its okay to United States participation in the agreement, Secretary of State Dean Rusk predicted that it would "bring economic stability to the Latin American countries and protect the American consumer against exorbitant prices." The Latins hailed it as the best news of the year.

THE HOUSE didn't see it that way. Congressmen felt that the agreement was worded so as to justify high coffee prices and claimed that since it was signed the price had gone up 13 or 14 cents a pound at the point of origin, thus costing American consumers nearly $400,000.

This does not mean U.S. participation has been ruled out. A Senate-House committee has been established to work out a compromise between the stands of the two bodies.

Meanwhile, the Latins are upset. The Colombian congress has protested unanimously and asked its president to form a solid front with all the affected countries to fight what it calls a "pre-electoral maneuver" in the U.S.

In Brazil, a congressman has asked his government to call a meeting of coffee-growing nations to join the fight.

But the problem doesn't end with coffee. The Agriculture Department on Aug. 18 re-established certain sugar import duties as a move to protect U.S. sugar-growers.

To make matters worse for the Latins and better for domestic producers, cattle state legislators pushed a bill through Congress Aug. 18 allowing quota restrictions on meat imports.

4-H 'King', 'Queen' Crowned As Fair Closes At Hookstown

The annual Hookstown Grange Fair closed Saturday night with the crowning of Miss Sharon Boyer of New Brighton and Robert Vahn of Fombell as the 4-H queen and king.

The couple was crowned by last year's king and queen, Lester Fisher of Hanover Township and Margaret Cochran of Beaver Falls.

A talent contest was held, with Pamela Price of East Liverpool being named winner in the vocal and instrumental division and Mary Lifle, also of East Liverpool, in the dance and baton category.

Thomas Fazikas of Hanover Township and Carol Freshcorn of Fombell were second - place winners in the two divisions. Dennis Fox of Green Township served as the master of ceremonies, with 24 contestants participating.

In the horse - pulling contest held Saturday morning and afternoon, the Littman Brothers of Washington, Pa., were winners in the light-weight division and Glenn Schlarb of Baldick, Ohio, won in the heavyweight class.

Rudibaugh also placed second in the heavy - weight class, while George Porter of Washington was third. Some 15 teams were entered.

Judges have named Don McDowell of Hubbard, Ohio, and Bill Moore of Hookstown as winners in the light-weight and heavy-weight divisions of the pony pulling contest held Thursday evening.

Ken Rockhold of Salem and Elmer McKinney of Seweckley were second and third, respectively, in the light weight division, behind McDowell, while W. E. Miller of Sarver, Pa., was second and Roger Shoemaker of Louisville, Ohio, third, in the heavyweight division. Twenty-seven teams were entered.

In the tractor-pull, also conducted Thursday, Joe Fipp of Hanover Township was declared the winner, followed by Ken Soisson and John Searight, both of Green Township.

Large crowds turned out for this year's event which was one of the grange's "most successful", according to Chester F. Elliott, chairman of the Fair Board. Mrs. Raymond Searight was in charge of publicity.

called patterning sends messages to undamaged areas of David's brain. Later, it is felt, he should be able to crawl by himself in this way.

The camp personnel teamed up—three at a time, four times a day—to move David's arms, legs and head in a cross-pattern motion similar to crawling.

"He's improving," said Mrs. Joan Rapp, a volunteer and also camp director. "I can feel it in his muscles. He's no longer limp."

that began the Cyprus civil war last December.

The Greek Cypriot leader, who flew to Alexandria Saturday to confer with U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser, said Sunday that Nasser "reassured me of his support in several ways."

In an address in the Greek Orthodox cathedral in Alexandria, Makarios, archbishop of Cyprus, reaffirmed "our determination to carry on our struggle to the end. We won't surrender.

"We believe that with people who have the strength to fight, we will win in the end and live free and united with Greece."

Among 6 Mishaps

Palestine Cyclist Injured By Auto

An East Palestine youth was injured severely when struck by a car while riding a bicycle along Route 46 a tenth of a mile west of East Palestine Sunday night at 7:45.

Thirteen - year - old Thomas John Lorey, 1550 Bacon Ave., was admitted to Salem City Hospital with a possible skull fracture, severe scalp lacerations and multiple lacerations and abrasions of the body.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the boy was struck by a car operated by Wanda Ruth Parker, 40, of 34 McCalla St., East Palestine. Both were westbound.

The woman's car struck the rear of the bicycle, throwing the youth over an embankment.

It was one of six weekend accidents investigated by the patrol. Three others were in this area.

Several homes and businesses were without electric service for about two hours Sunday night when power lines were knocked down in a mishap along Route 30 just east of Lisbon.

Officers said a tractor - trailer rig driven by George Leroy Ramsey, 25, of Lisbon R. D. 3 bumped a power pole, snapping the wires.

Ramsey was attempting to park the rig and backed into the pole. No damage resulted to the rig or the pole, but the hot wires dropped to the road.

OFFICERS SAID Donald Ralph Butler, 29, of East Liverpool R. D. suffered a head laceration in a one-car accident Saturday at 6:50 p. m. on Route 39 six tenths of a mile west of Wellsville. Butler failed to negotiate a curve, went off the right side of the highway and then swerved back off the left, striking a guard rail. The car rolled and landed on its top.

Butler was cited for speed in excess of road conditions.

Ralph E. Lockhart, 39, of Wyoming Ave. was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his pickup truck hit the rear of a car Sunday at 10:11 p. m. on Route 267 near Glenmoor.

OFFICERS SAID the truck hit the rear of a car operated by Alan Charles Boone, 18, of 1311 Erie St.

Boone was making a right turn and Lockhart failed to slow, officers said.

Lockhart will be given a hearing in Municipal Court.

said he didn't think Humphrey's selection would hurt Johnson's chances in the South.

Suggesting that Humphrey "get out on the stump and talk to the people" in the South, Sanders said "this man is a great campaigner."

Burch criticized both Johnson and Humphrey on the CBS program "Face the Nation," and said the convention which nominated them was "most undemocratic."

He called Johnson "a complete cynic," and said his choice of Humphrey as a running mate was "cynicism of the ultra type." As senators, Humphrey and Johnson often took opposite sides on issues, Burch said, and they opposed each other for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

Noting Humphrey's membership in Americans for Democratic Action — which he said should be called "Americans for Socialistic Action" — Burch said the assocation has "effectively killed the question of extremism" in the campaign.

Ohioan Places 4th

Reuther Puts Down Protest Over Strike

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther was to face his familiar foes today after apparently quelling a brief but stormy revolt within his union's ranks.

Reuther was set to put in another personal appearance at the bargaining table as the UAW and Chrysler Corp. continued efforts to hammer out a new and pattern-setting contract.

Current pacts with Chrysler and fellow auto industry giants General Motors and Ford, originally scheduled to expire today, have been extended until Sept. 9.

That was the strike deadline handed Chrysler by UAW leaders last week.

Chrysler, the smallest of the automotive Big Three, showed no sign of plans to improve on the contract offer made to the UAW on Aug. 17. The union rejected offers from all three companies as inadequate.

Reuther and top UAW officials faced a brief flurry of protest over the weekend at a meeting of the GM workers council, which represents some 354,000 GM employes.

Leonard Woodcock, chief of the union's GM department, conceded that some workers are unhappy with the decision to pick Chrysler instead of the larger General Motors as the target for a possible strike.

Several men who said they were UAW members from plants of GM's Ternstedt Division picketed the council meeting Saturday to protest the fact that GM was not selected.

Woodcock said tempers in the meeting were soothed after union leaders gave assurances that GM workers would get their chance to pressure their employer over changes in working conditions.

The federal government estimates the basic average hourly wage in the industry at $3.01. The company offers involved increases of about 35 cents over the three-year contract spans.

Bargaining was to resume at Ford today and at GM on Tuesday, but attention was focused on the talks at Chrysler, which probably will determine whether there will be a strike in the booming auto industry this year.

World Population Set At Over Three Billion

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The world's present population is about 3.25 billion and one-fifth live within Red China's borders, the 1963 U.N. Demographic Yearbook estimates.

The book, issued Sunday, says because of the increasing birth rate and decreasing death rate, the world is adding almost 63 million persons a year.

Central America is the fastest growing region in the world with population rising at 2.9 per cent annually; Tokyo is still the largest city with a population of 8,613,000; the average death rate is highest in the Ivory Coast, at 33.3 per 1,000; and Haiti leads in the infant mortality rate with 180.4 infant deaths per 1,000 live births.

Auto Victim Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Van E. Sands, 7, of Mount Vernon died in Children's Hospital here Saturday of injuries suffered Aug. 21 when a car struck his bicycle. The Highway Patrol said the victim rode his bike out of a private driveway into the path of the car on Knox County Road 13.

Among 6 Mishaps

Palestine Cyclist Injured By Auto

An East Palestine youth was injured severely when struck by a car while riding a bicycle along Route 46 a tenth of a mile west of East Palestine Sunday night at 7:45.

Thirteen - year - old Thomas John Lorey, 1550 Bacon Ave., was admitted to Salem City Hospital with a possible skull fracture, severe scalp lacerations and multiple lacerations and abrasions of the body.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the boy was struck by a car operated by Wanda Ruth Parker, 40, of 34 McCalla St., East Palestine. Both were westbound.

The woman's car struck the rear of the bicycle, throwing the youth over an embankment.

It was one of six weekend accidents investigated by the patrol. Three others were in this area.

Several homes and businesses were without electric service for about two hours Sunday night when power lines were knocked down in a mishap along Route 30 just east of Lisbon.

Officers said a tractor - trailer rig driven by George Leroy Ramsey, 25, of Lisbon R. D. 3 bumped a power pole, snapping the wires.

Ramsey was attempting to park the rig and backed into the pole. No damage resulted to the rig or the pole, but the hot wires dropped to the road.

OFFICERS SAID Donald Ralph Butler, 29, of East Liverpool R. D. suffered a head laceration in a one-car accident Saturday at 6:50 p. m. on Route 39 six tenths of a mile west of Wellsville. Butler failed to negotiate a curve, went off the right side of the highway and then swerved back off the left, striking a guard rail. The car rolled and landed on its top.

Butler was cited for speed in excess of road conditions.

Ralph E. Lockhart, 39, of Wyoming Ave. was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his pickup truck hit the rear of a car Sunday at 10:11 p. m. on Route 267 near Glenmoor.

OFFICERS SAID the truck hit the rear of a car operated by Alan Charles Boone, 18, of 1311 Erie St.

Boone was making a right turn and Lockhart failed to slow, officers said.

Lockhart will be given a hearing in Municipal Court.

Politics

said he didn't think Humphrey's selection would hurt Johnson's chances in the South.

Suggesting that Humphrey "get out on the stump and talk to the people" in the South, Sanders said "this man is a great campaigner."

Burch criticized both Johnson and Humphrey on the CBS program "Face the Nation," and said the convention which nominated them was "most undemocratic."

He called Johnson "a complete cynic," and said his choice of Humphrey as a running mate was "cynicism of the ultra type." As senators, Humphrey and Johnson often took opposite sides on issues, Burch said, and they opposed each other for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

Noting Humphrey's membership in Americans for Democratic Action — which he said should be called "Americans for Socialistic Action" — Burch said the assocation has "effectively killed the question of extremism" in the campaign.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Dean Mast of Dover, Ohio, placed fourth in the 15-mile feature race for big cars at the Iowa State Fair Saturday. It was won by Harold Leep of Wichita, Kan.

Reuther Puts Down Protest Over Strike

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther was to face his familiar foes today after apparently quelling a brief but stormy revolt within his union's ranks.

Reuther was set to put in another personal appearance at the bargaining table as the UAW and Chrysler Corp. continued efforts to hammer out a new and pattern-setting contract.

Current pacts with Chrysler and fellow auto industry giants General Motors and Ford, originally scheduled to expire today, have been extended until Sept. 9.

That was the strike deadline handed Chrysler by UAW leaders last week.

Chrysler, the smallest of the automotive Big Three, showed no sign of plans to improve on the contract offer made to the UAW on Aug. 17. The union rejected offers from all three companies as inadequate.

Reuther and top UAW officials faced a brief flurry of protest over the weekend at a meeting of the GM workers council, which represents some 354,000 GM employes.

Leonard Woodcock, chief of the union's GM department, conceded that some workers are unhappy with the decision to pick Chrysler instead of the larger General Motors as the target for a possible strike.

Several men who said they were UAW members from plants of GM's Ternstedt Division picketed the council meeting Saturday to protest the fact that GM was not selected.

Woodcock said tempers in the meeting were soothed after union leaders gave assurances that GM workers would get their chance to pressure their employer over changes in working conditions.

The federal government estimates the basic average hourly wage in the industry at $3.01. The company offers involved increases of about 35 cents over the three-year contract spans.

Bargaining was to resume at Ford today and at GM on Tuesday, but attention was focused on the talks at Chrysler, which probably will determine whether there will be a strike in the booming auto industry this year.

World Population Set At Over Three Billion

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The world's present population is about 3.25 billion and one-fifth live within Red China's borders, the 1963 U.N. Demographic Yearbook estimates.

The book, issued Sunday, says because of the increasing birth rate and decreasing death rate, the world is adding almost 63 million persons a year.

Central America is the fastest growing region in the world with population rising at 2.9 per cent annually; Tokyo is still the largest city with a population of 8,613,000; the average death rate is highest in the Ivory Coast, at 33.3 per 1,000; and Haiti leads in the infant mortality rate with 180.4 infant deaths per 1,000 live births.

Auto Victim Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Van E. Sands, 7, of Mount Vernon died in Children's Hospital here Saturday of injuries suffered Aug. 21 when a car struck his bicycle. The Highway Patrol said the victim rode his bike out of a private driveway into the path of the car on Knox County Road 13.

Cleo Dumps Rain Over East Coast

By The Associated Press

Tropical storm Cleo grudgingly gasped expiring winds today, but spewed heavy rains over sections of the western Carolinas, Maryland and the Virginias.

Roanoke, Va., got 1½ inches; Morgantown, W. Va., received more than 1 inch; Ashville, N.C., got nearly 4 inches in 24 hours and Winston-Salem, N.C., nearly 3 inches.

The rains sent rivers and streams beyond their banks throughout the area.

After spreading many millions of dollars in damages further south, Cleo spawned two tornadoes at Laurinburg, N.C., within 13 hours. The first one Saturday tore through a three-mile path, injured two persons and caused an estimated $750,000 damages. Sunday, the second twister damaged some roofs outside the town.

Nearly three inches of rain fell over Cape Hatteras, N.C., Sunday.

Linda K. Tompkins Weds In Church Rite At Toronto

Miss Linda Kay Tompkins, former Wellsville resident, wore a gown of white peau de soie accented with Alencon lace when she became the bride of Hugh Russell Bundy Aug. 15 at the First Methodist Church of Toronto.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Tomkins, 103 Seneca St., and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Bundy, 812 Loretta Ave., both of Toronto.

The Rev. Robert Richardson of the Sugar Grove and Empire Methodist Churches performed the 7:30 o'clock double ring candlelight ceremony before an altar set with vases of white gladioli, chrysanthemums, palms and ferns. Mrs. William Hommel presented a recital of nuptial music.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a modified scoop neckline, elbow - length sleeves and an inverted fold skirt with a bow back extended into a chapel train. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was held by a matching peau de soie pleated pillbox hat with a bow back. Her cascade bouquet of button pompoms and ivy was centered with a white orchid. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Nancy Bell, a college roommate, was maid-of-honor and the only attendant. Her dress of mint green peau de soie was styled with a scoop neckline, short sleeves and bouffant overskirt. She wore a rose headpiece and her flowers were a cascade of pink carnations.

Kenneth B. Bundy was his brother's best man. Ushers were Thomas Murphy and Robert Nelson of Columbus.

The mother of the bride chose an azalea pink crepe with lace jacket and matching accessories. She wore a corsage of white gardenias. The bridegroom's mother was attired in pale blue chiffon with matching accessories. Her corsage was of tiny orchids.

A reception for 125 was held in the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. The buffet table, laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a four - tier wedding cake decorated with white wedding bells and topped with a miniature bridal couple, was circled with pink carnations and ivy. Vases of similar flowers and lighted tapers were placed throughout the home. Aides were Mrs. Wilmont Rossiter and Mrs. Jack Kelley of Toronto, Mrs. Ben Groves of Columbus and Mrs. Fred McClelland of Wellsville.

Other guests were from Pittsburgh, Mansfield, Glenmoor, Steubenville and East Liverpool.

MRS. HUGH R. BUNDY
Former Wellsville Resident.

The couple will reside at 8497 Cottonwood Dr., Cincinnati, where Mrs. Bundy will assume a position at Mathew Duvall Elementary School at Mt. Healthy. Her husband will resume his studies at the University of Cincinnati.

Cleo Dumps Rain Over East Coast

By The Associated Press

Tropical storm Cleo grudgingly gasped expiring winds today, but spewed heavy rains over sections of the western Carolinas, Maryland and the Virginias.

Roanoke, Va., got 1½ inches; Morgantown, W. Va., received more than 1 inch; Ashville, N.C., got nearly 4 inches in 24 hours and Winston-Salem, N.C., nearly 3 inches.

The rains sent rivers and streams beyond their banks throughout the area.

After spreading many millions of dollars in damages further south, Cleo spawned two tornadoes at Laurinburg, N.C., within 13 hours. The first one Saturday tore through a three-mile path, injured two persons and caused an estimated $750,000 damages. Sunday, the second twister damaged some roofs outside the town.

Nearly three inches of rain fell over Cape Hatteras, N.C., Sunday.

Model Plane Crashes

Locals Ordered Again To Resume Vindicator Jobs

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— Printers and mailers have been ordered for the second time in less than a week by their international president to report for work at the strikebound Youngstown Vindicator.

Presidents of the two unions received orders over the weekend from Elmer Brown, president of the International Typographical Union in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The telegrams reportedly told the local union members to return to work immediately or face loss of their charters and cards.

These two unions and others at the Vindicator have honored the picket lines set up by the American Newspaper Guild which struck Aug. 18 in a dispute over a new contract for 42 outside circulation men.

The 120 printers and 26 mailers met Sunday but their leaders declined to say what action was taken. Both the printers, and their sister affiliate, the mailers, previously signed contracts along with the Guild and the pressmen. The Guild's two-year pact covers only editorial and classified personnel.

For the 12th straight time Sunday, the Vindicator published by using supervisory employes. The 12-page papers, which contained no comics or magazine supplements, were sold at the main counter in the Vindicator plant.

HOOKSTOWN GRANGE FAIR BOARD

Locals Ordered Again To Resume Vindicator Jobs

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— Printers and mailers have been ordered for the second time in less than a week by their international president to report for work at the strikebound Youngstown Vindicator.

Presidents of the two unions received orders over the weekend from Elmer Brown, president of the International Typographical Union in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The telegrams reportedly told the local union members to return to work immediately or face loss of their charters and cards.

These two unions and others at the Vindicator have honored the picket lines set up by the American Newspaper Guild which struck Aug. 18 in a dispute over a new contract for 42 outside circulation men.

The 120 printers and 26 mailers met Sunday but their leaders declined to say what action was taken. Both the printers, and their sister affiliate, the mailers, previously signed contracts along with the Guild and the pressmen. The Guild's two-year pact covers only editorial and classified personnel.

For the 12th straight time Sunday, the Vindicator published by using supervisory employes. The 12-page papers, which contained no comics or magazine supplements, were sold at the main counter in the Vindicator plant.

34 Due Hearings On Large Docket

In one of the heaviest dockets in many months, hearings were under way today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff for 34 persons cited on a variety of charges, primarily for traffic violations.

Two 18-year-old East End youths, who admitted they had arranged to drag race on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. early Saturday, had their licenses suspended for 30 days and were given suspended 10-day jail terms after pleading "no contest."

The sentences were handed David Franklin Wilson, 1728 Holliday St., and Richard Charles Powell, 853 Valley Ave., who also were ordered to pay court costs.

WILSON and Powell were arrested at 12:35 a. m. Saturday by Patrolman Frank Daniels and Special Patrolman Charles Amato of Wellsville, who said they observed the two leaving Wellsville side-by-side at a high rate of speed.

Losing their licenses for 10 days each were David DeWayne Petty, 304 W. 3rd St., and Archief Crawford Palmer of Calcutta, who pleaded guilty to charges of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the same highway Aug. 24.

Mrs. Nila Sue Landy, 521 E. 4th St., had her temporary permit suspended for 60 days after pleading guilty to driving with a temporary permit without being accompanied by a licensed driver.

"I CAN'T understand how you can even buy a gallon of gasoline unless what you told me earlier isn't true," Judge Chertoff declared, ordering the woman to pay the $7.50 court costs.

The judge said he also would attempt to prevent Mrs. Landy from securing another temporary permit.

Mrs. Landy, 20, was cited Friday afternoon after her car skidded into a tree on Oak St. while she was descending the dirt grade.

Her 4-month-old son, Michael Landy, was released from City Hospital Sunday where he had been admitted with a skull injury suffered in the accident. Mrs. Landy and a neighborhood girl suffered minor injuries while Christine Landy, 2, apparently escaped injury.

DARIUS HOFFMAN, 816 Broadway, Wellsville, drew a fine of $10 and costs after another accident Friday afternoon in which he was cited for failing to yield the right of way. He pleaded guilty.

David Wells, 24, of 1236 Harker Ave. was fined $25 and costs for having an open container of intoxicating liquor. He was cited early Saturday after a traffic mishap at Dresden Ave. and Webber Way.

Four motorists cited by police in a radar speeding check over the weekend and early today were fined $10 and costs each.

Drawing the penalties were William Cataldo, 1702 Nevada St., and Edwin James Stahl, 17 Highland Ave., both of Wellsville; James T. Taylor, 1049 Rubicon St., and Everett L. Lillie, 736 Shafter Alley.

ROBERT BIDWELL of Toronto R. D. 1 forfeited a $32.50 bond after he was cited in a radar check at 6:10 a. m. today on W. 8th St. He was accused of traveling 46 miles an hour in a 36-mile zone.

Cataldo, Taylor and Lillie were cited Saturday morning while Stahl also was cited this morning. Police said the arrests were made on W. 8th St. and Pennsylvania Ave. after the motorists hit speeds ranging from 44 to 50 miles an hour in 35-mile zones.

A hearing was continued until Friday for James Shaler Hoschar, 934 May St., arrested at 2:23 a. m. Sunday on Pennsylvania Ave. on charges of driving without an operator's permit and illegal registration.

JUDGE CHERTOFF said he continued the hearing to permit Hoschar to obtain a driver's license and register the auto.

Lawrence Campbell, 154½ Pennsylvania Ave., was fined $25 and costs for being in possession of an open container of intoxicating liquor.

Two companions, Lawrence Dickey of Shadyside Ave. and Charles R. Neal, 612 Monroe St., forfeited $32.50 bonds on the same charge. The trio was cited about 4 a. m. Sunday on Dresden Ave., police said.

Beryle D. Basinger Jr., 901 Vine St., drew a fine of $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone Thursday on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd.

Judge Chertoff said the court will retain Basinger's Pennsylvania operator's license until he secures an Ohio permit.

Father And 3 Escape Blaze On W. 7th St.

A father and three children escaped uninjured early Sunday when awakened by a fire which firemen said apparently started from candles and kerosene lanterns being used to provide light in their W. 7th St. home.

A section of the living room at the home of Robert Petty, 255 W. 7th St., was damaged extensively and a television set was destroyed by the fire which also ate into the partitions and burned the floor joists on the second floor of the frame home, firemen said.

Petty told police he and two children had fallen asleep in a chair in the living room and a baby was in the bedroom when he was awakened by window glass breaking and found the room in flames. Mrs. Petty was not at home, firemen were told.

He and neighbors got the children out and another neighbor, Darlene Vincent, turned in the alarm at 2:53 a. m.

Firemen said the family had planned to move yesterday from the home, owned by Basil Mangano.

They said there were two candles and a kerosene lantern on top of the television set and another lantern in the room.

Firemen theorized the candles burned down or upset with the flames either breaking the globe in the lantern or igniting some kerosene spilled on top of the TV set.

Firemen were called to the Blevins Auto Wrecking yard on Elmwood St. at 5:33 p. m. by a fire in a junked car which apparently was started by youngsters.

New Term Launched

Hancock County youngsters returned to classrooms today to start the 1964-65 term and the office of Supt. Robert H. Hall was busy compiling attendance figures from buildings in Chester, Newell, New Cumberland, Pughtown and Weirton.

An enrollment of at least 8,500 was anticipated, up by about 200 from last year. Oak Glen High School expected 715 pupils, compared to 685 last year.

Mishap Hurts Chester Man

A Chester resident was injured when the car in which he was a passenger sheared off a utility pole near Wells Junior High School in Newell about 1 a. m. Sunday.

The driver, Jerry K. Cornell, 21, of Chester R. D. 1, told Hancock County sheriff's deputies he was blinded by the lights of a southbound auto that forced his 1964 car off Washington St.

William Glover, 22, of 57 Virginia Ave., Chester, a passenger, sustained a puncture wound of the lower lip and an abrasion of the left knee. He was treated at City Hospital.

Deputies said Cornell, a rural mail carrier, escaped unhurt but there was $400 damage to the new car. The utility pole was owned by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.

Deputies listed Joseph Cornell of Montana Ave., father of the driver, as owner of the car. The mishap still is under investigation.

4 Offices Hit In Series Of Lisbon Cases

LISBON — Burglars broke into four offices early this morning but failed to get anything of value, according to Chief Don Zahrndt.

At 12:50 a. m. today, village police found the rear window of the Peoples Savings and Loan Co. office, on South Park Ave., forced and broken.

Alfred Smith, manager, was called. He checked and found nothing was taken and no entry of the safes had been made or attempted.

When the City Loan Co. opened at 9 this morning, employes found a big hole in the furnace room roof and the south door open.

The Agriculture, Stabilization and Conservation office and Soil and Water Conservation offices also were entered. They are all in the same building, owned by Pete Gallo.

Chief Zahrndt said the thieves broke into a rear door of the ASC office and then pried every door in the two adjoining offices. They then went into the furnace room of the two offices, where they tore off some wall board about 12 feet from the floor to get over the roof of the furnace room of the loan company.

There they knocked a 14-inch hole in the ceiling to get into the loan company offices.

Police believe they left by the side door of the loan company. Either they were not able to get back through the hole or were scared and took the quickest way to escape, police said.

No equipment or tools were found at any of the offices, Chief Zahrndt said.

A 72-year-old Allegheny County woman was injured slightly in a three-way collision Sunday at 4:06 p. m. on E. 6th St. at College St., police said.

The collision involved a 1962 two - door sedan driven by Julia K. Lambright, 52, of Pittsburgh and two parked vehicles —a 1961 model station wagon owned by AM Auto Equipment of Walnut St. and a 1964 four-door sedan owned by George Simballa of Lsbon St., officers said.

Mrs. Celia Lambright, 72, also of Pittsburgh, a passenger in the Pittsburgh auto, suffered a cut on the knee, but refused medical treatment, police said.

As she started to pull toward the curb, the car shot forward, hitting the AM Auto Equipment car and driving it forward into the Simballa auto, she said.

Two hit - skip crashes were reported.

Mrs. Ruth Stoakes, 1070 St. George St., told officers the right rear door and fender of her 1961 four - door sedan were damaged about 2 p. m. Saturday while it was parked on a lot at the Loblaw, Inc., Market on Bradshaw Ave.

Mrs. Stokes told officers she did not notice the damage at the time. She said she drove home after buying groceries and put the car in the garage. About 8:26 p.m. Saturday when she took the car out again, she discovered it had been damaged, she said.

Mae DiLorenzo, 40, of New Castle told officers the left rear of her 1962 four-door sedan was damaged in a hit - skip crash Saturday at 6:58 p. m. on Dresden Ave.

The woman told officers she was outbound on Dresden Ave. when an oncoming auto crossed the center line and struck her auto. The offending car, a black Ford, did not stop, she related.

A Beechwood man was cited as an aftermath of a mishap Saturday at 1:04 p. m. on Lisbon St. at W. 9th St., officers said.

The collision involved a 1961 sedan operated by Richard L. Waite, 35, of 129 Sanford Ave. and a 1958 model convertible sedan driven by Kenneth Hutchinson, 23, of 1049 Rubicon St., officers said.

Waite told police he was driving downgrade on the Lisbon St. Hill when Hutchinson pulled from W. 9th St. and struck his car.

Hutchinson told police he was halted at the intersection when a man in a car behind him shouted something. As he turned to see what the other man wanted, his car drifted into the street and hit Waite's auto, he said.

Hutchinson was cited on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way.

Hutchinson was fined $15 and costs by Judge Chertoff this morning.

Another two - car mishap was reported Saturday at 9:48 a.m. on the Freeway 30 feet east of the Newell Bridge, officers said.

It involved a 1964 sedan driven by Rene LePage, 63, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and a 1962 sedan operated by Margaret L. Doughty, 31, of 1049 Avondale St., officers said.

The local woman told police LePage pulled into her lane. She said she tried unsuccessfully to avoid a collision. LePage told officers he slowed to look at a highway sign.

LePage forfeited a $32.50 bond on a charge he failed to remain within a single lane and changed lanes without assurance it was clear to do so.

Pennsy Pledges Cleanup Of Area

The refuse cleaned out of the boxcars will be burned. Residents of the area complained to the board that some garbage was being thrown out with the rubbish, creating a health hazard.

Pete Chefalo, chairman, conducted business. It was reported Harry Hurd, sanitation inspector, has returned to duty after a foot operation.

The next meeting is Sept. 25 at City Hall.

A hearing was continued until Friday for James Shaler Hoschar, 934 May St., arrested at 2:23 a. m. Sunday on Pennsylvania Ave. on charges of driving without an operator's permit and illegal registration.

JUDGE CHERTOFF said he continued the hearing to permit Hoschar to obtain a driver's license and register the auto.

Lawrence Campbell, 154½ Pennsylvania Ave., was fined $25 and costs for being in possession of an open container of intoxicating liquor.

Two companions, Lawrence Dickey of Shadyside Ave. and Charles R. Neal, 612 Monroe St., forfeited $32.50 bonds on the same charge. The trio was cited about 4 a. m. Sunday on Dresden Ave., police said.

Beryle D. Basinger Jr., 901 Vine St., drew a fine of $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone Thursday on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd.

Judge Chertoff said the court will retain Basinger's Pennsylvania operator's license until he secures an Ohio permit.

Father And 3 Escape Blaze On W. 7th St.

A father and three children escaped uninjured early Sunday when awakened by a fire which firemen said apparently started from candles and kerosene lanterns being used to provide light in their W. 7th St. home.

A section of the living room at the home of Robert Petty, 255 W. 7th St., was damaged extensively and a television set was destroyed by the fire which also ate into the partitions and burned the floor joists on the second floor of the frame home, firemen said.

Petty told police he and two children had fallen asleep in a chair in the living room and a baby was in the bedroom when he was awakened by window glass breaking and found the room in flames. Mrs. Petty was not at home, firemen were told.

He and neighbors got the children out and another neighbor, Darlene Vincent, turned in the alarm at 2:53 a. m.

Firemen said the family had planned to move yesterday from the home, owned by Basil Mangano.

They said there were two candles and a kerosene lantern on top of the television set and another lantern in the room.

Firemen theorized the candles burned down or upset with the flames either breaking the globe in the lantern or igniting some kerosene spilled on top of the TV set.

Firemen were called to the Blevins Auto Wrecking yard on Elmwood St. at 5:33 p. m. by a fire in a junked car which apparently was started by youngsters.

New Term Launched

Hancock County youngsters returned to classrooms today to start the 1964-65 term and the office of Supt. Robert H. Hall was busy compiling attendance figures from buildings in Chester, Newell, New Cumberland, Pughtown and Weirton.

An enrollment of at least 8,500 was anticipated, up by about 200 from last year. Oak Glen High School expected 715 pupils, compared to 685 last year.

Mishap Hurts Chester Man

A Chester resident was injured when the car in which he was a passenger sheared off a utility pole near Wells Junior High School in Newell about 1 a. m. Sunday.

The driver, Jerry K. Cornell, 21, of Chester R. D. 1, told Hancock County sheriff's deputies he was blinded by the lights of a southbound auto that forced his 1964 car off Washington St.

William Glover, 22, of 57 Virginia Ave., Chester, a passenger, sustained a puncture wound of the lower lip and an abrasion of the left knee. He was treated at City Hospital.

Deputies said Cornell, a rural mail carrier, escaped unhurt but there was $400 damage to the new car. The utility pole was owned by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.

Deputies listed Joseph Cornell of Montana Ave., father of the driver, as owner of the car. The mishap still is under investigation.

4 Offices Hit In Series Of Lisbon Cases

LISBON — Burglars broke into four offices early this morning but failed to get anything of value, according to Chief Don Zahrndt.

At 12:50 a. m. today, village police found the rear window of the Peoples Savings and Loan Co. office, on South Park Ave., forced and broken.

Alfred Smith, manager, was called. He checked and found nothing was taken and no entry of the safes had been made or attempted.

When the City Loan Co. opened at 9 this morning, employes found a big hole in the furnace room roof and the south door open.

The Agriculture, Stabilization and Conservation office and Soil and Water Conservation offices also were entered. They are all in the same building, owned by Pete Gallo.

Chief Zahrndt said the thieves broke into a rear door of the ASC office and then pried every door in the two adjoining offices. They then went into the furnace room of the two offices, where they tore off some wall board about 12 feet from the floor to get over the roof of the furnace room of the loan company.

There they knocked a 14-inch hole in the ceiling to get into the loan company offices.

Police believe they left by the side door of the loan company. Either they were not able to get back through the hole or were scared and took the quickest way to escape, police said.

No equipment or tools were found at any of the offices, Chief Zahrndt said.

A 72-year-old Allegheny County woman was injured slightly in a three-way collision Sunday at 4:06 p. m. on E. 6th St. at College St., police said.

The collision involved a 1962 two - door sedan driven by Julia K. Lambright, 52, of Pittsburgh and two parked vehicles —a 1961 model station wagon owned by AM Auto Equipment of Walnut St. and a 1964 four-door sedan owned by George Simballa of Lsbon St., officers said.

Mrs. Celia Lambright, 72, also of Pittsburgh, a passenger in the Pittsburgh auto, suffered a cut on the knee, but refused medical treatment, police said.

As she started to pull toward the curb, the car shot forward, hitting the AM Auto Equipment car and driving it forward into the Simballa auto, she said.

Two hit - skip crashes were reported.

Mrs. Ruth Stoakes, 1070 St. George St., told officers the right rear door and fender of her 1961 four - door sedan were damaged about 2 p. m. Saturday while it was parked on a lot at the Loblaw, Inc., Market on Bradshaw Ave.

Mrs. Stokes told officers she did not notice the damage at the time. She said she drove home after buying groceries and put the car in the garage. About 8:26 p.m. Saturday when she took the car out again, she discovered it had been damaged, she said.

Mae DiLorenzo, 40, of New Castle told officers the left rear of her 1962 four-door sedan was damaged in a hit - skip crash Saturday at 6:58 p. m. on Dresden Ave.

The woman told officers she was outbound on Dresden Ave. when an oncoming auto crossed the center line and struck her auto. The offending car, a black Ford, did not stop, she related.

A Beechwood man was cited as an aftermath of a mishap Saturday at 1:04 p. m. on Lisbon St. at W. 9th St., officers said.

The collision involved a 1961 sedan operated by Richard L. Waite, 35, of 129 Sanford Ave. and a 1958 model convertible sedan driven by Kenneth Hutchinson, 23, of 1049 Rubicon St., officers said.

Waite told police he was driving downgrade on the Lisbon St. Hill when Hutchinson pulled from W. 9th St. and struck his car.

Hutchinson told police he was halted at the intersection when a man in a car behind him shouted something. As he turned to see what the other man wanted, his car drifted into the street and hit Waite's auto, he said.

Hutchinson was cited on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way.

Hutchinson was fined $15 and costs by Judge Chertoff this morning.

Another two - car mishap was reported Saturday at 9:48 a.m. on the Freeway 30 feet east of the Newell Bridge, officers said.

It involved a 1964 sedan driven by Rene LePage, 63, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and a 1962 sedan operated by Margaret L. Doughty, 31, of 1049 Avondale St., officers said.

The local woman told police LePage pulled into her lane. She said she tried unsuccessfully to avoid a collision. LePage told officers he slowed to look at a highway sign.

LePage forfeited a $32.50 bond on a charge he failed to remain within a single lane and changed lanes without assurance it was clear to do so.

The refuse cleaned out of the boxcars will be burned. Residents of the area complained to the board that some garbage was being thrown out with the rubbish, creating a health hazard.

Pete Chefalo, chairman, conducted business. It was reported Harry Hurd, sanitation inspector, has returned to duty after a foot operation.

The next meeting is Sept. 25 at City Hall.

At the initial hearing Aug. 25, Watson's counsel, Atty. Edward A. Zagula of Weirton, and Prosecutor Floyd R. Tarr filed briefs for the squire to study in reaching a decision.

Zagula also moved that the charge be dismissed.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing this letter on my honeymoon. Ev and I were married yesterday afternoon. We checked into this motel after a beautiful church wedding. Ev looked around the room for the TV. He didn't see one so he went out to the room clerk and asked where the TV was.

The clerk told him many of the TV sets were being repaired and he was sorry there was a shortage.

Ev said, "You advertise a TV set in every room and I want one." The room clerk replied, "I figured honeymooners would miss TV less than other folks but maybe I was wrong in your case."

Ev reached over to hit him and one of the bellboys pulled Ev away. I pleaded with Ev to come to the room so I could talk to him. He said, "No, I'm going to sit in the lobby until I get that TV set." Ann, he sat there until 3:30 a.m. and I cried all night.

This morning Ev started in with the room clerk again and I'm writing this letter because I don't know what to do or where to turn. Please wire your advice.—UNTOUCHED BRIDE.

Dear Bride: As I said in my telegram, if Ev is still sitting in the lobby when this message arrives, take a train, plane or bus—and go home. The groom needs professional help. He used the TV as an excuse to avoid the role of a husband.

If Ev refuses to get the help he needs, speak to your clergyman and lawyer about an annulment.

Widow In Dark

Dear Ann: I'm still in deep mourning but I must write this letter. Perhaps I can spare some other wife the grief I'm suffering now.

George and I were married 32 years. We had a good life together, we produced fine children and we were given lovely grandchildren.

George owned a successful business and made good investments. He paid all the bills and gave me a cash allowance every two weeks. If I needed more money he gave it to me. George never talked to me about finances and I never asked him any questions.

Two weeks ago George had a cerebral hemorrhage in his office. He was unconscious when they brought him to the hospital. He died three days later.

George's lawyer is a stranger to me. I must take his word for everything. George's will was 10 years old. For a smart man he left things in a terrible mess. He had stocks and bonds in vaults out of town, according to his former business partner, and now we are trying to find them.

So I'd like to say to you women, don't let your husband "protect" you as mine did. Sit down with him and be realistic. Ask him, "If you died tomorrow, would your affairs be in the shape you want them to be in?" I wish I had. — DAFFODIL.

Dear Daffodil: Reading your letter could be the most important thing thousands of women did today. Thank you for writing it.

Confidentially

TO INCENSED: You cannot insist that guests pay for damage done, accidentally, when they visit in your home. These people should have offered to replace the table and lamp. Has it occurred to you that perhaps you need new friends?

TO EMBATTLED ROMEO: Any man who lets his girl friend rearrange his bridgework the third time deserves it. Your notion that if she didn't love you so much she wouldn't get so mad is pure malarkey.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

1,036 Students Expected For Fairfield-Waterford

COLUMBIANA — Total enrollment of 1,036, a gain of 20 from last year's 1,016, is expected when the 1964-65 term begins Wednesday in the three buildings of the Fairfield - Waterford Local School District.

Auto Ignition Parts Stolen

Two vital parts of an auto's ignition system were taken by a mechanically - minded thief Saturday while the car was parked virtually in the heart of the downtown area, the owner complained to police.

Clarence Carver, 1712 Holiday St., told police at 8:36 p. m. the generator and voltage regulator, valued at a total of $32, were removed from his 1958 model auto while it was parked on E. 6th St. near Broadway sometime between 2 and 2:30 a. m. Saturday.

Carver told police his son parked the auto early Saturday. When he started the auto to go home, he knew something was wrong, but proceeded, the owner said. In checking the auto later in the day, Carver said he discovered the loss of the generator and voltage regulator.

Maenwhile, John Freeman, 837½ Alton St., told police Sunday a kiddie car valued at $11.50 was stolen from the yard at his home sometime Saturday night.

Mildred Rose, 1320 Riverview St., told officers Saturday at 11:07 a. m. a vandal smeared tomatoes on the side of her auto sometime Friday night or early Saturday.

Scraps of leftover pie dough make good turnovers when the pastry is rolled, cut into squares and filled with deviled ham.

School Bonds Approved In 7 Ohio Areas

Seven other school districts, which like East Liverpool received interest - free state loans for building programs, already have passed bond issues to provide their share of the cost, Supt. Paul H. Blair said today.

The other seven among 14 granted the loans have not yet taken action, including East Liverpool where a special election will be held Sept. 15 on $3,380,000 bond issue for construction of a new high school and three elementary buildings.

The 14 school districts were the first to receive the loans from the $30 million provided for public schools out of a $250 million state bond issue approved last November.

Blair sadi he learned in conferring with State Department of Education officials that the bond issues were approved by percentages ranging from 59 to 83. A simple majority is required for passage. However, none of the bond issues is as large as the East Liverpool program.

The school districts where bond issues have been approved and the percentage of approval are:

Ridgeville, Lorain County, 75 per cent; Bethel - Tate, Clermont County, 62 per cent; Washington, Scioto County, 67 per cent; Aurora, Portage County, 59 per cent; Sheffield Lake, Lorain County, 59 per cent; Madison, Butler County, 76 per cent, and Jefferson, Montgomery County, 83 per cent.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing this letter on my honeymoon. Ev and I were married yesterday afternoon. We checked into this motel after a beautiful church wedding. Ev looked around the room for the TV. He didn't see one so he went out to the room clerk and asked where the TV was.

The clerk told him many of the TV sets were being repaired and he was sorry there was a shortage.

Ev said, "You advertise a TV set in every room and I want one." The room clerk replied, "I figured honeymooners would miss TV less than other folks but maybe I was wrong in your case."

Ev reached over to hit him and one of the bellboys pulled Ev away. I pleaded with Ev to come to the room so I could talk to him. He said, "No, I'm going to sit in the lobby until I get that TV set." Ann, he sat there until 3:30 a.m. and I cried all night.

This morning Ev started in with the room clerk again and I'm writing this letter because I don't know what to do or where to turn. Please wire your advice.—UNTOUCHED BRIDE.

Dear Bride: As I said in my telegram, if Ev is still sitting in the lobby when this message arrives, take a train, plane or bus—and go home. The groom needs professional help. He used the TV as an excuse to avoid the role of a husband.

If Ev refuses to get the help he needs, speak to your clergyman and lawyer about an annulment.

Widow In Dark

Dear Ann: I'm still in deep mourning but I must write this letter. Perhaps I can spare some other wife the grief I'm suffering now.

George and I were married 32 years. We had a good life together, we produced fine children and we were given lovely grandchildren.

George owned a successful business and made good investments. He paid all the bills and gave me a cash allowance every two weeks. If I needed more money he gave it to me. George never talked to me about finances and I never asked him any questions.

Two weeks ago George had a cerebral hemorrhage in his office. He was unconscious when they brought him to the hospital. He died three days later.

George's lawyer is a stranger to me. I must take his word for everything. George's will was 10 years old. For a smart man he left things in a terrible mess. He had stocks and bonds in vaults out of town, according to his former business partner, and now we are trying to find them.

So I'd like to say to you women, don't let your husband "protect" you as mine did. Sit down with him and be realistic. Ask him, "If you died tomorrow, would your affairs be in the shape you want them to be in?" I wish I had. — DAFFODIL.

Dear Daffodil: Reading your letter could be the most important thing thousands of women did today. Thank you for writing it.

Confidentially

TO INCENSED: You cannot insist that guests pay for damage done, accidentally, when they visit in your home. These people should have offered to replace the table and lamp. Has it occurred to you that perhaps you need new friends?

TO EMBATTLED ROMEO: Any man who lets his girl friend rearrange his bridgework the third time deserves it. Your notion that if she didn't love you so much she wouldn't get so mad is pure malarkey.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Authorities, who listed the death as a homicide, said she apparently was slain Thursday night. Honcell is wanted for questioning.

Term Opens Wednesday

1,036 Students Expected For Fairfield-Waterford

COLUMBIANA — Total enrollment of 1,036, a gain of 20 from last year's 1,016, is expected when the 1964-65 term begins Wednesday in the three buildings of the Fairfield - Waterford Local School District.

Teachers will report Tuesday for an all-day session, beginning with a general meeting at 8:30 a. m. at Crestview High School. In the afternoon, teachers will meet with building principals at Crestview, Fairfield and New Waterford Schools.

Kindergarten teachers also will meet for the first time Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Fairfield and New Waterford buildings to hear an explanation of the kindergarten registration program.

The kindergarten students will attend only one day during the first three days of the new term. Youngsters whose names begin with letters A through G will attend the first day, Wednesday, at both buildings. Those whose names begin with the letters H through N will attend Thursday and those whose names start with the letters O through Z will attend Friday.

All kindergarten students then will attend on Tuesday, Sept. 8. The method of beginning the sessions is an experiment in orientation.

The faculty of the three schools totals 42, with seven on a part-time basis. The administrators include three building principals and Joe Driscoll, executive head. Twenty-seven noncertified employes also will be at work in the cafeteria and in custodial and transportation duties.

There will be 11 new teachers in the three schools this year. Robert Carter of Summitville will be principal at Fairfield Junior High, replacing Alton Dobson.

The district again will use 11 bus drivers. Routes and times will be the same as last year.

School secretaries are: Mrs. Elverda Baughman, Crestview; Mrs. Janet Keslar, Fairfield, and Mrs. Martha Hawkins, New Waterford. Mrs. Esther Chesney again will be the school nurse.

Lunch will be served the first day of school for 25 cents.

Auto Ignition Parts Stolen

Two vital parts of an auto's ignition system were taken by a mechanically-minded thief Saturday while the car was parked virtually in the heart of the downtown area, the owner complained to police.

Clarence Carver, 1712 Holiday St., told police at 8:36 p. m. the generator and voltage regulator, valued at a total of $32, were removed from his 1958 model auto while it was parked on E. 6th St. near Broadway sometime between 2 and 2:30 a. m. Saturday.

Carver told police his son parked the auto early Saturday. When he started the auto to go home, he knew something was wrong, but proceeded, the owner said. In checking the auto later in the day, Carver said he discovered the loss of the generator and voltage regulator.

Maenwhile, John Freeman, 837½ Alton St., told police Sunday a kiddie car valued at $11.50 was stolen from the yard at his home sometime Saturday night.

Mildred Rose, 1320 Riverview St., told officers Saturday at 11:07 a. m. a vandal smeared tomatoes on the side of her auto sometime Friday night or early Saturday.

School Bonds Approved In 7 Ohio Areas

Seven other school districts, which like East Liverpool received interest-free state loans for building programs, already have passed bond issues to provide their share of the cost, Supt. Paul H. Blair said today.

The other seven among 14 granted the loans have not yet taken action, including East Liverpool where a special election will be held Sept. 15 on $3,380,000 bond issue for construction of a new high school and three elementary buildings.

The 14 school districts were the first to receive the loans from the $30 million provided for public schools out of a $250 million state bond issue approved last November.

Blair sadi he learned in conferring with State Department of Education officials that the bond issues were approved by percentages ranging from 59 to 83. A simple majority is required for passage. However, none of the bond issues is as large as the East Liverpool program.

The school districts where bond issues have been approved and the percentage of approval are:

Ridgeville, Lorain County, 75 per cent; Bethel - Tate, Clermont County, 62 per cent; Washington, Scioto County, 67 per cent; Aurora, Portage County, 59 per cent; Sheffield Lake, Lorain County, 59 per cent; Madison, Butler County, 76 per cent, and Jefferson, Montgomery County, 83 per cent.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Bing Spoils Image

Members of the elite movie colony raised a snobbish eyebrow last year when Danny Kaye announced he would do a weekly TV series. This year Bing Crosby is taking the plunge via one of those father-knows-best situation comedies. The movies group still is gasping in shocked amazement.

Hal Humphrey

Both Kaye and Crosby were just as shocked a few years ago when anyone had the temerity to ask if they someday might do a weekly TV series.

ALL THAT'S NEEDED now is for Cary Grant and Doris Day to open the 1965-66 TV season in a family comedy called "Make Room for Doris and Cary." Then the last vestige of Hollywood's so-called glamour will disappear for lack of support.

The horrible truth is that an entertainer or actor can't work steadily today unless he's on TV with a series.

Movie production continues to be a small puddle on the show business landscape. The stage, except for summer theater, is drying up. Only about five night clubs outside of Las Vegas pay salaries big enough to cover the performer's expenses.

"I guess, " says Bing, "I've given out half a dozen answers to the question of why I'm doing this. I think the truth is I've got to stay in the business some way, but I can't play leading men in the movies at my age, and I don't want to play granddaddies."

IN A WEEKLY SERIES with a TV wife (Beverly Garland) and two daughters, 11 (Diane Sherry) and 15 (Darol Faylen) the 60-year-old Bing still can be the lead.

The rub is that Bing hasn't worked this hard since he was Harry Lillis Crosby and one-third of the Rhythm Boys, who sang and traveled with Paul Whiteman's band from 1926 to 1929.

Producer Steven Gethers has Bing shooting each episode of "The Bing Crosby Show" in three days. After five shows, Bing is given a two-week respite.

He insists (after 10 episodes) that the schedule isn't so tough, but he has 22 more half-hour shows to film. For a man who likes to fish, play golf and lean back shooting the breeze with old friends, this is like six months of hard labor on a road gang.

BING USED to kid Bob Hope for the work pace he kept and say, "Brother, that ain't for me!" Long-time citizens of Hollywood remember that Bing couldn't even be pulled out of the house to attend a movie premiere. When Bing did go out he dressed so casually he set a vogue for sweatshirts.

This devil-may-care image Bing spent so long acquiring will be wiped out almost as soon as his weekly comedy series begins next month on ABC-TV.

Maybe that image began getting tarnished in 1957 after Bing married Kathryn Grant, the young actress and former beauty contest winner. He became a new father, trimmed the belt line and generally began acting very non-Bingish.

WHEN YOUR WIFE is ambitious enough to raise three small offspring, go to school and become a graduate nurse, then hit the road with a touring company, it behooves the master of this household to look a little alive, too.

It's possible Bing has decided he's "got to stay in the business" to keep up with the rest of his new family. Weekly TV is the hard way, but at 60 they won't cast you as a lover unless you're Cary Grant. Bing was born the same year as Cary, but didn't work as hard at keeping fit.

Another famous singer who's been a little careless in that department is Frank Sinatra. If Cary and Doris Day don't make the TV scene next season, maybe it will be Frank and Shirley MacLaine ("Make Room for Frankie and Shirley").

Man's Flaming Beard Quells Parade Plans

He was driving with his wife and son when their car stalled. Trying to start the vehicle, Boese poured gasoline into the carburetor. Swoosh! The gas flamed, setting fire to Boese's whiskers.

Two pedestrians threw him to the ground and beat out the flames. Boese spent the day of the parade in the hospital.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Chubby Teenager Faces A Challenge

It's no fun to be fat. . .and worse when you are young, this teenager laments.

"I'm a 15-year-old fatty. I'm 5' tall and weigh 125 pounds. I would just love to lose the extra weight, but I keep giving up. I would love it if my mother would help, but she says I am on my own. She keeps buying fattening things and expects me to watch everyone eat them. It's awful!

Ida Jean Kain

"Will you please tell me what to do to help me lose?" Yes. Tonight at dinner put a salad plate at your place instead of a dinner plate. Take one serving of everything your mother has planned for the meal. One serving only. In the living room, stash away a juicy red apple. At the finish of the main course, ask to be excused. Tell yourself that an apple a day, in place of a rich dessert, will take those excess pounds away. Just the though is freeing!

IN YOUR three meals, make sure to include adequate amounts of the foods which furnish the growing - taller nutrients. A height of 5 feet at 15 is on the short side. Added inches will not only help you to outgrow the fat, but will make it easier for you to control your weight for all the years to come. On the average, a girl's growth is pretty well fixed at 16. . . so get with those nutrients that can help you.

What are the "growing - taller" foods? Milk heads the list. Ask your mother if she will order skim milk for you. If not, buy powdered skim milk and stir up your own. Make sure to have a quart of skim milk a day. If you don't like the powdered variety at first, make it a bit richer. Soon you'll enjoy it. Milk furnishes protein and calcium, the very nutrients needed for growth.

Have daily: An egg; a generous serving of lean meat, or fish, or chicken; a variety of vegetables, stressing green leafy and yellow; fruits, including an orange or grapefruit, or the juice; whole grain cereals and whole grain or enriched bread, with spread. This list insures adequate protein, minerals and vitamins.

Eat all vegetables, and ask your mother to serve liver once or twice a week. Liver furnishes iron and the vitamins so important to growth, plus excellent quality protein.

BE SURE to eat breakfast—citrus fruit or juice, an egg, or a whole grain cereal, such as oatmeal, with milk, plus a slice of whole grain toast, lightly buttered. Skip the sweet rolls, pancakes, jams or jellies. . .they are the growing - wider foods.

After school eat an apple and have a glass of skim milk. No sweets. Get plenty of outdoor exercise, for the pulling of muscles on bones helps bones grow. Go in for gym at school — with enthusiasm.

7 Motorists Forfeit Bond

LISBON — Seven motorists cited by the State Highway Patrol forfeited appearance bonds in County Judge James L. MacDonald's court Friday.

A Minerva area motorist was given a suspended $5 fine after pleading guilty to failing to obey a stop sign.

But Wilbur G. Hirst, 62, R.D. 2 had to pay $6.50 costs.

Larry O. Cechura, 23, of Salineville was fined $5 and costs for no muffler; Leslie P. Kent, 18, of Sebring, $5 and costs for failing to stop within the assured clear distance, and Jerrilyn A. Goodwin, 18, of Boardman, $5 and costs for driving left of center.

Forfeiting were Harry C. Till, 35, of Malvern, Pa., $15 for ignoring a stop light; Ray A. David, 36, of Barberton, David L. Jennings, 44, of Cleveland, James C. McBane, 24, of Bergholz, Leo D. Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Bing Spoils Image

Members of the elite movie colony raised a snobbish eyebrow last year when Danny Kaye announced he would do a weekly TV series. This year Bing Crosby is taking the plunge via one of those father-knows-best situation comedies. The movies group still is gasping in shocked amazement.

Hal Humphrey

Both Kaye and Crosby were just as shocked a few years ago when anyone had the temerity to ask if they someday might do a weekly TV series.

ALL THAT'S NEEDED now is for Cary Grant and Doris Day to open the 1965-66 TV season in a family comedy called "Make Room for Doris and Cary." Then the last vestige of Hollywood's so-called glamour will disappear for lack of support.

The horrible truth is that an entertainer or actor can't work steadily today unless he's on TV with a series.

Movie production continues to be a small puddle on the show business landscape. The stage, except for summer theater, is drying up. Only about five night clubs outside of Las Vegas pay salaries big enough to cover the performer's expenses.

"I guess, " says Bing, "I've given out half a dozen answers to the question of why I'm doing this. I think the truth is I've got to stay in the business some way, but I can't play leading men in the movies at my age, and I don't want to play granddaddies."

IN A WEEKLY SERIES with a TV wife (Beverly Garland) and two daughters, 11 (Diane Sherry) and 15 (Darol Faylen) the 60-year-old Bing still can be the lead.

The rub is that Bing hasn't worked this hard since he was Harry Lillis Crosby and one-third of the Rhythm Boys, who sang and traveled with Paul Whiteman's band from 1926 to 1929.

Producer Steven Gethers has Bing shooting each episode of "The Bing Crosby Show" in three days. After five shows, Bing is given a two-week respite.

He insists (after 10 episodes) that the schedule isn't so tough, but he has 22 more half-hour shows to film. For a man who likes to fish, play golf and lean back shooting the breeze with old friends, this is like six months of hard labor on a road gang.

BING USED to kid Bob Hope for the work pace he kept and say, "Brother, that ain't for me!" Long-time citizens of Hollywood remember that Bing couldn't even be pulled out of the house to attend a movie premiere. When Bing did go out he dressed so casually he set a vogue for sweatshirts.

This devil-may-care image Bing spent so long acquiring will be wiped out almost as soon as his weekly comedy series begins next month on ABC-TV.

Maybe that image began getting tarnished in 1957 after Bing married Kathryn Grant, the young actress and former beauty contest winner. He became a new father, trimmed the belt line and generally began acting very non-Bingish.

WHEN YOUR WIFE is ambitious enough to raise three small offspring, go to school and become a graduate nurse, then hit the road with a touring company, it behooves the master of this household to look a little alive, too.

It's possible Bing has decided he's "got to stay in the business" to keep up with the rest of his new family. Weekly TV is the hard way, but at 60 they won't cast you as a lover unless you're Cary Grant. Bing was born the same year as Cary, but didn't work as hard at keeping fit.

Another famous singer who's been a little careless in that department is Frank Sinatra. If Cary and Doris Day don't make the TV scene next season, maybe it will be Frank and Shirley MacLaine ("Make Room for Frankie and Shirley").

Man's Flaming Beard Quells Parade Plans

He was driving with his wife and son when their car stalled. Trying to start the vehicle, Boese poured gasoline into the carburetor. Swoosh! The gas flamed, setting fire to Boese's whiskers.

Two pedestrians threw him to the ground and beat out the flames. Boese spent the day of the parade in the hospital.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Chubby Teenager Faces A Challenge

It's no fun to be fat. . .and worse when you are young, this teenager laments.

"I'm a 15-year-old fatty. I'm 5' tall and weigh 125 pounds. I would just love to lose the extra weight, but I keep giving up. I would love it if my mother would help, but she says I am on my own. She keeps buying fattening things and expects me to watch everyone eat them. It's awful!

Ida Jean Kain

"Will you please tell me what to do to help me lose?" Yes. Tonight at dinner put a salad plate at your place instead of a dinner plate. Take one serving of everything your mother has planned for the meal. One serving only. In the living room, stash away a juicy red apple. At the finish of the main course, ask to be excused. Tell yourself that an apple a day, in place of a rich dessert, will take those excess pounds away. Just the though is freeing!

IN YOUR three meals, make sure to include adequate amounts of the foods which furnish the growing - taller nutrients. A height of 5 feet at 15 is on the short side. Added inches will not only help you to outgrow the fat, but will make it easier for you to control your weight for all the years to come. On the average, a girl's growth is pretty well fixed at 16. . . so get with those nutrients that can help you.

What are the "growing - taller" foods? Milk heads the list. Ask your mother if she will order skim milk for you. If not, buy powdered skim milk and stir up your own. Make sure to have a quart of skim milk a day. If you don't like the powdered variety at first, make it a bit richer. Soon you'll enjoy it. Milk furnishes protein and calcium, the very nutrients needed for growth.

Have daily: An egg; a generous serving of lean meat, or fish, or chicken; a variety of vegetables, stressing green leafy and yellow; fruits, including an orange or grapefruit, or the juice; whole grain cereals and whole grain or enriched bread, with spread. This list insures adequate protein, minerals and vitamins.

Eat all vegetables, and ask your mother to serve liver once or twice a week. Liver furnishes iron and the vitamins so important to growth, plus excellent quality protein.

BE SURE to eat breakfast—citrus fruit or juice, an egg, or a whole grain cereal, such as oatmeal, with milk, plus a slice of whole grain toast, lightly buttered. Skip the sweet rolls, pancakes, jams or jellies. . .they are the growing - wider foods.

After school eat an apple and have a glass of skim milk. No sweets. Get plenty of outdoor exercise, for the pulling of muscles on bones helps bones grow. Go in for gym at school — with enthusiasm.

Johnson Views Presented Again On Important Issues

Speeches, Other Sources Aired

color have worked to build a nation of widening opportunities. Now our generation of Americans has been called on to continue the unending search for justice within our borders."

On July 28, 1964, in a speech to a group of educators at the White House, Johnson said:

"We must and shall maintain respect for law and order in America, but democracy never has and never will solve its problems at the end of a billy club. Our land is young, our strength is great, our course is far from run, yet there is discontent among our people reaching through our whole society."

CUBA

In a speech March 24, 1964, to the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Conference in Washington, Johnson departed from his prepared text to say this about Cuba:

"The water problem that disturbed us at Guantanamo was solved not by a battalion of Marines bayoneting their way in to turn on the water, but we sent a single admiral over to cut it off. I can say to you that our base is self-sufficient. By lean readiness, a source of danger and disagreement has been removed."

On April 20, 1964, speaking to the annual meeting of The Associated Press in New York, he had this to say about Cuba:

"The use of Cuba as a base for subversion and terror is an obstacle to our hopes for the hemisphere. Our first task must be, as it has been to isolate Cuba from the inter-American system, frustrate its efforts to destroy free governments, and expose for all to see the ugliness of communism. That policy is working. The problems of this hemisphere would be far more serious if Castro sat in the councils of the OAS, disrupting debate and blocking decision—if he had open channels of trade and communications along which subversion and terror could flow—if his economy had been a successful model rather than a dismal warning. The effectiveness of our policy is more than a matter of trade statistics. It has increased awareness of difference and danger, revealed the brutal nature of the Cuban regime, lessened opportunities for subversion, reduced the number of Castro's followers, and drained the resources of our adversaries."

DEFENSE

In a Senate speech, July 12, 1950, speaking of the Korean War which had just broken out, Johnson said:

"There is no cheap way out.

"There is, in fact, no way out short of total victory.

"We cannot compromise; we cannot escape; we cannot continue to retreat.

"For too long, we have been more interested in making our books balance than in making our strength balance against the military power of communism."

In an interview in U.S. News & World Report in April 1952, Johnson complained again about economy efforts hurting defense. He said:

"But in the field of aircraft production, I think it is fair to say we have lost almost three years as a result of the 1948 decision to impound funds that Congress appropriated to keep the plants tooled up and productive.

"There's enough blame to go around. The decision to impound funds was a mistake. The decision by Congress a year later not to carry through on the issue was another mistake, and the failure of the country to rise up and insist that Congress take the leadership was still another."

In a Senate speech Jan. 23, 1958, Johnson said:

"There can be no adequate defense for the United States except in a reservoir of trained and educated minds.

"Even more important, however, is the fact that there can be no security for the United States or any other country in weapons. The most accurate and destructive missile yet conceived can bring us nothing but stalemate.

"We prefer a stalemate to defeat and slavery. Let there be no mistake about that."

In a speech April 20, 1964, to the annual meeting of The Associated Press in New York, he said:

"Since Korea we have labored to build a military strength of unmatched might. We have succeeded. If the threat of war has lessened, it is largely because our opponents realize attack would bring destruction. This effort has been costly. But the costs of weakness are far greater than the costs of strength, and the payment was far more painful. That is why, in the last three years, your government has strengthened the whole range of America's defenses — increasing defense spending by $17 billion."

DISARMAMENT

In a speech June 8, 1957, to the annual conference of the United Jewish Appeal in New York, Johnson said:

"The intercontinental ballistic missile with a hydrogen warhead is just over the horizon. It is no longer just the disorderly dream of some science-fiction writer.

"We must assume that our country will have no monopoly on this weapon. The Soviets have not matched our achievements in democracy and prosperity; but they have kept pace with us in building the tools of destruction.

"We must initiate action on five objectives, each contributing to our crusade for disarmament:

"1. Controlled reduction of military forces by all countries.

"2. A start on a mutual 'open skies,' foolproof inspection system.

"3. A frank and open search for a method of suspending tests of the biggest nuclear weapons, under airtight conditions which give full protection against violations.

"4. A reduction of everyone's stockpile of nuclear weapons and means for delivery under copper-riveted methods of mutual inspection.

"5. And this is the key to ultimate hope: A worldwide agreement — backed by absolute safeguards — that no nation will make any new fissionable materials for weapons purposes — neither the three present nuclear powers nor those who may soon have the capacity."

"Agreement on the control and reduction and the ultimate abolition of weapons and war is not impossible as it seemed for so many years. We now have a limited nuclear test ban treaty. We now have an emergency communication link, a hot line between Washington and Moscow. We now have an agreement in the United Nations to keep bombs out of outer space.

"These are all small steps, but they go in the right direction, the direction of security and sanity and peace. Now we must go further."

ECONOMY AND TAXES

On March 6, 1958, discussing a Democratic proposal to speed up public works to ease the recession, Johnson told the Senate:

"Congress has granted complete authority and ample funds for a wide range of construction projects, both civil and military. These funds at the present time are being spent on the basis of a normal economy.

"But there is nothing normal about an economy which cannot find jobs for five million willing workers. There is nothing normal about a situation in which we are losing the productive capacity of five million men and women."

In an April 29, 1959, speech before the U.S. chamber of Commerce in Washington, he said:

"I believe that any year is one in which the government should strive to put its book in balance. I do not believe this is a policy which should be trotted out of the closet only when a presidential election is in the offing."

On April 28, 1964, speaking to a White House dinner for business leaders, Johnson said:

"It is too early to make firm promises on further tax cuts. But if this one is a success—as I have every reason to believe it will be—in building production, creating jobs, raising profits, and generating revenues to balance the budget, then I see another tax cut a few years down the road.

"But we can move to this second round of tax reduction only if we behave ourselves this year. We can't let our costs creep up—and we can't let our prices creep up. This is where the decisions of leaders in business and leaders in labor are crucial.

"In the case of wages, we need to match the good record of the past three years and keep the increases in line with the average productivity gain for the economy as a whole. And average prices have to be kept stable. This will mean a good increase in real earnings for labor. And as your sales continue to rise, it will mean a good increase in profits for you."

EDUCATION

In a speech before the United Savings & Loan League Convention in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 11, 1959, he said the next struggle between the United States and the Soviet Union "is going to be a battle of brains instead of brawn." Johnson said Americans are losing too much talent because students are unable to complete more than a high school education.

Urging the savings and loan officials to support his plan for FHA-type loans to college students, he said, "Our students are just as good security as our houses. If they can be given assistance locally, that's fine. If the states can do it, that's fine. If they can't, then it is logical for Congress to act."

FOREIGN AID

In a luncheon speech at Tyler, Tex., Aug. 21, 1953, Johnson said unless the situation changes and "some nations put their houses in order, I have voted for my last foreign aid bill. We will have to find a stopping point on foreign aid spending before we bleed ourselves white."

In his message to Congress on foreign aid March 18, 1964, President Johnson said:

"To those nations which do commit themselves to progress under freedom, help from us and from others can provide the margin of difference between failures and success.

"We will be laying up a harvest of woe for us and our children if we shrink from the task of grappling in the world community with poverty and ignorance.

"These are the grim recruiting sergeants of communism.

"They flourish wherever we falter. If we default on our obligations, communism will expand its ambitions."

FOREIGN POLICY

In a speech Oct. 23, 1952, in Houston, Tex., Johnson said:

"If anywhere in the world — by any means, open or concealed — communism trespasses upon the soil of the free world, we should unleash all the power at our command upon the vitals of the Soviet Union."

In a May 25, 1959, speech to the graduate class at Southwest Texas State College, San Marcos, Johnson said:

"We can no longer afford the luxury of a smug and self-assured foreign policy. We can no longer go out into the world with a spray-gun in front of us, an electric refrigerator and bathtub behind us, and a native interpreter between us and the people to whom we carry the message of freedom.

"American must put on its working clothes, roll up its sleeves and walk down the highway of the world alongside the other peoples of the earth who aspire to rise above the status of their birth."

In his first speech before a joint session of Congress as President, Nov. 27, 1963, Johnson said:

"In this age when there can be no losers in peace and no victors in war, we must recognize the obligation to match national strength with national restraint. We must be prepared at one and the same time for both the confrontation of power and the limitation of power. We must be ready to defend the national interest and to negotiate the common interest. This is the path that we shall continue to pursue."

In a television interview, March 15, 1964, he said:

"As long as we are living in a world with 120 nations we have got to realize that we have got 120 foreign policies. I realize that we have discouraging incidents from time to time, and we have problems, and because we try to help with those problems, sometimes the role of the peacemaker is not a very happy one. And so, for that reason, we have to do things that we don't want to do sometimes, and are rather irritating — and sometimes we are abused because we do them, and sometimes we are misunderstood. But if the final result is good, then our action is justified."

LABOR

On June 17, 1958, commenting on legislation introduced following the revelations of the Senate rackets committee, Johnson told the Senate:

"This legislation was needed from many standpoints. First, it was necessary to protect the victims of crooks and racketeers. Second, it was necessary to help honorable union leaders who found that the situation was beyond control.

At a news conference April 11, 1964, after the announcement that unions and the railroads would continue to negotiate their dispute rather than having a nationwise strike, Johnson said:

"It is fundamental to our whole idea of civilized society that we settle disputes by a meeting of the minds, by a free interchange of conflicting ideas, by responsible acceptance of the best possible solution. This is what happens at the collective bargaining table.

"There is in any large-scale dispute a question of public interest. This interest must always be overriding. But we must never delude ourselves that we are serving the public interest if at any time we suppress the legitimate rights of the conflicting parties."

NATO

On April 6, 1961, Vice President Johnson spoke in Paris on the 10th anniversary of the establishment of North Atlantic Treaty Organization headquarters. He said:

"No single nation has enough influence and power to maintain this spacious environment of freedom. The coalition of the peoples and nations of Western Europe and North American is indispensable to this end. Without their power—the resultant of population, resources, technology, and will—it cannot be preserved."

On April 4, 1964, in response to a news conference question whether the actions of French President Charles de Gaulle were splitting the Western alliance, Johnson said:

"No I do not believe that the Western alliance is being split. I think we have differences in the alliance from time to time between countries and between spokesmen and leaders of those countries, just as we have differences among ourselves from time to time. But on the serious problems, as I have said before, when the chips are down, whether it is Berlin, whether it is Cuba, or what not, we think that the alliance and the family will all be together. We will effectively defend freedom wherever it is challenged."

NUCLEAR

In a news conference on April 23, 1964, Johnson said:

"I am glad to report that our decision to cut back on the production of unneeded nuclear materials, and the parallel announcements of Chairman Khrushchev and Prime Minister Douglas-Home have been warmly greeted throughout the world and by responsible opinion in this country. We have made it clear that these announcements do not constitute an international agreement or contract of any sort. This is a policy of restraint by mutual example."

On July 24, 1964, in response to a news conference question about Sen. Barry Goldwater's proposal to give the NATO commander more discretion over the use of tactical nuclear weapons, Johnson said:

"The control of the nuclear weapons is one of the most solemn responsibilities of the President. The man who is president can never get away from that responsibility and can never forget it. The American people rely on his good judgment. They want that authorty vested in a civilian. They do not expect to abandon this duty to military men in the field, and I don't think that they have ever seriously considered that since the Founding Fathers drafted our Constitution.

"I believe that the final responsibility for all decisions on nuclear weapons must rest with the civilian head of this government, the President of the United States, and I think and reiterate that I believe that is the way the American people want it."

POVERTY

In a letter to Sargent Shriver directing him to draw up the administration's war on poverty, Feb. 11, 1964, Johnson said:

"The problem of poverty is a problem for all of us. It is so widespread that it is a federal problem; but it is not just a federal matter. It is also, and perhaps fundamentally, a problem for each citizen, for each business and labor union, each charity and foundation, our churches and our clubs. All of these must be brought together in a total national drive for total national progress against the blight of poverty."

In an April 27 speech to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, he said:

"In this political democracy, what you have and what you own and what you acquire is not secure when there are men that are idle in their homes and there are young people adrift in the streets, and when there are thousands that are out of school and millions that are out of work, and the aged are lying embittered in their beds."

POLL TAX

In a Senate speech, March 9, 1949, discussing a civil rights bill proposed by President Truman, Sen. Johnson said:

"I do not believe in the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting. I have advocated, and I do advocate, the repeal of the constitutional provision of Texas which makes the payment of a poll tax necessary before a citizen can vote.

"The framers of the Constitution were plain, specific and unambiguous in providing that each state should have the right to prescribe the qualifications of its electors. For that reason, and for that reason alone, I believe that the proposed antipoll tax measure is wholly unconstitutional and violates the rights of the states guaranteed by Section 2 of Article I of the Constitution."

Fifteen years later, as President, he said, in a Jan. 23, 1964, message on final ratification of a constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting:

"The abolishment of the poll tax as a condition to voting in federal elections is the forward step of a modern society. It is a verification of people's rights which are rooted so deeply in the mainstream of this nation's history. As majority leader of the Senate, I personally urged the banishment of bars to voting. This triumph, now, of liberty over restriction is a grateful and proud moment for me."

POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY

In an article in the winter, 1958, issue of the Texas Quarterly, Johnson outlined his political philosophy this way:

"I am a free man, an American, a U.S. senator, and a Democrat, in that order.

"I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a consumer, a parent, a voter, and not as young as I used to be nor as old as I expect to be—and I am all these things in no fixed order.

"I am unaware of any descriptive word in the second paragraph which qualifies, modifies, amends, or is related by hyphenation to the terms listed in the first paragraph. In consequence, I am not able — nor even the least interested in trying — to define my political philosophy by the choice of a one-word or two-word label. This may be against the tide, but, if so, the choice is deliberate.

"This leads to a listing of the tenents of my own beliefs, the specific tenents of my own philosophy. I would set them down this way:

"First, I believe every American has something to say and, under our system, a right to an audience.

"Second, I believe there is always a national answer to each national problem, and, believing this, I do not believe there are necessarily two sides to every question.

"Third, I regard achievement of the full potential of our resources — physical, human and otherwise — to be the highest purpose of governmental policies next to the protection of those rights we regard as inalienable.

"Fourth, I regard waste as the continuing enemy of our society and the prevent of waste — waste of resources, waste of lives, or waste of opportunity — to be the most dynamic of the responsibilities of our government.'

In a news conference, Feb. 1, 1964, asked about Gen. de Gaulle's proposal to neutralize Indochina, Johnson said:

"If we could have a neutralization of both North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam, I am sure that would be considered sympathetically. But I see no indication of that at the moment."

In a speech Feb. 21, 1964, at the University of California at Los Angeles, Johnson said:

"The contest in which South Viet Nam is now engaged in first and foremost a contest for themselves. But those engaged in external direction and supply would do well to remember that this type of aggression is a deeply dangerous game."

In a June 3, 1964, news conference, he said:

"It may be helpful to outline four basic themes that govern our policy in South Asia.

"First, America keeps her word.

"Second, the issue is the future of Southeast Asia as a whole.

"Third, our purpose is peace.

In a news conference July 24, 1964, Johnson was asked about proposals for a 14-nation conference on Southeast Asia. He said:

"But we do not believe in a conference called to ratify terror, so our policy is unchanged. For 10 years, and in three different administrations, the United States has been committed to the freedom and the independence of South Viet Nam in helping others to help themselves.

"In those 10 years we have taken whatever actions were necessary, spending men and supplies for different specific purposes at different times. We shall stick to that policy and we shall contine our effort to make it even more effective."

SPACE

On Jan. 7, 1958, speaking to the Democratic Senate conference after the launching of the first Soviet Sputnik the previous fall, Johnson said:

"Since Aug. 30, when the first session of this Congress adjourned, the human race itself—without regard to flags or philosophy—has multiplied its capabilities to infinity.

"In essence, the Soviet has appraised control of space as a goal of such consequence that achievement of such control has been made a first aim of national policy. We, on the other hand —or so the evidence suggests—regarded other goals and aims as having a higher imperative.

"The testimony of the scientists is this:

"Control of space means control of the world, far more certainly, far more totally, than any control that has ever or could ever be achieved by weapons, or by troops of occupation.

"If, out in space, there is the ultimate position—from which total control of the earth may be exercised—then our national goal and the goal of all free men must be to win and hold that position."

On Nov. 17, 1958, speaking to the first United Nations Committee on Outer Space in New York, Johnson said:

"It is the American vision, I believe, that out of this fresh start for humankind which space affords, many may at last free himself of the waste of guarding himself against his ignorance of his neighbors.

"Barriers between us will fall as our sights rise to space.

"Secrecy will cease to be. Man will come to understand his fellow man—and himself—as he has never been able to do. In the infinity of space adventure, man can find growing richness of mind, or spirit, and of liberty."

Bringing Up Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Children Should Enjoy Reading

A child may not have opened a book during his long summer vacation, or even read for pleasure from any other printed matter except, perhaps, a few comic books or other pictured pages.

Dr. Garry Myers

This child may be eight, 14 or 20 years of age. During all his school life, he may rarely have read for pleasure or read at all from any source except his assigned school work. He may have spent much of his leisure time at home viewing TV programs. He may not live in a reading family.

Of course, there are some notable exceptions. A small number of children and youths read a great deal for pleasure this summer, thanks to the stimulation of great teachers and librarians and parents. Most of these children will keep on reading for pleasure during the next school year—and for the rest of their lives, perhaps. More often than not, these children belong to a reading family, where everybody reads a great deal.

THE SUMMER is ending. There is no sense in wasting hours of remorse over the fact that your child has read little or nothing during vacation. Turn over a new leaf as school begins, especially with your child in the grades. Budget your time, half an hour or more a day, so you can read to or with this child, or read silently to yourself while he is reading.

Until your youngster in the primary grades has learned to read well enough to read for pleasure, read aloud to him. Find interesting, easy reading matter for him to enjoy, other than his school readers. If there is a younger child in the family, encourage this reader to read aloud to the younger child for his amusement.

There is no better way for an early or poor reader to improve his reading skills. Set a good example by reading aloud yourself to the pre-school child, beginning before he is two or three years old.

Rarely will your child in the primary grades have assigned homework. But as soon as he learns to read, stimulate him to read from an interesting easy source other than his school books. Even require him, if necessary, to read for a brief period daily.

Encourage your child to read on through the elementary grades, to make it routine for him to read at least for half an hour a day. If he practices reading daily while in the grades, the chances are great that he will continue doing so in high school and college—perhaps all his life.

In order to carry out such a program, don't permit him to view TV without limitation. Regulate his viewing periods. Do all you can to stimulate him at reading other than his school assignments daily. Until you succeed in this, you can scarcely expect to get very far with your child's reading program.

SOME OF my readers may argue that, if a child is required to read in addition to his regular school assignments, he will, eventually, hate to read and will avoid doing so when he can. But such won't happen if there is no doubt in his mind, no arguments, and no ugly emotional explosions — if, instead, there is consistency and inevitability.

Those who say a child will come to hate to do what he has to do overlook the fact that regular, faithful practice results in greater skill. As the child reads more, he reads better and gains satisfaction from achievement.

My bulletins, "Celebrate Your Child's Successes," "Educating Your Child in Responsibility" and "Why Read to Baby and Young Child," may be secured by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of The Review.

Sgt. York Weak, Condition 'Grave'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The doughboy hero of World War I, Sgt. Alvin York, appeared to be losing ground today in his long battle with ill health.

His condition was listed in a series of medical reports from Veterans Hospital throughout the night as first critical, then grave and early today as very grave. The wife, son and daughter of the 76-year-old Medal of Honor winner were called to his bedside Sunday night.

York was brought to the hospial Saturday from his home at Pall Mall, Tenn., a town in the hills 140 miles northeast of here. He is suffering from an acute urinary infection.

This is the 11th time in two years that the old soldier has been hospitalized. He has been bed-ridden for many years.

Good Deeds Stopped– Scouts Warn Drivers

LONDON (AP) — The Boy Scouts in rural Surrey called a halt today to the daily good deed of two Cub Scouts.

City Retaken In Congo By Army Forces

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Premier Moise Tshombe says his army has recaptured the strategic city of Albertville in the eastern Congo, but Communist-backed rebels are reported on the march again toward Bukavu.

Tshombe personally announced the government victory over Radio Leopoldville Sunday. He said the rebels left behind their weapons in the flight from the city. There was no confirmation from other sources. Tshombe said the rebels still held Albertville Airport, 12 miles from the city.

A spearhead of white mercenaries approached the airport last Thursday but were driven off by machine-gun fire. Five were wounded.

Tshombe said his troops freed 28 Euroepans who had been held hostage. He gave no indication of the fate of about 100 other whites in the city.

Tshombe hopes the recapture of Albertville will give the demoralized Congolese army a psychological boost in its attempt to beat back rebel forces in the northeast Congo. He recently began recruiting white mercenaries, including some veterans of his Katanga secession, after the Congolese army suffered a string of reverses.

Albertville, the main Congolese city on the western shore of Lake Tanganyika, fell under control of rebel leader Gaston Soumialot in June.

Tshombe's latest announcement followed an army report that a strong rebel force was marching on Bukavu, on the eastern Congo border 225 miles north of Albertville.

IRS Slates New Plan To Pay Back Refunds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service promises something new next year in a perennial effort to make tax refunds to missing taxpayers.

About 275,000 refunds were returned to the government during the fiscal year which ended last June 30 because taxpayers moved without leaving forwarding addresses.

The IRS next year plans to use a new automatic data processing system to match the identity numbers on new returns with the numbers of persons who cannot be found.

Poland Plans Rallies For War Anniversary

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A series of antiwar rallies will be held on the 25th anniversary of Hitler's 1939 invasion of Poland.

Setting the stage for the rallies, Poland's largest circulation paper, the Evening Express, accused England and France of shirking obligations to Poland in 1939 by not quickly attacking Hitler's forces.

Johnson Views Presented Again On Important Issues

Speeches, Other Sources Aired

color have worked to build a nation of widening opportunities. Now our generation of Americans has been called on to continue the unending search for justice within our borders."

On July 28, 1964, in a speech to a group of educators at the White House, Johnson said:

"We must and shall maintain respect for law and order in America, but democracy never has and never will solve its problems at the end of a billy club. Our land is young, our strength is great, our course is far from run, yet there is discontent among our people reaching through our whole society."

CUBA

In a speech March 24, 1964, to the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Conference in Washington, Johnson departed from his prepared text to say this about Cuba:

"The water problem that disturbed us at Guantanamo was solved not by a battalion of Marines bayoneting their way in to turn on the water, but we sent a single admiral over to cut it off. I can say to you that our base is self-sufficient. By lean readiness, a source of danger and disagreement has been removed."

On April 20, 1964, speaking to the annual meeting of The Associated Press in New York, he had this to say about Cuba:

"The use of Cuba as a base for subversion and terror is an obstacle to our hopes for the hemisphere. Our first task must be, as it has been to isolate Cuba from the inter-American system, frustrate its efforts to destroy free governments, and expose for all to see the ugliness of communism. That policy is working. The problems of this hemisphere would be far more serious if Castro sat in the councils of the OAS, disrupting debate and blocking decision—if he had open channels of trade and communications along which subversion and terror could flow—if his economy had been a successful model rather than a dismal warning. The effectiveness of our policy is more than a matter of trade statistics. It has increased awareness of difference and danger, revealed the brutal nature of the Cuban regime, lessened opportunities for subversion, reduced the number of Castro's followers, and drained the resources of our adversaries."

DEFENSE

In a Senate speech, July 12, 1950, speaking of the Korean War which had just broken out, Johnson said:

"There is no cheap way out.

"There is, in fact, no way out short of total victory.

"We cannot compromise; we cannot escape; we cannot continue to retreat.

"For too long, we have been more interested in making our books balance than in making our strength balance against the military power of communism."

In an interview in U.S. News & World Report in April 1952, Johnson complained again about economy efforts hurting defense. He said:

"But in the field of aircraft production, I think it is fair to say we have lost almost three years as a result of the 1948 decision to impound funds that Congress appropriated to keep the plants tooled up and productive.

"There's enough blame to go around. The decision to impound funds was a mistake. The decision by Congress a year later not to carry through on the issue was another mistake, and the failure of the country to rise up and insist that Congress take the leadership was still another."

In a Senate speech Jan. 23, 1958, Johnson said:

"There can be no adequate defense for the United States except in a reservoir of trained and educated minds.

"Even more important, however, is the fact that there can be no security for the United States or any other country in weapons. The most accurate and destructive missile yet conceived can bring us nothing but stalemate.

"We prefer a stalemate to defeat and slavery. Let there be no mistake about that."

In a speech April 20, 1964, to the annual meeting of The Associated Press in New York, he said:

"Since Korea we have labored to build a military strength of unmatched might. We have succeeded. If the threat of war has lessened, it is largely because our opponents realize attack would bring destruction. This effort has been costly. But the costs of weakness are far greater than the costs of strength, and the payment was far more painful. That is why, in the last three years, your government has strengthened the whole range of America's defenses — increasing defense spending by $17 billion."

DISARMAMENT

In a speech June 8, 1957, to the annual conference of the United Jewish Appeal in New York, Johnson said:

"The intercontinental ballistic missile with a hydrogen warhead is just over the horizon. It is no longer just the disorderly dream of some science-fiction writer.

"We must assume that our country will have no monopoly on this weapon. The Soviets have not matched our achievements in democracy and prosperity; but they have kept pace with us in building the tools of destruction.

"We must initiate action on five objectives, each contributing to our crusade for disarmament:

"1. Controlled reduction of military forces by all countries.

"2. A start on a mutual 'open skies,' foolproof inspection system.

"3. A frank and open search for a method of suspending tests of the biggest nuclear weapons, under airtight conditions which give full protection against violations.

"4. A reduction of everyone's stockpile of nuclear weapons and means for delivery under copper-riveted methods of mutual inspection.

"5. And this is the key to ultimate hope: A worldwide agreement — backed by absolute safeguards — that no nation will make any new fissionable materials for weapons purposes — neither the three present nuclear powers nor those who may soon have the capacity."

"Agreement on the control and reduction and the ultimate abolition of weapons and war is not impossible as it seemed for so many years. We now have a limited nuclear test ban treaty. We now have an emergency communication link, a hot line between Washington and Moscow. We now have an agreement in the United Nations to keep bombs out of outer space.

"These are all small steps, but they go in the right direction, the direction of security and sanity and peace. Now we must go further."

ECONOMY AND TAXES

On March 6, 1958, discussing a Democratic proposal to speed up public works to ease the recession, Johnson told the Senate:

"Congress has granted complete authority and ample funds for a wide range of construction projects, both civil and military. These funds at the present time are being spent on the basis of a normal economy.

"But there is nothing normal about an economy which cannot find jobs for five million willing workers. There is nothing normal about a situation in which we are losing the productive capacity of five million men and women."

In an April 29, 1959, speech before the U.S. chamber of Commerce in Washington, he said:

"I believe that any year is one in which the government should strive to put its book in balance. I do not believe this is a policy which should be trotted out of the closet only when a presidential election is in the offing."

On April 28, 1964, speaking to a White House dinner for business leaders, Johnson said:

"It is too early to make firm promises on further tax cuts. But if this one is a success—as I have every reason to believe it will be—in building production, creating jobs, raising profits, and generating revenues to balance the budget, then I see another tax cut a few years down the road.

"But we can move to this second round of tax reduction only if we behave ourselves this year. We can't let our costs creep up—and we can't let our prices creep up. This is where the decisions of leaders in business and leaders in labor are crucial.

"In the case of wages, we need to match the good record of the past three years and keep the increases in line with the average productivity gain for the economy as a whole. And average prices have to be kept stable. This will mean a good increase in real earnings for labor. And as your sales continue to rise, it will mean a good increase in profits for you."

EDUCATION

In a speech before the United Savings & Loan League Convention in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 11, 1959, he said the next struggle between the United States and the Soviet Union "is going to be a battle of brains instead of brawn." Johnson said Americans are losing too much talent because students are unable to complete more than a high school education.

Urging the savings and loan officials to support his plan for FHA-type loans to college students, he said, "Our students are just as good security as our houses. If they can be given assistance locally, that's fine. If the states can do it, that's fine. If they can't, then it is logical for Congress to act."

FOREIGN AID

In a luncheon speech at Tyler, Tex., Aug. 21, 1953, Johnson said unless the situation changes and "some nations put their houses in order, I have voted for my last foreign aid bill. We will have to find a stopping point on foreign aid spending before we bleed ourselves white."

In his message to Congress on foreign aid March 18, 1964, President Johnson said:

"To those nations which do commit themselves to progress under freedom, help from us and from others can provide the margin of difference between failures and success.

"We will be laying up a harvest of woe for us and our children if we shrink from the task of grappling in the world community with poverty and ignorance.

"They flourish wherever we falter. If we default on our obligations, communism will expand its ambitions."

FOREIGN POLICY

In a speech Oct. 23, 1952, in Houston, Tex., Johnson said:

"If anywhere in the world — by any means, open or concealed — communism trespasses upon the soil of the free world, we should unleash all the power at our command upon the vitals of the Soviet Union."

In a May 25, 1959, speech to the graduate class at Southwest Texas State College, San Marcos, Johnson said:

"We can no longer afford the luxury of a smug and self-assured foreign policy. We can no longer go out into the world with a spray-gun in front of us, an electric refrigerator and bathtub behind us, and a native interpreter between us and the people to whom we carry the message of freedom.

"American must put on its working clothes, roll up its sleeves and walk down the highway of the world alongside the other peoples of the earth who aspire to rise above the status of their birth."

In his first speech before a joint session of Congress as President, Nov. 27, 1963, Johnson said:

"In this age when there can be no losers in peace and no victors in war, we must recognize the obligation to match national strength with national restraint. We must be prepared at one and the same time for both the confrontation of power and the limitation of power. We must be ready to defend the national interest and to negotiate the common interest. This is the path that we shall continue to pursue."

In a television interview, March 15, 1964, he said:

"As long as we are living in a world with 120 nations we have got to realize that we have got 120 foreign policies. I realize that we have discouraging incidents from time to time, and we have problems, and because we try to help with those problems, sometimes the role of the peacemaker is not a very happy one. And so, for that reason, we have to do things that we don't want to do sometimes, and are rather irritating — and sometimes we are abused because we do them, and sometimes we are misunderstood. But if the final result is good, then our action is justified."

LABOR

On June 17, 1958, commenting on legislation introduced following the revelations of the Senate rackets committee, Johnson told the Senate:

"This legislation was needed from many standpoints. First, it was necessary to protect the victims of crooks and racketeers. Second, it was necessary to help honorable union leaders who found that the situation was beyond control.

At a news conference April 11, 1964, after the announcement that unions and the railroads would continue to negotiate their dispute rather than having a nationwise strike, Johnson said:

"It is fundamental to our whole idea of civilized society that we settle disputes by a meeting of the minds, by a free interchange of conflicting ideas, by responsible acceptance of the best possible solution. This is what happens at the collective bargaining table.

"There is in any large-scale dispute a question of public interest. This interest must always be overriding. But we must never delude ourselves that we are serving the public interest if at any time we suppress the legitimate rights of the conflicting parties."

NATO

On April 6, 1961, Vice President Johnson spoke in Paris on the 10th anniversary of the establishment of North Atlantic Treaty Organization headquarters. He said:

"No single nation has enough influence and power to maintain this spacious environment of freedom. The coalition of the peoples and nations of Western Europe and North American is indispensable to this end. Without their power—the resultant of population, resources, technology, and will—it cannot be preserved."

On April 4, 1964, in response to a news conference question whether the actions of French President Charles de Gaulle were splitting the Western alliance, Johnson said:

"No I do not believe that the Western alliance is being split. I think we have differences in the alliance from time to time between countries and between spokesmen and leaders of those countries, just as we have differences among ourselves from time to time. But on the serious problems, as I have said before, when the chips are down, whether it is Berlin, whether it is Cuba, or what not, we think that the alliance and the family will all be together. We will effectively defend freedom wherever it is challenged."

NUCLEAR

In a news conference on April 23, 1964, Johnson said:

"I am glad to report that our decision to cut back on the production of unneeded nuclear materials, and the parallel announcements of Chairman Khrushchev and Prime Minister Douglas-Home have been warmly greeted throughout the world and by responsible opinion in this country. We have made it clear that these announcements do not constitute an international agreement or contract of any sort. This is a policy of restraint by mutual example."

On July 24, 1964, in response to a news conference question about Sen. Barry Goldwater's proposal to give the NATO commander more discretion over the use of tactical nuclear weapons, Johnson said:

"The control of the nuclear weapons is one of the most solemn responsibilities of the President. The man who is president can never get away from that responsibility and can never forget it. The American people rely on his good judgment. They want that authorty vested in a civilian. They do not expect to abandon this duty to military men in the field, and I don't think that they have ever seriously considered that since the Founding Fathers drafted our Constitution.

"I believe that the final responsibility for all decisions on nuclear weapons must rest with the civilian head of this government, the President of the United States, and I think and reiterate that I believe that is the way the American people want it."

POVERTY

In a letter to Sargent Shriver directing him to draw up the administration's war on poverty, Feb. 11, 1964, Johnson said:

"The problem of poverty is a problem for all of us. It is so widespread that it is a federal problem; but it is not just a federal matter. It is also, and perhaps fundamentally, a problem for each citizen, for each business and labor union, each charity and foundation, our churches and our clubs. All of these must be brought together in a total national drive for total national progress against the blight of poverty."

In an April 27 speech to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, he said:

"In this political democracy, what you have and what you own and what you acquire is not secure when there are men that are idle in their homes and there are young people adrift in the streets, and when there are thousands that are out of school and millions that are out of work, and the aged are lying embittered in their beds."

POLL TAX

In a Senate speech, March 9, 1949, discussing a civil rights bill proposed by President Truman, Sen. Johnson said:

"I do not believe in the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting. I have advocated, and I do advocate, the repeal of the constitutional provision of Texas which makes the payment of a poll tax necessary before a citizen can vote.

"The framers of the Constitution were plain, specific and unambiguous in providing that each state should have the right to prescribe the qualifications of its electors. For that reason, and for that reason alone, I believe that the proposed antipoll tax measure is wholly unconstitutional and violates the rights of the states guaranteed by Section 2 of Article I of the Constitution."

Fifteen years later, as President, he said, in a Jan. 23, 1964, message on final ratification of a constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting:

"The abolishment of the poll tax as a condition to voting in federal elections is the forward step of a modern society. It is a verification of people's rights which are rooted so deeply in the mainstream of this nation's history. As majority leader of the Senate, I personally urged the banishment of bars to voting. This triumph, now, of liberty over restriction is a grateful and proud moment for me."

POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY

In an article in the winter, 1958, issue of the Texas Quarterly, Johnson outlined his political philosophy this way:

"I am a free man, an American, a U.S. senator, and a Democrat, in that order.

"I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a consumer, a parent, a voter, and not as young as I used to be nor as old as I expect to be—and I am all these things in no fixed order.

"I am unaware of any descriptive word in the second paragraph which qualifies, modifies, amends, or is related by hyphenation to the terms listed in the first paragraph. In consequence, I am not able — nor even the least interested in trying — to define my political philosophy by the choice of a one-word or two-word label. This may be against the tide, but, if so, the choice is deliberate.

"This leads to a listing of the tenents of my own beliefs, the specific tenents of my own philosophy. I would set them down this way:

"First, I believe every American has something to say and, under our system, a right to an audience.

"Second, I believe there is always a national answer to each national problem, and, believing this, I do not believe there are necessarily two sides to every question.

"Third, I regard achievement of the full potential of our resources — physical, human and otherwise — to be the highest purpose of governmental policies next to the protection of those rights we regard as inalienable.

"Fourth, I regard waste as the continuing enemy of our society and the prevent of waste — waste of resources, waste of lives, or waste of opportunity — to be the most dynamic of the responsibilities of our government.'

In a news conference, Feb. 1, 1964, asked about Gen. de Gaulle's proposal to neutralize Indochina, Johnson said:

"If we could have a neutralization of both North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam, I am sure that would be considered sympathetically. But I see no indication of that at the moment."

In a speech Feb. 21, 1964, at the University of California at Los Angeles, Johnson said:

"The contest in which South Viet Nam is now engaged in first and foremost a contest for themselves. But those engaged in external direction and supply would do well to remember that this type of aggression is a deeply dangerous game."

In a June 3, 1964, news conference, he said:

"It may be helpful to outline four basic themes that govern our policy in South Asia.

"First, America keeps her word.

"Second, the issue is the future of Southeast Asia as a whole.

"Third, our purpose is peace.

In a news conference July 24, 1964, Johnson was asked about proposals for a 14-nation conference on Southeast Asia. He said:

"But we do not believe in a conference called to ratify terror, so our policy is unchanged. For 10 years, and in three different administrations, the United States has been committed to the freedom and the independence of South Viet Nam in helping others to help themselves.

"In those 10 years we have taken whatever actions were necessary, spending men and supplies for different specific purposes at different times. We shall stick to that policy and we shall contine our effort to make it even more effective."

SPACE

On Jan. 7, 1958, speaking to the Democratic Senate conference after the launching of the first Soviet Sputnik the previous fall, Johnson said:

"Since Aug. 30, when the first session of this Congress adjourned, the human race itself—without regard to flags or philosophy—has multiplied its capabilities to infinity.

"In essence, the Soviet has appraised control of space as a goal of such consequence that achievement of such control has been made a first aim of national policy. We, on the other hand —or so the evidence suggests—regarded other goals and aims as having a higher imperative.

"The testimony of the scientists is this:

"Control of space means control of the world, far more certainly, far more totally, than any control that has ever or could ever be achieved by weapons, or by troops of occupation.

"If, out in space, there is the ultimate position—from which total control of the earth may be exercised—then our national goal and the goal of all free men must be to win and hold that position."

On Nov. 17, 1958, speaking to the first United Nations Committee on Outer Space in New York, Johnson said:

"It is the American vision, I believe, that out of this fresh start for humankind which space affords, many may at last free himself of the waste of guarding himself against his ignorance of his neighbors.

"Barriers between us will fall as our sights rise to space.

"Secrecy will cease to be. Man will come to understand his fellow man—and himself—as he has never been able to do. In the infinity of space adventure, man can find growing richness of mind, or spirit, and of liberty."

Bringing Up Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Children Should Enjoy Reading

A child may not have opened a book during his long summer vacation, or even read for pleasure from any other printed matter except, perhaps, a few comic books or other pictured pages.

Dr. Garry Myers

This child may be eight, 14 or 20 years of age. During all his school life, he may rarely have read for pleasure or read at all from any source except his assigned school work. He may have spent much of his leisure time at home viewing TV programs. He may not live in a reading family.

Of course, there are some notable exceptions. A small number of children and youths read a great deal for pleasure this summer, thanks to the stimulation of great teachers and librarians and parents. Most of these children will keep on reading for pleasure during the next school year—and for the rest of their lives, perhaps. More often than not, these children belong to a reading family, where everybody reads a great deal.

THE SUMMER is ending. There is no sense in wasting hours of remorse over the fact that your child has read little or nothing during vacation. Turn over a new leaf as school begins, especially with your child in the grades. Budget your time, half an hour or more a day, so you can read to or with this child, or read silently to yourself while he is reading.

Until your youngster in the primary grades has learned to read well enough to read for pleasure, read aloud to him. Find interesting, easy reading matter for him to enjoy, other than his school readers. If there is a younger child in the family, encourage this reader to read aloud to the younger child for his amusement.

There is no better way for an early or poor reader to improve his reading skills. Set a good example by reading aloud yourself to the pre-school child, beginning before he is two or three years old.

Rarely will your child in the primary grades have assigned homework. But as soon as he learns to read, stimulate him to read from an interesting easy source other than his school books. Even require him, if necessary, to read for a brief period daily.

Encourage your child to read on through the elementary grades, to make it routine for him to read at least for half an hour a day. If he practices reading daily while in the grades, the chances are great that he will continue doing so in high school and college—perhaps all his life.

In order to carry out such a program, don't permit him to view TV without limitation. Regulate his viewing periods. Do all you can to stimulate him at reading other than his school assignments daily. Until you succeed in this, you can scarcely expect to get very far with your child's reading program.

SOME OF my readers may argue that, if a child is required to read in addition to his regular school assignments, he will, eventually, hate to read and will avoid doing so when he can. But such won't happen if there is no doubt in his mind, no arguments, and no ugly emotional explosions — if, instead, there is consistency and inevitability.

Those who say a child will come to hate to do what he has to do overlook the fact that regular, faithful practice results in greater skill. As the child reads more, he reads better and gains satisfaction from achievement.

My bulletins, "Celebrate Your Child's Successes," "Educating Your Child in Responsibility" and "Why Read to Baby and Young Child," may be secured by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of The Review.

Sgt. York Weak, Condition 'Grave'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The doughboy hero of World War I, Sgt. Alvin York, appeared to be losing ground today in his long battle with ill health.

His condition was listed in a series of medical reports from Veterans Hospital throughout the night as first critical, then grave and early today as very grave. The wife, son and daughter of the 76-year-old Medal of Honor winner were called to his bedside Sunday night.

York was brought to the hospial Saturday from his home at Pall Mall, Tenn., a town in the hills 140 miles northeast of here. He is suffering from an acute urinary infection.

This is the 11th time in two years that the old soldier has been hospitalized. He has been bed-ridden for many years.

Good Deeds Stopped— Scouts Warn Drivers

LONDON (AP) — The Boy Scouts in rural Surrey called a halt today to the daily good deed of two Cub Scouts.

City Retaken In Congo By Army Forces

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Premier Moise Tshombe says his army has recaptured the strategic city of Albertville in the eastern Congo, but Communist-backed rebels are reported on the march again toward Bukavu.

Tshombe personally announced the government victory over Radio Leopoldville Sunday. He said the rebels left behind their weapons in the flight from the city. There was no confirmation from other sources. Tshombe said the rebels still held Albertville Airport, 12 miles from the city.

A spearhead of white mercenaries approached the airport last Thursday but were driven off by machine-gun fire. Five were wounded.

Tshombe said his troops freed 28 Euroepans who had been held hostage. He gave no indication of the fate of about 100 other whites in the city.

Tshombe hopes the recapture of Albertville will give the demoralized Congolese army a psychological boost in its attempt to beat back rebel forces in the northeast Congo. He recently began recruiting white mercenaries, including some veterans of his Katanga secession, after the Congolese army suffered a string of reverses.

Albertville, the main Congolese city on the western shore of Lake Tanganyika, fell under control of rebel leader Gaston Soumialot in June.

Tshombe's latest announcement followed an army report that a strong rebel force was marching on Bukavu, on the eastern Congo border 225 miles north of Albertville.

IRS Slates New Plan To Pay Back Refunds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service promises something new next year in a perennial effort to make tax refunds to missing taxpayers.

About 275,000 refunds were returned to the government during the fiscal year which ended last June 30 because taxpayers moved without leaving forwarding addresses.

The IRS next year plans to use a new automatic data processing system to match the identity numbers on new returns with the numbers of persons who cannot be found.

Poland Plans Rallies For War Anniversary

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A series of antiwar rallies will be held on the 25th anniversary of Hitler's 1939 invasion of Poland.

Setting the stage for the rallies, Poland's largest circulation paper, the Evening Express, accused England and France of shirking obligations to Poland in 1939 by not quickly attacking Hitler's forces.

Space Signals Urged By British Scientists

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — A British physicist suggested today that earthmen ought to be sending signals into space, just in case anyone is out there listening.

Dr. D. M. A. Mercer, lecturer at Southampton University, told the British Association for the Advancement of Science that life may exist in other solar systems.

"The most likely way for one intelligent world to try to contact another would be to send out unmanned spaceships loaded with computers and scientific information ready to give and receive information," Dr. Mercer said.

Painting Tips

10 Things To Remember

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Painting the outside of your house? Or one of the rooms? Here are 10 things to keep in mind:

1.—Preparing the surface properly is at least 50 per cent of the final result. This includes the removal of dust, dirt and grease; scraping away loose paint; filling cracks and holes; dulling glossy areas, and building up low spots.

2.—If you apply the final coat before the undercoat has dried thoroughly, it will be only a few months before the fine hairline cracks develop. This condition, known as "checking," occurs because the undercoat remains elastic and so begins to move as the wood underneath contracts and expands.

3.—There are probably more paint failures in the kitchen than anywhere else, usually caused by not removing all the grease that has accumulated over the years.

4.—Forget about an all-purpose paint which will be best for all conditions. Such a paint usually is very effective for some surfaces, fair for others and just adequate for still others. For the best result, get a paint designed to be very effective for the particular project you are undertaking.

5.—The ceiling in a room should be painted first. Don't make the mistake of deciding only to paint the walls, then discovering later that the ceiling, which appeared to be all right before you started, suddenly seems to be dingy.

6.—Remember that color seems deeper when applied to large surfaces, such as walls. Select a color one shade lighter than you want it to be.

7.—Two thin or ordinary coats of paint usually will wear better than one thick coat.

8.—Most amateur painters get only about one-tenth as much wear out of a brush as is built into it. The chief reason: failure to clean the brush properly immediately after it has been used.

9.—Don't paint with a brush previously used for varnish. It has a tendency to give the paint a cloudy appearance.

10.—There isn't much difference between quality paints and cheap, inferior paints immediately after the application. The difference shows up weeks and months later when failures begin to develop in the inferior paint.

(Andy Lang's detailed booklet, "Paint Your House, Inside and Out," can be obtained by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped, envelope to Know-How P.O. Box 954, Jamaica, N.Y., 11431.)

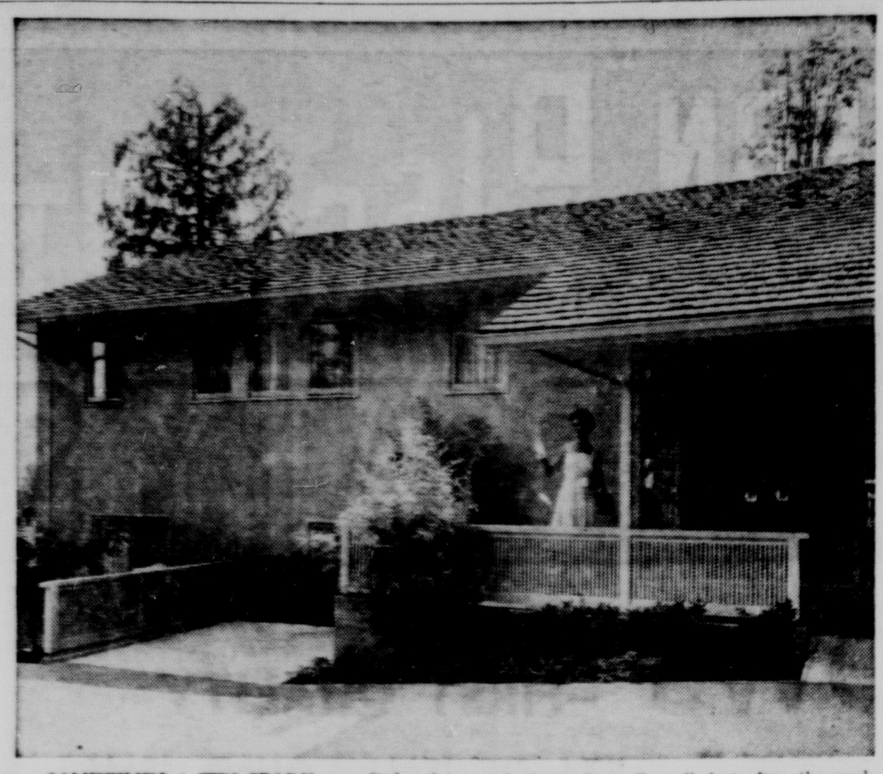
Firemen Blame Arson For Blaze In Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Firemen said an arsonist started a blaze early today that caused an estimated $1,000 damage at the Park Restaurant on Toledo's north side.

No one was injured. The restaurant, operated by Mrs. Cecelia Pawelczak, was to reopen today after being closed for a week's vacation period. Firemen said gasoline was poured along the outside of two walls of the building and ignited.



SOMETIMES A TWO-STORY or split-level house looks awkwardly tall, but often the problem can be solved with horizontal lines at the entrance area. Crisply-styled screens outlining porch do the job here, are built with fir lumber and stained to match the home's tongue-and-groove siding.

Horizontals Can Get Rid Of 'Tall Look'

Does your house have the too-tall look? Does it stand up on the lot like the jolly green giant?

The effect can occur when a two - story house is built in an area mainly populated by ranch - style homes or when a big house is built to accommodate a big family. But there is a solution — the introduction of horizontal lines which can do much to cut the house down to eye - pleasing proportions.

The best place to look for potential horizontals is around the front door. Working here, you cannot only accomplish your prime objective, but also create an exterior entrance area of importance.

Begin by laying out an area that would correspond to a large porch. It should run about half the front of the house and be slightly off - center. Outline, but don't enclose, this area with simply styled low screens and you will have gotten the project well under way.

Only two screens are actually needed. One should lie parallel to the house walls at the front edge of the entrance area. The other can be at right angles and situated at the opposite end from the front door. It is not necessary to join them, and is usually more pleasing to the eye if there is space between, where the walk can come up, then turn over to the door.

The screens should be crisp but not ordinary. For one good pattern, begin with the standard framework of Douglas fir 4-by-4 posts and 2-by-4 stringers. Then set 1-by-4-inch fir boards narrow edge out between the stringers. They should be spaced evenly to correspond to the thickness of the exposed edge. An easy way to do it is to use even length pieces of 1-by-4 as spacer blocks top and bottom.

The pattern can be varied with handsome effect by using 1-by-2-inch boards narrow edge out and spaced in the same manner. They should be set between horizontal 1-by-2s with a 2-by-4 used as a finishing cap board and bottom rail.

If the house siding is stained a natural wood tone or one of the new and lovely bronzed greens, it's a good idea to paint the screens the same shade rather than to try to introduce an accent color. For a traditionally styled home, the screens can pick up the trim color successfully.

Designer Says Kitchen Can Be Happy Room

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

"Most sharp answers to husbands come from kitchens," says kitchen designer George Warren of Louisville.

"Food preparation is a chore to most women, especially when a husband is in the living room reading a newspaper."

Warren's goal for more than 20 years has been to make the ktichen a "happy room," planning it so that color, conveniences and equipment solve problems, rather than create them.

"For example, the color of counter tops can blind and clash with food. Some shades of green made steak and butter seem rancid, discouraging cooks. Carrots and beets throw off color they reflect, like a blotter absorbs water near it," he says.

HE DESIGNED a turquoise and white kitchen for Princess Grace's little chalet at Monaco with a small greenhouse in a bay window where she can grow herbs. He put in a pink kitchen for the King of Libya, one of several Warren has installed in palaces.

Pink appliances, pink plastic counter and a pink marble floor were used in the ceremonial kitchen. The queen ordered six broom closets, but didn't want them for mops and brooms — she wanted to use them for hanging bunches of bananas. She chose an 18-cubic-foot upright freezer, but not to plug in —she liked the shelf arrangements for canned food.

That's the way to look at a kitchen, Warren says, as a solution for your own family needs.

In his own kitchen, Warren has a small refrigerator just for milk, butter and cheese, and he has two freezers. He has a griddle, barbecue, water cooler and other gizmos that are right for his own needs. And he has carpet in his kitchen.

"I carpeted my kitchen because I feel the resiliency of floors is important in avoiding back strain. But 70 per cent of women I suggest carpet to, invariably say, 'Oh, no' — until they analyze it. Actually, it is as easy to take care of as any other flooring. You wipe up spills, even from dog and cat plates, the way you would anyway with a sponge or paper towel. And you use a carpet sweeper to keep it clean."

WARREN USES a high density sponge cushioned carpet of nylon, a commercial carpet, the kind used outdoors at airports and swimming pools. He says it is not expensive.

Another disposition saver in the kitchen is a waste disposal, he points out. Garbage from a family of four can be ground up in minutes, he says.

Women complain of lack of storage space, but often they use it for paper bags and string, he says. And they often say a new kitchen is too expensive to put in.

"A kitchen is only as expensive as you make it. If you decide to rip out walls and windows or alter wiring, you can't blame it on the new kitchen," he says.

The most interesting kitchen he ever designed was one that had a swimming pool as a ceiling, he says. He predicts the return of pantries, "not the walk - in kind for storing baby carriages," but adequate space for canned goods; counters that move, bringing food from preparation center to range; push buttons that will produce from lobster newburg to ice cream.

"Prospective purchasers of kitchen equipment should investigate all brands before they buy, he says, and get the brand that suits their individual requirements. Be careful. You may wind up with a refrigerator door on the wrong side.

Police Check Assault Case

East Liverpool police today are continuing investigation of an unusual case in which a North Side man reported two men invaded his home early Saturday evening and assaulted him.

Glenn D. Weyand, 49, of Henry Ave., told Acting Lt. Kenneth Mooney and Patrolman Paul Blevins that the two fled in an auto after beating him repeatedly about the head and chest. Weyand was X-rayed at City Hospital and then released, officers said.

The two officers said they responded to a report two men were beating Weyand on Henry Ave. The victim told the officers the two beat him and then fled in an auto, they reported.

Weyand told police the two entered his home and asked him if he was "having any trouble with a boy on the hill." Weyand replied that he responded it "depended on who they were talking about."

Weyand said the two then beat him about the head and chest. He said the telephone was ripped from the wall to prevent him from telephoning police immediately.

Spin Wheel Indicates Settlement Of Vikings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Archeologists have turned up what they consider evidence that the Vikings beat Christopher Columbus to the New World by about 500 years.

A tiny stone wheel, found in a Newfoundland wilderness, was hailed as a clue to a Viking settlement in North America nearly 1,000 years ago. The wheel was identified as part of a wool-spinning device and the first Viking household article found on the continent.

Dr. Melville Bell Grosvenor, president and editor of the National Geographic Society, said the discovery suggests that the Vikings brought their wives to do household work in an unsuccessful attempt to establish a permanent settlement.

U.S. Plans To Launch Geophysical Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans to launch late this week its largest scientific satellite, designated OGO —A, for orbiting geophysical observatory.

10 Things To Remember

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Painting the outside of your house? Or one of the rooms? Here are 10 things to keep in mind:

1.—Preparing the surface properly is at least 50 per cent of the final result. This includes the removal of dust, dirt and grease; scraping away loose paint; filling cracks and holes; dulling glossy areas, and building up low spots.

2.—If you apply the final coat before the undercoat has dried thoroughly, it will be only a few months before the fine hairline cracks develop. This condition, known as "checking," occurs because the undercoat remains elastic and so begins to move as the wood underneath contracts and expands.

3.—There are probably more paint failures in the kitchen than anywhere else, usually caused by not removing all the grease that has accumulated over the years.

4.—Forget about an all-purpose paint which will be best for all conditions. Such a paint usually is very effective for some surfaces, fair for others and just adequate for still others. For the best result, get a paint designed to be very effective for the particular project you are undertaking.

5.—The ceiling in a room should be painted first. Don't make the mistake of deciding only to paint the walls, then discovering later that the ceiling, which appeared to be all right before you started, suddenly seems to be dingy.

6.—Remember that color seems deeper when applied to large surfaces, such as walls. Select a color one shade lighter than you want it to be.

7.—Two thin or ordinary coats of paint usually will wear better than one thick coat.

8.—Most amateur painters get only about one-tenth as much wear out of a brush as is built into it. The chief reason: failure to clean the brush properly immediately after it has been used.

9.—Don't paint with a brush previously used for varnish. It has a tendency to give the paint a cloudy appearance.

10.—There isn't much difference between quality paints and cheap, inferior paints immediately after the application. The difference shows up weeks and months later when failures begin to develop in the inferior paint.

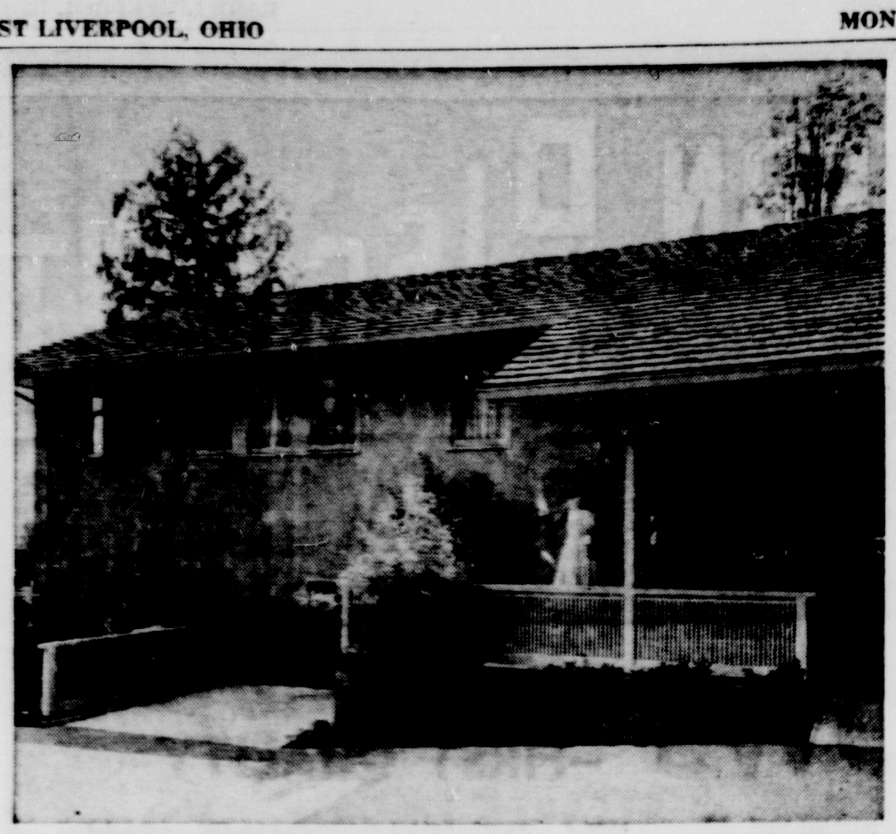
Firemen Blame Arson For Blaze In Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Firemen said an arsonist started a blaze early today that caused an estimated $1,000 damage at the Park Restaurant on Toledo's north side.

No one was injured. The restaurant, operated by Mrs. Cecelia Pawelczak, was to reopen today after being closed for a week's vacation period. Firemen said gasoline was poured along the outside of two walls of the building and ignited.



SOMETIMES A TWO-STORY or split-level house looks awkwardly tall, but often the problem can be solved with horizontal lines at the entrance area. Crisply-styled screens outlining porch do the job here, are built with fir lumber and stained to match the home's tongue-and-groove siding.

Horizontals Can Get Rid Of 'Tall Look'

Does your house have the too-tall look? Does it stand up on the lot like the jolly green giant?

The effect can occur when a two - story house is built in an area mainly populated by ranch - style homes or when a big house is built to accommodate a big family. But there is a solution — the introduction of horizontal lines which can do much to cut the house down to eye - pleasing proportions.

The best place to look for potential horizontals is around the front door. Working here, you cannot only accomplish your prime objective, but also create an exterior entrance area of importance.

Begin by laying out an area that would correspond to a large porch. It should run about half the front of the house and be slightly off - center. Outline, but don't enclose, this area with simply styled low screens and you will have gotten the project well under way.

Only two screens are actually needed. One should lie parallel to the house walls at the front edge of the entrance area. The other can be at right angles and situated at the opposite end from the front door. It is not necessary to join them, and is usually more pleasing to the eye if there is space between, where the walk can come up, then turn over to the door.

The screens should be crisp but not ordinary. For one good pattern, begin with the standard framework of Douglas fir 4-by-4 posts and 2-by-4 stringers. Then set 1-by-4-inch fir boards narrow edge out between the stringers. They should be spaced evenly to correspond to the thickness of the exposed edge. An easy way to do it is to use even length pieces of 1-by-4 as spacer blocks top and bottom.

The pattern can be varied with handsome effect by using 1-by-2-inch boards narrow edge out and spaced in the same manner. They should be set between horizontal 1-by-2s with a 2-by-4 used as a finishing cap board and bottom rail.

If the house siding is stained a natural wood tone or one of the new and lovely bronzed greens, it's a good idea to paint the screens the same shade rather than to try to introduce an accent color. For a traditionally styled home, the screens can pick up the trim color successfully.

Price Boosts Expected By Some Buyers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel Magazine said Sunday that despite "President Johnson's opposition to higher steel prices," some steel buyers think prices will be raised.

The trade publication quoted the steel committee of the National Association of Purchasing Agents as reporting that most of its members feel that increases will be put into effect on a selected basis after the November election.

Steel said that, barring a major auto strike, "September is likely to be the biggest month in metalworking's history."

"Despite a higher than normal rate of production through the summer," the magazine reported, "order backlogs have continued to mount." The gain in the steel industry may be more than the usual 6 to 8 per cent in September over August, Steel said.

Steel shipments, traditionally drop in September, but this year shipments will be up in September, "barring an auto industry strike," the magazine predicted.

Most producers of wide plates, Steel said, are "sold out through November, and some will have nothing to offer until they open their books for the first quarter of next year."

August production of 10.5 million ingot tons of steel set a record for the month, Steel said, forecasting a continued slight increase this week. An estimated 2,405,000 tons were produced last week.

Racing Opens At State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The start of four days of harness racing highlighted today's attractions at the 111th Ohio State Fair, with the $25,600 Ohio State Trot the featured race on the seven race card.

But the horse set wasn't the only group attracted to today's fair program. More than 1,200 handicapped youngsters were expected to be on the fairgrounds as the exhibition observed its 10th anual Crippled Children's Day.

The children, representing between 50 and 55 Ohio counties were to be guests at a luncheon and admitted to all rides on the midway free of charge.

One rather spectacular feature scheduled today was a "car drop," in which a car suspended at a height of 125 feet was to be released to crash onto a second car pointed upward.

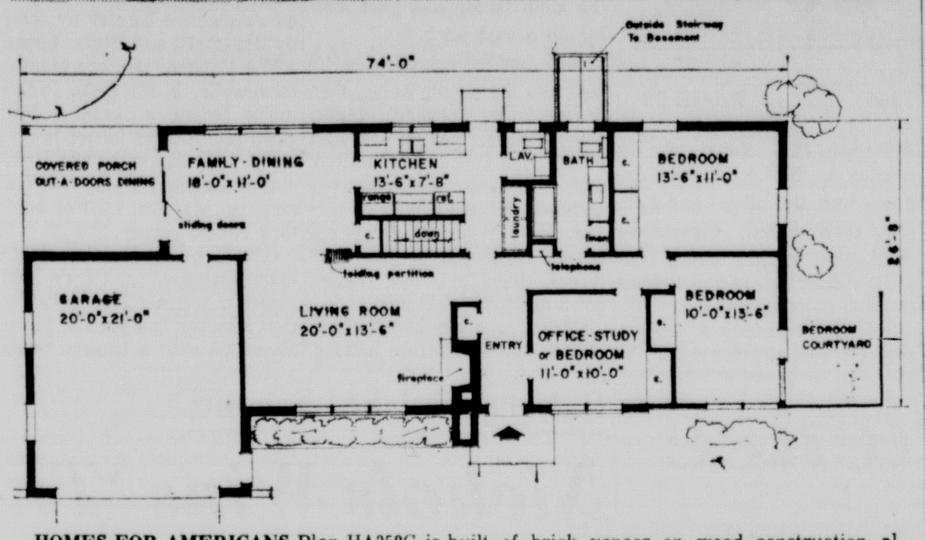
Aim of the demonstration, sponsored by the State Highway Safety Department, was to show what happens when two cars traveling at 62 miles an hour crash head-on. The cars were to be put on display after the crash.

Fair attendance figures indicated the crowds for the first three days are running slightly larger than those of a year ago.

Unofficial figures for Friday, Saturday and Sunday showed that a total of 278,768 persons have gone through the gates so far, compared to 278,439 during the first three days of last year.

Two more fair queens were crowned Sunday. Linda Graf-miller, 18-year-old Ohio State University co-ed from Columbus, was named "Miss Wool of Ohio and Martha Brian, Columbus Dispatch reporter, was honored as "Miss Press Headquarters."

They will join other queens crowned during the fair in the "Queen of Queens" pageant Thursday night, from which next year's "Miss Ohio State Fair" will be selected.



HOMES FOR AMERICANS Plan HA358G is built of brick veneer on wood construction although the front of the house is stone veneer. If one wished to substitute, brick would look equally good. There is a full basement under the house, which has an asphalt shingle roof. The washer and dryer are conveniently located in the kitchen. A covered porch is convenient for out-of-doors dining and the bedroom wing has its own courtyard. Architect is Elmer Gylleck, 358 E. Chicago St., Elgin, Ill.

Areas Beneath House Should Be Closed Off

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

There are many houses, porches and additions which are built separately from the main building and not over the house foundation.

Usually these are built on posts or on cement block or brick piers, and the area beneath them is left open. This is not only a bad condition, but is also a very dangerous one.

To begin with, dried leaves and grass, small twigs and wind-driven paper have a habit of blowing under the structure, accummulating and drying until they form a fine mass of tinder, ready to break into a flame if a spark reaches them. It is almost impossible to reach the fire to put it out unless a hose happens to be right at hand.

Another thing about these open areas is that rats, cats and all manner of small animals are apt to make it a nesting place. The result is frequently odorous and dirty.

When the owner does not want the expense or effort of closing up this type of area solidly, and with proper screened ventilating openings, he will find latticework quite satisfactory.

This lattice is made of wood-strip about two inches wide and a quarter-inch thick. It is easy to cut and to nail. And the average area can be fitted in a half-day. As a rule the posts or piers are located sufficiently close to each other to obviate the necessary of intermediate supports.

In the case where there are masonry piers and not posts, a wood batten can be secured to them with cut nails driven into the mortar joints and then the lattice nailed to the battens.

Outside of the practical use of this protection, there is no doubt at all but that it improves the appearance of the house tremendously.

Congress Makes New Bid To Settle 2 Controversies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress returns today for another try at settling the controversies that prevented its adjournment in advance of the Democratic National Convention.

Both the House and the Senate scheduled sessions ending a convention week recess, but House leaders planned little business before Tuesday.

The Senate faced up to a renewed fight over health care for the elderly under the Social Security program. President Johnson's backing for this program could make it one of several stumbling blocks in the path of an early adjournment.

Another is an attempt by some members of Congress to halt or at least delay the reapportionment of state legislatures ordered by the Supreme Court and subordinate tribunals. That battle was under way when Congress recessed Aug. 21 for the Democratic convention.

Pending in the Senate is a House-passed bill which would increase and expand present Social Security benefits and increase the tax levies which support the nationwide program.

To this, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and his top assistant, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., now his party's vice-presidential candidate, hope to tack on the elderly health benefits.

This could cause lengthy debate and even if favored by a Senate majority later concurrence by the House would be required. The plan is opposed by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee which handles Social Security legislation.

This controversy is temporarily replacing another floor battle which had tied up the Senate for 10 days prior to the convention recess.

Proper Painting Of Fir Plywood Calls For Sealer

Question: I have just finished enclosing my workshop in the basement of my home.

I used fir plywood for the walls, nailing them into 2-by-4 studs. At first, I intended to leave the plywood just as it was, without any finish. Then I changed my mind and began painting it. I got through with about one - fourth of the job several weeks ago and just never got around to the rest of it.

I now find that the grain of the plywood is beginning to show through the cream-colored paint I used. What went wrong, how can I correct it and how should I go about completing the job?

Answer: Your mistake was in painting directly over the fir plywood without using a sealer to tame the ordinarily wild grain of this particular type of wood.

Ask your paint dealer or lumber yard for the sealer made especially for fir plywood. Be sure you get the kind which is used under paint rather than the kind used under a clear finish. When this sealer coat has thoroughly dried, apply the paint. The sealer will prevent the grain from coming through at a later date.

You will have no special problem with the plywood already painted. Apply the sealer directly over the paint just as you do with the plywood that you haven't yet painted.

There is a possibility that the part already painted may have a slightly different, almost unnoticeable, tint to it. If that is the case, and it bothers you, one more coat should make all parts of the plywood exactly alike. This extra coat will add to the durability of the entire job.

Policeman Slays Kenton Man Who Threatened Him

KENTON, Ohio (AP)—Richard Mendenhall of Kenton was shot and killed by a local police officer here Sunday.

Authorities said Policeman Vincent Cavin pumped four bullets into the victim after he allegedly threatened the officer.

Cavin and another policeman were called to Mendenhall's home after they received a call that Mendenhall had shot his brother-in-law, Clayton Nichols, also of Kenton.

When they arrived, the officers tried to talk Mendenhall into giving up his .22 caliber rifle. Cavin finally took the weapon from Mendenhall but the latter followed the officer outside the house.

Authorities said Cavin warned Mendenhall to keep away then fired when he kept advancing.

Nichols was reported in good condition in a Kenton hospital with an arm wound. Authorities said the shooting apparently followed a drinking session.

Price Boosts Expected By Some Buyers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel Magazine said Sunday that despite "President Johnson's opposition to higher steel prices," some steel buyers think prices will be raised.

The trade publication quoted the steel committee of the National Association of Purchasing Agents as reporting that most of its members feel that increases will be put into effect on a selected basis after the November election.

Steel said that, barring a major auto strike, "September is likely to be the biggest month in metalworking's history."

"Despite a higher than normal rate of production through the summer," the magazine reported, "order backlogs have continued to mount." The gain in the steel industry may be more than the usual 6 to 8 per cent in September over August, Steel said.

Steel shipments, traditionally drop in September, but this year shipments will be up in September, "barring an auto industry strike," the magazine predicted.

Most producers of wide plates, Steel said, are "sold out through November, and some will have nothing to offer until they open their books for the first quarter of next year."

August production of 10.5 million ingot tons of steel set a record for the month, Steel said, forecasting a continued slight increase this week. An estimated 2,405,000 tons were produced last week.

Racing Opens At State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The start of four days of harness racing highlighted today's attractions at the 111th Ohio State Fair, with the $25,600 Ohio State Trot the featured race on the seven race card.

But the horse set wasn't the only group attracted to today's fair program. More than 1,200 handicapped youngsters were expected to be on the fairgrounds as the exhibition observed its 10th anual Crippled Children's Day.

The children, representing between 50 and 55 Ohio counties were to be guests at a luncheon and admitted to all rides on the midway free of charge.

One rather spectacular feature scheduled today was a "car drop," in which a car suspended at a height of 125 feet was to be released to crash onto a second car pointed upward.

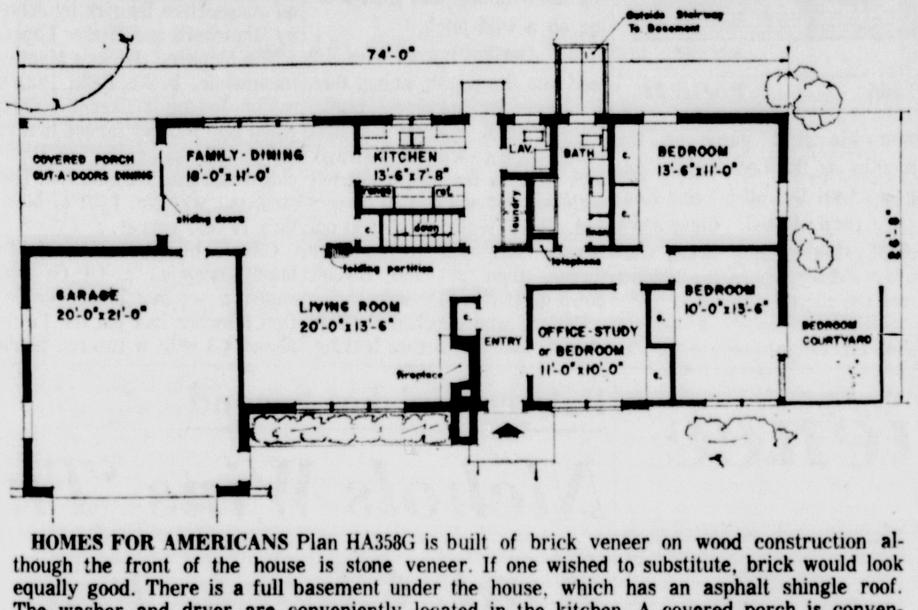
Aim of the demonstration, sponsored by the State Highway Safety Department, was to show what happens when two cars traveling at 62 miles an hour crash head-on. The cars were to be put on display after the crash.

Fair attendance figures indicated the crowds for the first three days are running slightly larger than those of a year ago.

Unofficial figures for Friday, Saturday and Sunday showed that a total of 278,768 persons have gone through the gates so far, compared to 278,439 during the first three days of last year.

Two more fair queens were crowned Sunday. Linda Grafmiller, 18-year-old Ohio State University co-ed from Columbus, was named "Miss Wool of Ohio and Martha Brian, Columbus Dispatch reporter, was honored as "Miss Press Headquarters."

They will join other queens crowned during the fair in the "Queen of Queens" pageant Thursday night, from which next year's "Miss Ohio State Fair" will be selected.



HOMES FOR AMERICANS Plan HA358G is built of brick veneer on wood construction although the front of the house is stone veneer. If one wished to substitute, brick would look equally good. There is a full basement under the house, which has an asphalt shingle roof. The washer and dryer are conveniently located in the kitchen. A covered porch is convenient for out-of-doors dining and the bedroom wing has its own courtyard. Architect is Elmer Gylleck, 358 E. Chicago St., Elgin, Ill.

Areas Beneath House Should Be Closed Off

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

There are many houses, porches and additions which are built separately from the main building and not over the house foundation.

Usually these are built on posts or on cement block or brick piers, and the area beneath them is left open. This is not only a bad condition, but is also a very dangerous one.

To begin with, dried leaves and grass, small twigs and wind-driven paper have a habit of blowing under the structure, accummulating and drying until they form a fine mass of tinder, ready to break into a flame if a spark reaches them. It is almost impossible to reach the fire to put it out unless a hose happens to be right at hand.

Another thing about these open areas is that rats, cats and all manner of small animals are apt to make it a nesting place. The result is frequently odorous and dirty.

When the owner does not want the expense or effort of closing up this type of area solidly, and with proper screened ventilating openings, he will find latticework quite satisfactory.

This lattice is made of wood-strip about two inches wide and a quarter-inch thick. It is easy to cut and to nail. And the average area can be fitted in a half-day. As a rule the posts or piers are located sufficiently close to each other to obviate the necessary of intermediate supports.

In the case where there are masonry piers and not posts, a wood batten can be secured to them with cut nails driven into the mortar joints and then the lattice nailed to the battens.

Outside of the practical use of this protection, there is no doubt at all but that it improves the appearance of the house tremendously.

Congress Makes New Bid To Settle 2 Controversies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress returns today for another try at settling the controversies that prevented its adjournment in advance of the Democratic National Convention.

Both the House and the Senate scheduled sessions ending a convention week recess, but House leaders planned little business before Tuesday.

The Senate faced up to a renewed fight over health care for the elderly under the Social Security program. President Johnson's backing for this program could make it one of several stumbling blocks in the path of an early adjournment.

Another is an attempt by some members of Congress to halt or at least delay the reapportionment of state legislatures ordered by the Supreme Court and subordinate tribunals. That battle was under way when Congress recessed Aug. 21 for the Democratic convention.

Pending in the Senate is a House-passed bill which would increase and expand present Social Security benefits and increase the tax levies which support the nationwide program.

To this, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and his top assistant, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., now his party's vice-presidential candidate, hope to tack on the elderly health benefits.

This could cause lengthy debate and even if favored by a Senate majority later concurrence by the House would be required. The plan is opposed by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee which handles Social Security legislation.

This controversy is temporarily replacing another floor battle which had tied up the Senate for 10 days prior to the convention recess.

800 Due At Columbus Physicists Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The ninth International Conference Low Temperature Physics opened at Ohio State University today with 800 scientists expected to attend the week-long meeting.

The scientists, which include about 200 from foreign countries, will present nearly 250 scientific papers on their latest efforts to test the behavior of matter at temperatures near absolute zero (460 degrees below zero farenheit).

The Winter Olympic Games have been held twice in the United States — at Lake Placid, N. Y., in 1932 and at Squaw Valley, Calif., in 1960.

Proper Painting Of Fir Plywood Calls For Sealer

Question: I have just finished enclosing my workshop in the basement of my home.

I used fir plywood for the walls, nailing them into 2-by-4 studs. At first, I intended to leave the plywood just as it was, without any finish. Then I changed my mind and began painting it. I got through with about one - fourth of the job several weeks ago and just never got around to the rest of it.

I now find that the grain of the plywood is beginning to show through the cream-colored paint I used. What went wrong, how can I correct it and how should I go about completing the job?

Answer: Your mistake was in painting directly over the fir plywood without using a sealer to tame the ordinarily wild grain of this particular type of wood.

Ask your paint dealer or lumber yard for the sealer made especially for fir plywood. Be sure you get the kind which is used under paint rather than the kind used under a clear finish. When this sealer coat has thoroughly dried, apply the paint. The sealer will prevent the grain from coming through at a later date.

You will have no special problem with the plywood already painted. Apply the sealer directly over the paint just as you do with the plywood that you haven't yet painted.

There is a possibility that the part already painted may have a slightly different, almost unnoticeable, tint to it. If that is the case, and it bothers you, one more coat should make all parts of the plywood exactly alike. This extra coat will add to the durability of the entire job.

Policeman Slays Kenton Man Who Threatened Him

KENTON, Ohio (AP)—Richard Mendenhall of Kenton was shot and killed by a local police officer here Sunday.

Authorities said Policeman Vincent Cavin pumped four bullets into the victim after he allegedly threatened the officer.

Cavin and another policeman were called to Mendenhall's home after they received a call that Mendenhall had shot his brother-in-law, Clayton Nichols, also of Kenton.

When they arrived, the officers tried to talk Mendenhall into giving up his .22 caliber rifle. Cavin finally took the weapon from Mendenhall but the latter followed the officer outside the house.

Authorities said Cavin warned Mendenhall to keep away then fired when he kept advancing.

Nichols was reported in good condition in a Kenton hospital with an arm wound. Authorities said the shooting apparently followed a drinking session.

Skowron's Homer Lifts White Sox To 3-0 Victory

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Moose Skowron's first homer in six weeks has put the cap on the 24-day period in which the three leading American League pennant contenders finished firing against each other and left unanswered only one small question:

Who's going to win the American League pennant?

Skowron, who has a chance to play in his third consecutive World Series with as many teams, slammed a fifth inning homer Sunday that broke up a scoreless battle and started the Chicago White Sox on the way to a 3-0 victory over first-place Baltimore.

That lifted Skowron's average to .308 since he was acquired from Washington this season after pennant-winning years with the New York Yankees in 1962 and Los Angeles Dodgers last year. It also lifted the White Sox to within one-half game of the front-running Orioles at the end of the contenders' round robin.

The Orioles, who started the 24-day stretch on Aug. 7 in second place by four percentage points, compiled a 9-6 record against Chicago and New York during that period and took over the league lead. The White Sox were 9-7 against the other two, moving up after being third, 1½ out.

The biggest losers were the New York Yankees, who started the swing against Baltimore and Chicago in first place, lost 10 of 15 to the other leaders and fell to third place. The Yankees are three games off the pace after walloping Boston 9-3.

Orioles Lead By ½; Yanks 3 Back

As for the remainder of the schedule, none of the leaders seems to have an advantage. Here's the way it looks:

Baltimore — At home, 16 — Kansas City 5, Minnesota 3, Los Angeles 3, Washington 3, Detroit 2. Away, 15 — Minnesota 3, Los Angeles 3, Kansas City 2, Washington 2, Detroit 2, Cleveland 3.

Chicago — At home, 14 — Detroit 2, Cleveland 4, Washington 3, Los Angeles 1, Kansas City 4. Away, 14 — Washington 2, Minnesota 2, Cleveland 3, Detroit 2, Los Angeles 2, Kansas City 3.

New York — At home, 16 — Minnesota 3, Los Angeles 3, Kansas City 3, Detroit 4, Cleveland 3. Away, 17 — Los Angeles 3, Kansas City 3, Minnesota 2, Detroit 2, Cleveland 4, Washington 3.

The Review Sports

In other AL games Sunday, Tony Oliva's 28th homer brought Minnesota a 5-4 victory over Washington, Ken McBride won his first game in 2½ months as the Los Angeles Angels edged Detroit 5-4 and Kansas City ended Cleveland's eight-game winning streak with a 9-3 victory before the Indians won the second game 6-5.

Skowron smashed a 390-foot shot off Robin Roberts for his first homer since July 16. Ward took care of the other runs, driving in one with a triple in the ninth inning and then scoring on a wild pitch.

Joel Horlen nursed the 1-0 lead into the eighth inning, then departed for a pinch hitter. Gary Peters, making his first relief appearance for Chicago, took over in the eighth but left with two out and a man on second. Hoyt Wilhelm struck out Brooks Robinson to end the threat, then set the Orioles down quietly in the ninth.

Horlen, who checked the Orioles on four hits before leaving, did not allow a runner past second and brought his record to 10-8. Roberts is 11-6.

The Yankees got the job done early against the Red Sox, scoring two runs in the first on a double by Phil Linz, Pedro Gonzalez' triple and an error, then adding three runs in the fourth on consecutive homers by Johnny Blanchard and Hector Lopez.

The Yankees' Mickey Mantle, meanwhile, broke Babe Ruth's major league strikeout record when Bob Heffner fanned him in the fourth inning before Blanchard and Lopez connected. The strikeout was No. 1,331 of Mantle's 14-year career.

Oliva's homer in the eighth inning snapped a 4-4 tie and ended a see-saw homer battle. Don Mincher had put the Twins ahead 4-3 with a two-run pinch homer in the seventh, but Don Lock pulled the Senators into a tie with a homer in the top of the eighth.

The Angels chased Dave Wickersham, the Tigers' 16-game winner, with a four-run first built on two-rum homers by Jim Fregosi and Willie Smith. The winning run, however, came across in the fifth when Albie Pearson tripled and scored on a wild pitch by Ed Rakow.

Jim Gentile drove in five runs with two homers and a single and Nelson Mathews knocked in four with a pair of homers in the A's victory. Mathews also connected in the nightcap, but the Indians finally won the back and forth struggle on a two-run single by Max Alvis in the ninth inning.

Southern Slim On Experience

Oliver Begins New Job With 4 Lettermen

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Relieved that his star fullback will return to practice in about one week, Ed Oliver, an All-Ohio gridder at East Liverpool in his playing days, launches his first season as head coach at Southern Local High School.

THE FULLBACK which worried Oliver is Ed Arsuffi who could be one of the toughest backs in the district this fall. Arsuffi suffered an infection and after tests over the weekend, should be back in uniform next week.

Arsuffi is a 190-pound senior and Oliver is very high on this gridder. "He has better than average speed and hits quick. I feel he will be one of the best in the area this season," Oliver said. Arsuffi will go both ways, playing a linebacker on defense.

OLIVER pointed out that his squad will be inexperienced with no depth. Twenty - eight boys are out for the sport at Southern Local and 14 of these are either freshmen or sophomores.

On the forward wall, Oliver will attempt to build a line around his big tackle Needs. At ends, will be Steve McCollam, 175-pound senior and Rick Hanley 174-pound junior. Joining Needs at the tackle spot is Ken Rose 195-pound senior.

ANOTHER promising youngster expected to see some grid action is sophomore Marvin McIntosh who will go both ways at tackle.

Oliver takes over at Southern Local in a season which shows a beefed up schedule as the Indians have gone out to schedule larger schools. The highlight of the card appears to be a match with rival Wellsville on Oct. 3.

SOUTHERN Local also is competing in the Buckeye Border Conference this season.

The opening game is at Greenford on Saturday afternoon Sept. 12 with the first home battle with Springfield Local Sept. 26.

Assisting Oliver this season are Al Girone, who is head basketball coach at Southern Local and Paul Barbuto of East Liverpool who coached at East Junior High School last season.

Southern Local's 1964 Football Squad

Sept. 12—Greenford, away
Sept. 18—Springfield Twp., away
Sept. 26—Springfield Local, home
Oct. 3—Wellsville, away
Oct. 10—Wayne, home
Oct. 17—Crestview, away
Oct. 24—Stanton Local, home
Oct. 31—Beaver Local, home
Nov. 7—United, home

Irons Down Wellsville In Playoff

Irondale advanced in the playoffs of the Tri-County League Sunday by handing Wellsville a 6-1 setback.

Bob Agnew started for Wellsville but was relieved by Jim Miles in the seventh. A double by Ron Fraley driving in two runs was the big blow for Irondale. Jerry Cannon had three hits for the losers and Roger Ours collected two safeties.

McNea Satisfied With Scrimmage

"Overall I was encouraged with our first scrimmage," head coach Bob McNea reported.

McNea was referring to East Liverpool's scrimmage with Cardinal Mooney of Youngstown Saturday morning at Patterson Field.

East Liverpool outscored Mooney 5 to 4 in touchdowns.

"We made a number of mistakes but this was our first real contact work. Our defense as a whole did a pretty good job."

McNea singled out several individual performers. He pointed to Bob Maltarich, senior quarterback, saying "Maltarich handled the club well and showed some poise out there. He looks like the leader we need on the field."

McNea also was impressed with Mike Goodballet, who quarterbacked the second unit and "did a good job." Goodballet also drew praise for his defensive work along with linebacker Clarence Crable.

East Liverpool has two scrimmage sessions coming up this week.

Palmer Finishes Second

Nichols Wins 'The World' And Check For $35,000

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Arnie and Big Jack had to be content with secondary paychecks again Sunday when Nichols, 28-year-old PGA champion, walked off with the game's biggest tournament haul of the year, the $35,000 first prize in the $200,000 Carling World Golf Championship.

It was the fifth time in the last seven tournaments that Palmer, the defending money-making champion, had come in second. In the other two tournaments, he was third.

"I'm getting darned tired of it," Palmer said. "I hope it doesn't become a habit."

Nicklaus, who hasn't won a major championship this year, fell farther behind. He tied for 11th and 286 and collected $2,800.

It was the first time in the last two months that he hadn't placed at least in the top six.

Since the Masters, which Palmer won, the Big Two have captured only three tournaments between them.

The $35,000 prize bosoted Nichols into the top five of the money winners with $72,087.26. Palmer went to the head of the list, which he has led the last two years, with $110,743.37.

Gary Player of South Africa won third money with a 72 for 281. Fourth was shared by the great Ben Hogan and Pete Brown, a Negro from Los Angeles, at 282. Hogan shot a final 68 and Brown a 69.

Hogan, 52, proved he still is the game's master shotmaker who, if he could putt better, might again dominate the game. Brown achieved a major breakthrough for his race, which has been less successful in golf than in other sports.

Skowron's Homer Lifts White Sox To 3-0 Victory

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Moose Skowron's first homer in six weeks has put the cap on the 24-day period in which the three leading American League pennant contenders finished firing against each other and left unanswered only one small question:

Who's going to win the American League pennant?

Skowron, who has a chance to play in his third consecutive World Series with as many teams, slammed a fifth inning homer Sunday that broke up a scoreless battle and started the Chicago White Sox on the way to a 3-0 victory over first-place Baltimore.

That lifted Skowron's average to .308 since he was acquired from Washington this season after pennant-winning years with the New York Yankees in 1962 and Los Angeles Dodgers last year. It also lifted the White Sox to within one-half game of the front-running Orioles at the end of the contenders' round robin.

The Orioles, who started the 24-day stretch on Aug. 7 in second place by four percentage points, compiled a 9-6 record against Chicago and New York during that period and took over the league lead. The White Sox were 9-7 against the other two, moving up after being third, 1½ out.

The biggest losers were the New York Yankees, who started the swing against Baltimore and Chicago in first place, lost 10 of 15 to the other leaders and fell to third place. The Yankees are three games off the pace after walloping Boston 9-3.

Orioles Lead By ½; Yanks 3 Back

As for the remainder of the schedule, none of the leaders seems to have an advantage. Here's the way it looks:

Baltimore — At home, 16 — Kansas City 5, Minnesota 3, Los Angeles 3, Washington 3, Detroit 2. Away, 15 — Minnesota 3, Los Angeles 3, Kansas City 2, Washington 2, Detroit 2, Cleveland 3.

Chicago — At home, 14 — Detroit 2, Cleveland 4, Washington 3, Los Angeles 1, Kansas City 4. Away, 14 — Washington 2, Minnesota 2, Cleveland 3, Detroit 2, Los Angeles 2, Kansas City 3.

New York — At home, 16 — Minnesota 3, Los Angeles 3, Kansas City 3, Detroit 4, Cleveland 3. Away, 17 — Los Angeles 3, Kansas City 3, Minnesota 2, Detroit 2, Cleveland 4, Washington 3.

In other AL games Sunday, Tony Oliva's 28th homer brought Minnesota a 5-4 victory over Washington. Ken McBride won his first game in 2½ months as the Los Angeles Angels edged Detroit 5-4 and Kansas City ended Cleveland's eight-game winning streak with a 9-3 victory before the Indians won the second game 6-5.

Skowron smashed a 390-foot shot off Robin Roberts for his first homer since July 16. Ward took care of the other runs, driving in one with a triple in the ninth inning and then scoring on a wild pitch.

Joel Horlen nursed the 1-0 lead into the eighth inning, then departed for a pinch hitter, Gary Peters, making his first relief appearance for Chicago, took over in the eighth but left with two out and a man on second. Hoyt Wilhelm struck out Brooks Robinson to end the threat, then set the Orioles down quietly in the ninth.

Horlen, who checked the Orioles on four hits before leaving, did not allow a runner past second and brought his record to 10-8. Roberts is 11-6.

The Yankees got the job done early against the Red Sox, scoring two runs in the first on a double by Phil Linz, Pedro Gonzalez' triple and an error, then adding three runs in the fourth on consecutive homers by Johnny Blanchard and Hector Lopez.

The Yankees' Mickey Mantle, meanwhile, broke Babe Ruth's major league strikeout record when Bob Heffner fanned him in the fourth inning before Blanchard and Lopez connected. The strikeout was No. 1,331 of Mantle's 14-year career.

Oliva's homer in the eighth inning snapped a 4-4 tie and ended a see-saw homer battle. Don Mincher had put the Twins ahead 4-3 with a two-run pinch homer in the seventh, but Don Lock pulled the Senators into a tie with a homer in the top of the eighth.

The Angels chased Dave Wickersham, the Tigers' 16-game winner, with a four-run first built on two-rum homers by Jim Fregosi and Willie Smith. The winning run, however, came across in the fifth when Albie Pearson tripled and scored on a wild pitch by Ed Rakow.

Jim Gentile drove in five runs with two homers and a single and Nelson Mathews knocked in four with a pair of homers in the A's victory. Mathews also connected in the nightcap, but the Indians finally won the back and forth struggle on a two-run single by Max Alvis in the ninth inning.

Southern Slim On Experience

Oliver Begins New Job With 4 Lettermen

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Relieved that his star fullback will return to practice in about one week, Ed Oliver, an All-Ohio gridder at East Liverpool in his playing days, launches his first season as head coach at Southern Local High School.

THE FULLBACK which worried Oliver is Ed Arsuffi who could be one of the toughest backs in the district this fall. Arsuffi suffered an infection and after tests over the weekend, should be back in uniform next week.

Arsuffi is a 190-pound senior and Oliver is very high on this gridder. "He has better than average speed and hits quick. I feel he will be one of the best in the area this season," Oliver said. Arsuffi will go both ways, playing a linebacker on defense.

Another veteran who Oliver praises is Jim Needs, a 220-pound tackle, who will bolster the Indians forward wall.

The former Potter and Miami gridder is pretty well set on a starting lineup. Besides Arsuffi, Forbes and Pelley in the backfield is John Curry a promising sophomore who weighs in at 145.

OLIVER pointed out that his squad will be inexperienced with no depth. Twenty - eight boys are out for the sport at Southern Local and 14 of these are either freshmen or sophomores.

On the forward wall, Oliver will attempt to build a line around his big tackle Needs. At ends, will be Steve McCollam, 175-pound senior and Rick Hanley 174-pound junior. Joining Needs at the tackle spot is Ken Rose 195-pound senior.

ANOTHER promising youngster expected to see some grid action is sophomore Marvin McIntosh who will go both ways at tackle.

Southern Local scrimaged Jefferson Union Saturday and Oliver was well pleased with his defense but found it hard to move the ball without his regular fullback in the lineup.

Oliver takes over at Southern Local in a season which shows a beefed up schedule as the Indians have gone out to schedule larger schools. The highlight of the card appears to be a match with rival Wellsville on Oct. 3.

SOUTHERN Local also is competing in the Buckeye Border Conference this season.

The opening game is at Greenford on Saturday afternoon Sept. 12 with the first home battle with Springfield Local Sept. 26.

Assisting Oliver this season are Al Girone, who is head basketball coach at Southern Local and Paul Barbuto of East Liverpool who coached at East Junior High School last season.

Southern Local's 1964 Football Squad

The 1964 schedule follows:

Sept. 12—Greenford, away
Sept. 18—Springfield Twp., away
Sept. 26—Springfield Local, home

Irons Down Wellsville In Playoff

Irondale advanced in the playoffs of the Tri-County League Sunday by handing Wellsville a 6-1 setback.

Joe Urich went all the way for Irondale and fanned 10 batters while Wellsville collected eight hits.

Bob Agnew started for Wellsville but was relieved by Jim Miles in the seventh. A double by Ron Fraley driving in two runs was the big blow for Irondale. Jerry Cannon had three hits for the losers and Roger Ours collected two safeties.

McNea Satisfied With Scrimmage

"Overall I was encouraged with our first scrimmage," head coach Bob McNea reported.

McNea was referring to East Liverpool's scrimmage with Cardinal Mooney of Youngstown Saturday morning at Patterson Field.

East Liverpool outscored Mooney 5 to 4 in touchdowns.

"We made a number of mistakes but this was our first real contact work. Our defense as a whole did a pretty good job."

McNea singled out several individual performers. He pointed to Bob Maltarich, senior quarterback, saying "Maltarich handled the club well and showed some poise out there. He looks like the leader we need on the field."

McNea also was impressed with Mike Goodballet, who quarterbacked the second unit and "did a good job." Goodballet also drew praise for his defensive work along with linebacker Clarence Crable.

East Liverpool has two scrimmage sessions coming up this week.

Palmer Finishes Second

Nichols Wins 'The World' And Check For $35,000

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Arnie and Big Jack had to be content with secondary paychecks again Sunday when Nichols, 28-year-old PGA champion, walked off with the game's biggest tournament haul of the year, the $35,000 first prize in the $200,000 Carling World Golf Championship.

It was the fifth time in the last seven tournaments that Palmer, the defending money-making champion, had come in second. In the other two tournaments, he was third.

"I'm getting darned tired of it," Palmer said. "I hope it doesn't become a habit."

Nicklaus, who hasn't won a major championship this year, fell farther behind. He tied for 11th and 286 and collected $2,800.

It was the first time in the last two months that he hadn't placed at least in the top six.

Since the Masters, which Palmer won, the Big Two have captured only three tournaments between them.

The $35,000 prize bosoted Nichols into the top five of the money winners with $72,087.26. Palmer went to the head of the list, which he has led the last two years, with $110,743.37.

Gary Player of South Africa won third money with a 72 for 281. Fourth was shared by the great Ben Hogan and Pete Brown, a Negro from Los Angeles, at 282. Hogan shot a final 68 and Brown a 69.

Hogan, 52, proved he still is the game's master shotmaker who, if he could putt better, might again dominate the game. Brown achieved a major breakthrough for his race, which has been less successful in golf than in other sports.

Leaders and money winnings in the Carling World Golf Championship include:

Bobby Nichols, $35,000
Arnold Palmer, $17,000 70-71-67-71—279
Gary Player, $8,500 72-72-67-70—281
Ben Hogan, $6,850 72-70-72-68—282
Pete Brown, $6,850 71-73-69-69—282
Bruce Devlin, $5,500 68-74-72-69—283
Terry Dill, $5,500 74-71-68-70—283
Jay Hebert, $4,033 73-69-73-70—285
Gene Littler, $4,033 73-71-70-71—285
Bill Casper, $4,033 70-72-71-72—285
Raymond Floyd, $2,800 75-70-73-68—286

Allen's Errors Costly In Bucs' 10-2 Win Over Phillies

Reds Close Gap To 5½ On Leaders

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Richie Allen may boot Rico Carty or Jim Hart right into the Rookie of the Year award in the National League.

Allen, Philadelphia's offensive spark, continued his less than red-hot defensive performance Sunday, committing two costly errors in the league leader's 10-2 loss to Pittsburgh.

Carty and Hart, meanwhile, exchanged lusty batting displays as San Francisco won the first game of a doublehader 13-10 and Milwaukee the second 7-4.

Carty belted five hits, including his 16th homer, in five at bats in the nightcap after slamming a homer in three trips in the first game. Hart went 3-for-6 in the doubleheader, hitting a homer in each game and driving in six runs.

Allen's errors increased his season total to 33, a rare height even for an entire season. Allen has done it in 129 games, giving him 23 more games in which to surpass the most miscues made by a National League third baseman in 25 years.

Of course, the 22-year-old Allen has been Philadelphia's most potent batting threat, compiling a .312 average with 24 homers and 73 runs batted in. But some of his bobbles — he has made 27 in the last 64 games — have been costly.

Sunday, for example. With the bases loaded and one out in the second inning, Bob Bailey grounded to third. The ball bounced off Allen's knee, and two runs came across. Gene Alley went to third on the play and scored on Manny Mota's bunt single.

Then with two out the next inning, Allen fielded Bob Veale's grounder flawlessly and threw high to first, permitting Donn Clendenon to score from second. Bailey then singled in another unearned run.

Only eight days before, an Allen error lead to five unearned runs and a 9-4 Pirate victory.

In other NL games Sunday, Cincinnati nipped Houston 7-6 after losing 8-5, St. Louis whipped Los Angeles 5-1 and Chicago knocked off New York 7-3.

The Phillies' loss cut their league lead to 5½ games over the second-place Reds. Veale, 14-10, struck out seven Philadelphia batters, bringing his season total to 188, a Pirate record.

Carty, who has 63 RBI, increased his average to .324 with his second 5-for-5 performance in a week. It was Hank Aaron's three-run homer in a four-run eighth inning, though, that brought the Braves the second game victory. The Giants had taken a 4-3 lead in their eighth on Orlando Cepeda's two-run single.

Hart's six RBI, four in the opener, gave him 68 for the season with 24 homers and a .299 average. The Giants won the first game with four runs in the eighth. Jim Davenport broke a 10-10 tie with a two-run single.

Frank Robinson's run-scoring double in the ninth inning gave the Reds their second game triumph. The Colts had jumped to a 6-0 lead, but the Reds tied it in the second, Vada Pinson's two-run homer capping the six-run uprising.

The Cardinals won their sixth straight game, reaching the NL season high for the second time. Mike Shannon doubled in three runs with an eighth-inning double, helping Curt Simmons to his 14th triumph against nine defeats. Willie Davis singled in the Dodgers' run in the sixth.

Larry Jackson continued his mastery over the Mets, boosting his lifetime mark with them to 10-0. Jackson, 17-10, scattered nine hits. Billy Williams slammed his 28th homer, a two-run sock, in the Cubs' third.

Gatrell's Loft Wins Pigeon Club's Race

Harold Gatrell's loft won first and third places in the East Liverpool Pigoen Club's race from Newark Sunday.

Next Sunday's race will be the annual Powder Puff Derby from Xenia.

In its fourth year, the USGA Open was extended from 36 holes to 72. Sectional qualifying to handle the increasing entry was introduced in 1924.

A Period Of 30 Years, Tehan Says

Dan Tehan, author of the following, is sheriff of Hamilton County. He's a two-time president of the Ohio Officials Association, and is starting his 35th year as a National Football League arbiter. He has handled more NFL championship and college all-star games than any official in the country.

By DAN TEHAN
For The Associated Press

Football officiating is a remunerative and interesting avocation.

For 35 years I have been a National Football League game official. Through the persuasion of Frank Lane of Cincinnati, one of the ranking officials of the day, President Joe Carr in 1930 gave me the chance to officiate in the NFL.

In passing, let me say it was a great thrill to receive last year, on behalf of the Carr family, the Joe Carr replica at Canton as his memory was honored by induction into the professional Football Hall of Fame.

Over the 35 years, many interesting things have happened. Officials do not have the thrills and great moments enjoyed by players, but we are vitally involved in their long runs and sensational pass catches.

It is our responsibility to see that they do not go out of bounds or interfere with a pass-catching opponent. It has been said, tritely, that officials are a necessary evil—but ignoring the implication of that remark, we must agree officials are necessary to facilitate the proper conduct of the game.

Since he is engaged in this duty alone, the official must put forth enough intelligent effort to justify his being on the field. He must be prepared mentally and physically for each game. It is hard work and a serious business — but it is fun, too, and all the money in the world could not buy the friends you make in sports.

Interesting moments have been numerous in my 35 years.

There was the Detroit Lions-Cleveland Browns championship game a few years back. Doak Walker of the Lions threw a forward pass to Bobby Layne, the T-quarterback who was ineligible to receive it. Layne ran for a touchdown — and the officials conferred for minutes before nullifying the play. It took longer than that to lower the blood pressure of Paul Brown, Otto Graham and Lou Groza.

Last year's Los Angeles-at-Chicago game was a big one, with the Bears needing a win to stay ahead of the pack. The Bears led by 6-0 with only two minutes to go, and had the ball on the Rams' 10-yard line after intercepting a pass. The Bear bench was yelling for a place-kick.

But Bill Wade, Bear quarterback, decided to run, seeking a clinching touchdown. As you surmised, he fumbled, and a Ram lineman picked up the ball and started scooting 90 yards for an upset victory.

But, like most big linemen in such a spot, he veered toward the sideline and was hit near the 20-yard line. The ball squirted out of his hands, was touched by several players, and went out of bounds.

Then the excitement started, everyone claiming the ball. But I knew the big lineman was the only one who really had possession, no matter how many touched the ball, so the ball belonged to the Rams on the 20.

It took some time to convince Poppa Bear Halas and some of his Little Bears, but after the smoke cleared the Bears won it 6-0.

Back in 1933 the New York Giants met the Bears in Chicago in the first NFL title game between division champions. Although the youngest official in the league, I was assigned to help handle it. We had only three officials.

Last December, 30 years later, Commissioner Pete Rozelle selected me to officiate the championship game in Chicago between the same two teams.

And Coach George Halas of the Bears and I were the only two on the field who were there for the same game of 30 years ago.

As we shook hands, and gazed back down the football years, I knew this had to be my biggest thrill in sports.

Wheeling Drops First Regular League Game

The Rockets, displaying impressive power and a stalwart defense, whipped the Joliet Explorers 65-7 Saturday at Charleston in a highlight of the first weekend of the regular UFL season.

One game doesn't make a season, of course, but it is clear indication that coach Perry Moss' boys must have talent that has caused some genuine concern around the league.

In other Saturday UFL competition Grand Rapids defeated defending champion Wheeling 27-21 and Indianapolis humbled Toledo 28-13.

The Canton Bulldogs, another first-year club, beat the Quebec Rifles 21-13 in the only Sunday night game.

The Rockets wrecked the Explorers' league debut with an offense that rolled up 521 yards —209 rushing and 312 passing

In Indianapolis, Buddy Allen, a fleet back from Utah State, scampered 60 yards with a punt return for the key td in Indianapolis' triumph over Toledo. Ron Digravio, a Purdue product, flipped a 42-yard td pass and scored from one yard out.

In Montreal, quarterback Bob Brodhead steered the Bulldogs to victory over Quebec, hitting on two rds. Canton also scored on a safety, and a 50-yard punt return by H. D. Murphy. Fullback Ron McCauley accounted for the Rifles' only score on a four-yard run.

Miami U. Youth Sets New 2-Mile Record

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Bob Schul of Miami University, Ohio, is the new two-mile champion after a run of 8:26.4 Saturday night at Pierce College.

Four timers on the job came up with exactly the same clockings as Schul crossed the finish line almost 20 seconds ahead of his nearest competition.

The 26-year-old Schul churned through the eight laps to beat the record of 8:28.6 set by Michael Jazy of France in Paris on June 6, 1963.

Schul is married and has one more year to complete at Miami, where he is majoring in history and government.

Tittle's Replacement Fills Bill For Giants

DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York's professional football teams aren't out of the Woods yet — and they won't be for some time if Giants coach Allie Sherman and Jets pilot Weeb Ewbank have their way.

The Woods, 5-foot-11 Gary of the Giants and 6-foot-5 Dick of the Jets, quarterbacked their clubs to impressive victories Saturday as the National and American Football Leagues moved through another weekend of exhibitions prior to mid-September season openers.

Gary Wood, filling in for hobbled Y. A. Tittle, threw three touchdown passes as the Giants trimmed Philadelphia 28-17 at Princeton, N.J., for their first NFL pre-season success in four starts. Dick Wood also fired three scoring strikes in the Jets' 34-6 rout of AFL champion San Diego at Atlanta.

A Dallas crowd of 60,057 — the largest since the Chicago All-Star game early in the month — watched the Cowboys take a 35-3 beating from Green Bay while Pittsburgh edged San Francisco 16-14 and unbeaten Minnesota outscored Los Angeles 34-23 in other NFL games.

Gary Wood, a 22-year-old rookie from Cornell whom Sherman retained while releasing Glynn Griffing, Tittle's 1963 sub, when the Giants trimmed their roster last week, replaced the veteran pass-master early in the second period Saturday.

Tittle threw as coring pass to Dick James before twisting his left knee, the same one he hurt in last December's NFL title game. This time, the injury appeared to be slight while affording Wood a chance to impress the coach as a ready and able reliever.

Dick Wood, 28-year-old former Charger, wrecked his old club with two payoff passes to Don Maynard and another to Bake Turner that covered 54 yards. The big Auburn grad hit on 12 of 28 tosses for 152 yards. Jim Turner added two field goals as the Jets ran their exhibition slate to 3-1.

Allen's Errors Costly In Bucs' 10-2 Win Over Phillies

Reds Close Gap To 5½ On Leaders

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Richie Allen may boot Rico Carty or Jim Hart right into the Rookie of the Year award in the National League.

Allen, Philadelphia's offensive spark, continued his less than red-hot defensive performance Sunday, committing two costly errors in the league leader's 10-2 loss to Pittsburgh.

Carty and Hart, meanwhile, exchanged lusty batting displays as San Francisco won the first game of a doubleheader 13-10 and Milwaukee the second 7-4.

Carty belted five hits, including his 16th homer, in five at bats in the nightcap after slamming a homer in three trips in the first game. Hart went 3-for-6 in the doubleheader, hitting a homer in each game and driving in six runs.

Allen's errors increased his season total to 33, a rare height even for an entire season. Allen has done it in 129 games, giving him 23 more games in which to surpass the most miscues made by a National League third baseman in 25 years.

Of course, the 22-year-old Allen has been Philadelphia's most potent batting threat, compiling a .312 average with 24 homers and 73 runs batted in. But some of his bobbles — he has made 27 in the last 64 games — have been costly.

Sunday, for example. With the bases loaded and one out in the second inning, Bob Bailey grounded to third. The ball bounced off Allen's knee, and two runs came across. Gene Alley went to third on the play and scored on Manny Mota's bunt single.

Then with two out the next inning, Allen fielded Bob Veale's grounder flawlessly and threw high to first, permitting Donn Clendenon to score from second. Bailey then singled in another unearned run.

Only eight days before, an Allen error lead to five unearned runs and a 9-4 Pirate victory.

In other NL games Sunday, Cincinnati nipped Houston 7-6 after losing 8-5, St. Louis whipped Los Angeles 5-1 and Chicago knocked off New York 7-3.

The Phillies' loss cut their league lead to 5½ games over the second-place Reds. Veale, 14-10, struck out seven Philadelphia batters, bringing his season total to 188, a Pirate record.

Carty, who has 63 RBI, increased his average to .324 with his second 5-for-5 performance in a week. It was Hank Aaron's three-run homer in a four-run eighth inning, though, that brought the Braves the second game victory. The Giants had taken a 4-3 lead in their eighth on Orlando Cepeda's two-run single.

Hart's six RBI, four in the opener, gave him 68 for the season with 24 homers and a .299 average. The Giants won the first game with four runs in the eighth. Jim Davenport broke a 10-10 tie with a two-run single.

Frank Robinson's run-scoring double in the ninth inning gave the Reds their second game triumph. The Colts had jumped to a 6-0 lead, but the Reds tied it in the second, Vada Pinson's two-run homer capping the six-run uprising.

The Cardinals won their sixth straight game, reaching the NL season high for the second time. Mike Shannon doubled in three runs with an eighth-inning double, helping Curt Simmons to his 14th triumph against nine defeats. Willie Davis singled in the Dodgers' run in the sixth.

Larry Jackson continued his mastery over the Mets, boosting his lifetime mark with them to 10-0. Jackson, 17-10, scattered nine hits. Billy Williams slammed his 28th homer, a two-run sock, in the Cubs' third.

Gatrell's Loft Wins Pigeon Club's Race

Harold Gatrell's loft won first and third places in the East Liverpool Pigoen Club's race from Newark Sunday.

Next Sunday's race will be the annual Powder Puff Derby from Xenia.

In its fourth year, the USGA Open was extended from 36 holes to 72. Sectional qualifying to handle the increasing entry was introduced in 1924.

A Period Of 30 Years, Tehan Says

Dan Tehan, author of the following, is sheriff of Hamilton County. He's a two-time president of the Ohio Officials Association, and is starting his 35th year as a National Football League arbiter. He has handled more NFL championship and college all-star games than any official in the country.

By DAN TEHAN
For The Associated Press

Football officiating is a remunerative and interesting avocation.

Some say the fee earned is of secondary consideration, but it undoubtedly is an item of importance.

For 35 years I have been a National Football League game official. Through the persuasion of Frank Lane of Cincinnati, one of the ranking officials of the day, President Joe Carr in 1930 gave me the chance to officiate in the NFL.

In passing, let me say it was a great thrill to receive last year, on behalf of the Carr family, the Joe Carr replica at Canton as his memory was honored by induction into the professional Football Hall of Fame.

Over the 35 years, many interesting things have happened. Officials do not have the thrills and great moments enjoyed by players, but we are vitally involved in their long runs and sensational pass catches.

It is our responsibility to see that they do not go out of bounds or interfere with a pass-catching opponent. It has been said, tritely, that officials are a necessary evil—but ignoring the implication of that remark, we must agree officials are necessary to facilitate the proper conduct of the game.

Since he is engaged in this duty alone, the official must put forth enough intelligent effort to justify his being on the field. He must be prepared mentally and physically for each game. It is hard work and a serious business — but it is fun, too, and all the money in the world could not buy the friends you make in sports.

Interesting moments have been numerous in my 35 years.

There was the Detroit Lions-Cleveland Browns championship game a few years back. Doak Walker of the Lions threw a forward pass to Bobby Layne, the T-quarterback who was ineligible to receive it. Layne ran for a touchdown — and the officials conferred for minutes before nullifying the play. It took longer than that to lower the blood pressure of Paul Brown, Otto Graham and Lou Groza.

Last year's Los Angeles-at-Chicago game was a big one, with the Bears needing a win to stay ahead of the pack. The Bears led by 6-0 with only two minutes to go, and had the ball on the Rams' 10-yard line after intercepting a pass. The Bear bench was yelling for a place-kick.

But Bill Wade, Bear quarterback, decided to run, seeking a clinching touchdown. As you surmised, he fumbled, and a Ram lineman picked up the ball and started scooting 90 yards for an upset victory.

But, like most big linemen in such a spot, he veered toward the sideline and was hit near the 20-yard line. The ball squirted out of his hands, was touched by several players, and went out of bounds.

Then the excitement started, everyone claiming the ball. But I knew the big lineman was the only one who really had possession, no matter how many touched the ball, so the ball belonged to the Rams on the 20.

It took some time to convince Poppa Bear Halas and some of his Little Bears, but after the smoke cleared the Bears won it 6-0.

Back in 1933 the New York Giants met the Bears in Chicago in the first NFL title game between division champions. Although the youngest official in the league, I was assigned to help handle it. We had only three officials.

Last December, 30 years later, Commissioner Pete Rozelle selected me to officiate the championship game in Chicago between the same two teams.

And Coach George Halas of the Bears and I were the only two on the field who were there for the same game of 30 years ago.

As we shook hands, and gazed back down the football years, I knew this had to be my biggest thrill in sports.

Wheeling Drops First Regular League Game

The Charleston Rockets, a newcomer to the United Football Le;ague, may be the surprise team of the 1964 campaign.

The Rockets, displaying impressive power and a stalwart defense, whipped the Joliet Explorers 65-7 Saturday at Charleston in a highlight of the first weekend of the regular UFL season.

One game doesn't make a season, of course, but it is clear indication that coach Perry Moss' boys must have talent that has caused some genuine concern around the league.

In other Saturday UFL competition Grand Rapids defeated defending champion Wheeling 27-21 and Indianapolis humbled Toledo 28-13.

The Canton Bulldogs, another first-year club, beat the Quebec Rifles 21-13 in the only Sunday night game.

The Rockets wrecked the Explorers' league debut with an offense that rolled up 521 yards —209 rushing and 312 passing

In Indianapolis, Buddy Allen, a fleet back from Utah State, scampered 60 yards with a punt return for the key td in Indianapolis' triumph over Toledo. Ron Digravio, a Purdue product, flipped a 42-yard td pass and scored from one yard out.

Both of Toledo's scores results from pass interceptions.

In Montreal, quarterback Bob Brodhead steered the Bulldogs to victory over Quebec, hitting on two rds. Canton also scored on a safety, and a 50-yard punt return by H. D. Murphy. Fullback Ron McCauley accounted for the Rifles' only score on a four-yard run.

Miami U. Youth Sets New 2-Mile Record

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Bob Schul of Miami University, Ohio, is the new two-mile champion after a run of 8:26.4 Saturday night at Pierce College.

Four timers on the job came up with exactly the same clockings as Schul crossed the finish line almost 20 seconds ahead of his nearest competition.

The 26-year-old Schul churned through the eight laps to beat the record of 8:28.6 set by Michael Jazy of France in Paris on June 6, 1963.

Schul is married and has one more year to complete at Miami, where he is majoring in history and government.

IN memory of Billy Ray Stevens, who was killed, a year ago, August 31, 1963. When the evening shades are falling and I am sitting all alone in my heart there comes a longing if you only could come home. They say time heals all sorrow And helps us to forget but time so far has only proved how mch I miss you yet, although your soul is now at rest and free from care and pain this would seem like Heaven if I had you back again. God gives us strength to carry on, and courage to heal the blow but what it meant to lose you no one will ever know. You bid no one a last farewell or even said goodby, you were gone before we knew it. And only God knows why.

Junior Editors Quiz on ELECTRIC EELS

ANSWER: The animal called an "electric eel" is really not a true eel but a member of another group of fish related to the catfish and carp. It has a long round tail which makes it look like an eel. This tail is crowded with many organs packed one behind the other like the plates of a battery; these produce electric power which discharges from the tail. As the eel cruises along, a small voltage of electricity is continually emitted (A) to arc forward and be received near the head. Although blind in the eyes, which are possibly damaged by the electricity, this light current acts as a kind of radar: the eel knows if something, like a fish, has come into the path of the current. Then he will send out a set of strong shocks sufficient to stun the interfering fish (B). Meanwhile, the eel is turning toward the path of interference and seizing what's there. He swallows it whole having no teeth. Several other fish use electricity to stun their prey. Electric rays lie on the bottom and can send a strong electric current up from cells located in the head. The star-gazer, a smaller fish, likes to lie buried in sand but with the top of the head exposed. When prey comes close, the fish opens his mouth and stuns it with an electric current at the same time.

FOR YOU TO DO: Do more than just fish for fish and eat them; get acquainted with their life histories by reading library books about them.

African Potters

African craftsmen, long famous for their starkly primitive tribal masks and statues, now are being praised for their pottery.

European ceramic experts watching women potters in the West African Republic of Dahomey described them as "extraordinarily skillful" despite loss of techniques and the lack of formal training.

To halt the total decline of the indigenous pottery industry there, the International Labor Office sent a French master-ceramist, Francois Coustere, to Dahomey. Coustere hopes to organize modern cooperatives to train more potters and adjust current production to supply a growing demand locally and abroad.

Prior to European colonization, many West Africans placed great importance in the potter's product, the National Geographic Society says. In pottery dwelled the local spirits or household gods.

Special pots in the shape of mushrooms and discs held magical ointments and liquids for use in tribal rituals. So-called face - pots had a top in the shape of an animal or human being; often the entire container suggested a full figure. Witch doctors apparently believed they could transfer illnesses from the sick to the face-pots.

However, tribes without tin cans, paper bags, or glass bottles, still depend on clay containers to do a host of jobs. Pottery jugs and bowls are used in carrying, preparing, cooking and preserving food; in storing water, grain, and dried fish; and in brewing a favorite beverage, millet beer. There is even an earthenware pan for frying eggs.

Coach Wes Westrum of the New York Mets began his catching career in 1940 with Crookston of the Northern League. He caught 919 games with the New York Giants.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Lots of people, like myself, have portable electric sewing machines with foot controls.

My mother told me quite some time ago that I could save money and repair bills by placing the whole foot control inside a plastic bag and tying the top of the bag around the cord.

This keeps the dust, dirt, moisture and soil out and thus makes the control last longer.

DAILY LOVING READER.

Cover your appliance with a plastic bag and see how much dust and dirt lands on that plastic covering within two weeks! It's most amazing . . . The machine foot feed may be used without removing the bag.

Yes, this sweet woman will save us lots of repair bills.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: What to use for a burglar alarm?

I have a 5-cent whistle, police-type, which I carry in my purse.

When out after dark, I keep it in my hand, and at night it hangs beside my bed. I have never had to use it and hope I never have to.

ANNE DANE.

DEAR HELOISE: Painting practically ruins rubber gloves, especially when using stain or varnish. Cleaning an oven is also hard on rubber gloves.

For all the really messy jobs I use the heavy, soft plastic bags as a substitute for my good gloves. I particularly like the bag that carrots come in as they are exactly the right size and long enough to cover the wrists.

When the job is completed, I just throw away the bags.

FAY LAING.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep a candle snuffer clean inside—line it with aluminum foil and bring it well over the edge. No more snuffer to dig and clean.

I have used this method for some time and want to pass it on.

MRS. W. C. EASTMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: I enjoy reading the helpful hints in your column. Recently you mentioned setting the straggly ends of your hair (between sets) with rubbing alcohol. I do something even better—I think.

For years I have been setting by hair with cologne (which has an alcoholic content). It dries fast and leaves a sweet scent all about you.

SWEET SMELLING.

DEAR HELOISE: I'm a born dawdler. If there's a new magazine in the house I have to hide it or I'll sit down and read it from cover to cover. When I'm in the mood I can spend a couple of hours playing the piano. As you may have guessed, housework isn't my favorite occupation!

However, I've discovered a way to make myself get it done without dawdling.

I decide what work has to be done and then write out a schedule for myself, allowing so much time for each job.

Usually I give myself a little more time than I'll need for each job to allow for interruptions.

With a plan of attack in mind, and a time limit on each job, I find it fun to try to beat my schedule. Housework doesn't seem half as much of a chore.

V.B.C.

DEAR HELOISE: You told us how to use dried-up cheese but you failed to tell us how to keep it from drying up in the first place in the refrigerator!

Well, it's the same old thing . . . vinegar.

When you buy a large chunk of cheese, wrap it in a piece of clean cloth or a paper towel which has been soaked with vinegar, then overwrap with a piece of aluminum foil, or place in a plastic bag. This will keep the cheese from getting moldy or dry for several weeks.

H.F.H.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Lots of people, like myself, have portable electric sewing machines with foot controls.

My mother told me quite some time ago that I could save money and repair bills by placing the whole foot control inside a plastic bag and tying the top of the bag around the cord.

This keeps the dust, dirt, moisture and soil out and thus makes the control last longer.

DAILY LOVING READER.

Cover your appliance with a plastic bag and see how much dust and dirt lands on that plastic covering within two weeks! It's most amazing . . . The machine foot feed may be used without removing the bag.

Yes, this sweet woman will save us lots of repair bills.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: What to use for a burglar alarm?

I have a 5-cent whistle, police-type, which I carry in my purse.

When out after dark, I keep it in my hand, and at night it hangs beside my bed. I have never had to use it and hope I never have to.

ANNE DANE.

DEAR HELOISE: Painting practically ruins rubber gloves, especially when using stain or varnish. Cleaning an oven is also hard on rubber gloves.

For all the really messy jobs I use the heavy, soft plastic bags as a substitute for my good gloves. I particularly like the bag that carrots come in as they are exactly the right size and long enough to cover the wrists.

When the job is completed, I just throw away the bags.

FAY LAING.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep a candle snuffer clean inside—line it with aluminum foil and bring it well over the edge. No more snuffer to dig and clean.

I have used this method for some time and want to pass it on.

MRS. W. C. EASTMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: I enjoy reading the helpful hints in your column. Recently you mentioned setting the straggly ends of your hair (between sets) with rubbing alcohol. I do something even better—I think.

For years I have been setting by hair with cologne (which has an alcoholic content). It dries fast and leaves a sweet scent all about you.

SWEET SMELLING.

DEAR HELOISE: I'm a born dawdler. If there's a new magazine in the house I have to hide it or I'll sit down and read it from cover to cover. When I'm in the mood I can spend a couple of hours playing the piano. As you may have guessed, housework isn't my favorite occupation!

However, I've discovered a way to make myself get it done without dawdling.

I decide what work has to be done and then write out a schedule for myself, allowing so much time for each job.

Usually I give myself a little more time than I'll need for each job to allow for interruptions.

With a plan of attack in mind, and a time limit on each job, I find it fun to try to beat my schedule. Housework doesn't seem half as much of a chore.

V.B.C.

DEAR HELOISE: You told us how to use dried-up cheese but you failed to tell us how to keep it from drying up in the first place in the refrigerator!

Well, it's the same old thing . . . vinegar.

When you buy a large chunk of cheese, wrap it in a piece of clean cloth or a paper towel which has been soaked with vinegar, then overwrap with a piece of aluminum foil, or place in a plastic bag. This will keep the cheese from getting moldy or dry for several weeks.
